WAS FOUND GUILTY OF LARCENY

Woman Accused of Larceny Was Ordered to Pay a Fine of $15

Ora Roberts was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on complaints charging her with drunkenness and the larceny of $6.50 from Peter Georgeopulos, it being alleged that she relieved him of the money in a local hotel Saturday night. She entered a plea of guilty to being drunk, but denied that she stole the money. The court after considering the evidence in the case, however, found the woman guilty on both complaints and fined her $15 for larceny, the case of drunkenness being placed on file.

Georgeopulos, who resides at 441 Market street, testified that he entered the hotel in question Saturday night and there met Mrs. Roberts who, he said, after having some conversation threw her arms around him and relieved him of $6.50 which was in a vest pocket. He said when he tried to have the woman return the money he was put out of the hotel.

Georgeopulos' companion testified to seeing the woman take the money.

Patrolman John H. Clark said he arrested the woman on complaint of Georgeopulos. The woman was intoxicated at the time and denied having stolen any money, but told the officer she would give the man $5 in order to avoid the notoriety. When asked how much money she had she said she had a couple of dollars but when searched at the police station it was found she had $7.35.

Mrs. Roberts, testifying in her own behalf, said she was at the hotel drinking and the complainant gave her $5.

Drunken Offenders

John F. Curran, charged with drunkenness, entered a plea of guilty but said he would like to be placed on probation as he is going out of the city. On condition that he leave the city the court placed him in the custody of the probation officer. If John remains around Lowell very long he will be given a ticket to the state farm.

Edward J. Mooney was sentenced to three months in jail.

Mary E. Brown, James A. Lord and George Leach were fined $6 each.

Emily Perreault, Charles H. Garside and William Smith, Sunday drunks, were fined $5 each.

Two first offenders were each ordered to pay a fine of $2 and ten simple drunks were released.

TURKISH ARMIES MUST KEEP ON WITH THE STRUGGLE

It is Hoped That Powers Will Find Some Way to Use Their Good Offices—Turkish Army Said to be Rushing for Safety

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Those powers thus far consulted have responded to Turkey's appeal for their mediation in the war by declaring that they could make only proposals for peace and could not approach the Balkan nations with a request for an armistice.

Some of the governments have pointed out that Turkey's proposal for a cessation of hostilities, in other words, an armistice, would offend the Balkan victors. Other governments take the position that it would be an infringement of international law for the moment.

The war must, therefore, continue, and the Turkish armies, which the Porte has at last admitted have been beaten, must keep on with their unequal struggle against the victorious invaders.

It is hoped and believed still that the powers will soon find a formula under which they can offer their good offices. The terms of peace themselves are a matter entirely for the belligerents to settle, Bulgaria having again affirmed that no interference by outsiders will be tolerated. In this she has the whole-hearted support of her allies, who settled the political as well as the military aspect of the campaign before the war was undertaken.

Verdict in the Biggio vs. Foster Case

The civil session of the superior court was resumed this morning with Justice McLaughlin presiding. The first case to be taken up was that of John Biggio vs. Arthur J. Foster, both of Stoneham, an action of tort. The plaintiff in his declaration claimed that he was badly injured by being run over by a wagon owned by the defendant while crossing a street in Framingham. The case only lasted a couple of hours and the jury reported a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The next case was that of Henry J. Sullivan vs. Fred A. Ruttrick, both of this city. The action is one of tort and the ad damnum is $10,000. The plaintiff claims that he was injured by falling in an elevator well in Palmer street and that the accident occurred through the negligence of the defendant. The jury was empanelled and several witnesses were sworn in.

All roads will lead to Associate hall tonight and the attraction will be the big O'Sullivan rally for which arrangements were completed on Saturday. The rally will begin at 8 o'clock and Commissioner Andrew Barrett will preside.

Saturday Night Rallies.

Messrs. Humphrey O'Sullivan and John Jacob Rogers made a whirlwind tour of the city in automobiles Saturday night and made outdoor speeches at various points. It was generally conceded that Mr. O'Sullivan drew the biggest crowds and this fact was made very plain at Tower's corner, where Mr. O'Sullivan spoke to more than a thousand people, while Mr. Rogers' audience did not number over two hundred or two hundred and fifty. Both of the candidates talked to big crowds at city hall. Mr. Rogers indulged in personalities, but Mr. O'Sullivan did not mention Mr. Rogers' name. In the beginning of the campaign Mr. O'Sullivan said he would not indulge in personalities, and he has kept his promise. In his very first speech of the campaign Mr. O'Sullivan said:

"I do not intend to indulge in personalities in any speech that I may make during this campaign. If I cannot win this fight without throwing mud at my opponents, I do not want to win at all."

Mr. O'Sullivan was given hearty receptions throughout the city Saturday night and he told his listeners that he was going to win. "I have never lost a fight yet and I am not going to lose this," he said. "I feel confident of success," he continued, "and when the votes are counted on Tuesday you will find that Humphrey O'Sullivan will have been elected.

"I admit that the fight was a little bit discouraging in the beginning, but never for a single moment did I lose confidence in myself or my friends. I think perhaps that some of my friends were not as optimistic as myself, but they are confident now that I will win, and it is my best judgment that I am as good as elected.

"I am in this fight for the good that I can do for the people. The democratic party has caught the spirit of the times and we are marching on to victory. The fact that so many of you have gathered here tonight proves beyond the shadow of a doubt that you have been roused to action. You have tired of the mistakes, blunders and negligence of the republican party and you have determined to apply the remedy. You have within your power to put an end to republican misrule on Tuesday next and I think you have determined to do so. You have borne the burden long enough and the opportunity to get rid of it will come to you on Tuesday. If you fail to cast it aside then you will have yourselves to blame. If you elect the democratic ticket you will vote to improve

For Congress TWO CANDIDATES

Mr. Rogers, FIFTH DISTRICT candidate, a believer in Lowell and its future, pledged to the welfare of every dweller therein.

Rogers Campaign Committee,
J. GILBERT HILL, Chairman

November 2, 1912.

MR. HUMPHREY O'SULLIVAN,
LOWELL, MASS.

Dear Sir and Brother—

I have received with great interest the platform upon which you stand as a Candidate for Congress as a Labor man. I can only say that your clear and definite stand upon the great issue now before the people leaves no room for any misunderstanding as to your attitude towards the wage workers.

I want to take this opportunity unsolicited to endorse your position on the many vital issues now confronting the people and cannot help but feel assured that they are bound to commend strongly to the Voters of your district who like the rest of the people through the country are seeking relief from the unsatisfactory and demoralizing conditions now confronting the people through the high cost of living.

As one who knows you for many years, who has watched your career, knowing that whatever business success you may have honestly attained, has not in the slightest degree kept you out of touch with the common people, I cannot refrain from emphasizing the fact that it is such hard headed, practical experiences you have had that will be needed in the next Congress to make the fight for the people's rule.

To our organized labor men in your district I can but call their attention to the declaration of our American Federation of Labor. "Elect your friends and defeat your enemies, and wherever and whenever possible elect men carrying a paid up union card."

With your past record behind you, your Typographical Union Card in your pocket, I fervently hope to see you take your place in the next National Congress.

With best wishes for your success next Tuesday,

I am fraternally yours,
JOHN GOLDEN, Gen. Pres.
United Textile Workers of America.
JOHN W. SHARKEY,
8 Carter Street.

To the Voters of the 19th Middlesex District:

As a candidate for re-election to the Legislature from the 19th Middlesex District, which includes ward 9 of Lowell, Tewksbury and Billerica, I feel that the voters who have honored me in the past are entitled to some account of my stewardship and reasons why they should again give me their support. The records of the Legislature show in black and white that in every contest between the corporation and the people and between the people and the political bosses I have stood consistently on the side of the people. Every labor and humanitarian measure before the house has had my vote and every bit of aid that I could render it, and I feel a modest pride in having had even a small part in the enactment of the many measures in behalf of organized labor and the people in general that have been put on the statute books during the past three years. In 1910, my first year in the Legislature, I was responsible for the reimbursement of taxes on land owned by the state in Tewksbury, which meant about $1200 every year for the town. As a member of the committee on Public Health it was my special privilege to oppose the State Board of Health in taking and controlling the Merrimack river, which would mean an expenditure of over $5,000,000 to the city of Lowell. As a member of that committee I voted and advocated the Homestead bill, so-called, which passed the House; voted to make the B. & M. and N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. supply their passengers with free drinking cups; was the father of the bill stopping the sale of morphine in this state.

At all times I have remembered that I am but the servant of the people and have tried to look at every measure through the eyes of my constituents and act as I believed they would have me act.

I offer you a training that should make me more valuable to you and a record of faithful attention to your interests, and respectfully solicit your approval in the coming election, Tuesday, Nov. 5, 1912.

Very truly yours,

THOMAS S. CUFF

WILSON MAY GET EVERY STATE

It is Believed He Will Receive the Biggest Popular Vote in History of United States

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Sunday was a comparatively quiet day in the presidential camps.

President Taft, remaining in New York on his way from Utica to Cincinnati, held conferences with National Chairman Hilles, State Chairman William Barnes, Jr., and other political advisers.

Col. Roosevelt and George W. Perkins and others of his political aides conferred at Oyster Bay.

The democratic national committee statement last night said that it would be no surprise to its members if Wilson had every vote in the electoral college. That he would have the biggest popular vote in the history of the United States was claimed.

One development of the day was a statement made by Mr. Barnes, after he left the president, that he favored John Wanamaker for vice president.

The day brought forth no changes in plans and no important developments in the wind-up of the bitter fight that is to terminate with Tuesday's election.

Each candidate expressed the confidence held by his committee in the successful termination of his fight for the election.

At the respective headquarters desks were cleared up, clerical work brought to an end, and preparations made for the dismemberment of the big organizations today.

Wilson Sets Fears at Rest

Exaggerated reports of the accident to Gov. Wilson early yesterday, during his journey back to Princeton, which were in circulation in New York early in the day, were set at rest by the candidate himself, who told his managers over the telephone that he had suffered only a slight injury.

The republican vice presidential situation occupied much attention in republican circles. Reports were current that an attempt was being made to sound out republican sentiment throughout the country as to a satisfactory choice for the place made vacant by Vice President Sherman's death. While President Taft's intimate friends disclaimed such an intention, names of several possibilities were brought forward during the day by various men prominent in republican circles.

William Barnes, Jr., on leaving President Taft's apartments at the Manhattan hotel, made the following statement:

Barnes Favors Wanamaker

"The republican battle has been carried on in this campaign in the interest of sane and intelligent government and straight thinking. The candidate for vice president to be nominated by the national committee ought to be a man who fits in with the meaning of the party. I think John Wanamaker is such a man. I hope he will be named at the meeting of the national committee Nov. 12."

Senator Dixon, progressive national chairman, announced Saturday that the progressive fight for the congress that begins in 1913 will be inaugurated at a meeting of the progressive national committee in Chicago Dec. 16.

Without awaiting the result of Tuesday's congressional and presidential election, Senator Dixon will issue a formal call for the December meeting of the progressive organization.

"In addition to the members of the national committee," said Senator Dixon, "I am also inviting to participate in the conference all chairmen of the different state progressive committees and all candidates of the progressive party for governor in the various states."

The forecasts from the respective national headquarters gave in some detail the factors which the leaders of the respective parties believe will affect Tuesday's voting.

Predict Record Wilson Vote

"Wilson and Marshall will have the largest majority of electoral votes given to any candidate since before the Civil war," said Chairman McCombs in the democratic forecast. "They will receive also the largest popular vote ever given to a political party in the history of the United States. They will carry not less than 40 of the 48 states and are likely to carry all of them. A unanimous vote in the electoral college will not surprise any man who has seen the confident reports to democratic national headquarters in the last days of the campaign.

"Congress will be democratic in both branches. The lower house will not contain more than 100 of the combined opposition, and in the senate the democrats will gain more than the 10 seats necessary to wipe out the republican majority. The same sentiment that is sweeping Wilson into executive authority will back him up with legislative power to do the things the people demand."

Senator Dixon, progressive national chairman, in an official statement declared Col. Roosevelt would carry the election.

"Approximately six million votes will be cast for Roosevelt and Johnson out of a total vote of 15,000,000," he said. "The fatal error in all the democratic estimates is the assumption that Wilson will poll the Bryan vote of four years ago. The progressive party program has appealed solidly to the great industrial classes of the nation.

"Roosevelt and Johnson will sweep the big industrial centres with a landslide. Wilson and Marshall have not appealed to the masses of the voters because they have not offered any definite plan of constructive statesmanship or legislation.

"Taft will be the worst beaten candidate since Winfield Scot led the remnant of the old Whig party to destruction in 1852. After Tuesday the old republican organization will be the third party in every state in the Union. I doubt if it will ever again nominate a candidate for president. After Tuesday the progressive party will be the dominant opposition party to the democrats.

"It is a most conservative statement to say that Tuesday Roosevelt will receive at least 60 per cent. of the Taft vote of four years ago, and certainly not less than 15 per cent. of the Bryan vote of that year. That being true, he will carry New York state by a plurality of 75,000. At the same time he will have at least 297 votes in the electoral college. It takes only 266 to elect a president."

Tammany Hall joined in the prediction of general democratic victory in a statement given out by Charles F. Murphy.

"Never were democratic prospects brighter and democratic expectations more confident," said Mr. Murphy.

"All our reports and canvasses indicate a great democratic sweep in nation and state on Tuesday. The Empire state will give the presidential and state tickets splendid majorities. Its democratic representation in congress will be substantially increased and both branches of the legislature will be democratic."

FIRE DEPARTMENT

Was Given an Unnecessary Run to the Old City Hall Building on Saturday Night

A portion of the fire department was given an unnecessary run to the Old City hall building in Merrimack street about 6.34 o'clock Saturday night. A water faucet in the office of Dr. Otis Allen had been left running and some person who thought that there was a break in a water pipe telephoned to the fire department. The water was shut off and the only damage done was caused by water.

Fire in Cottage

An alarm from box 46 at 9.35 o'clock Saturday night was for a fire in a cottage at 29 Front street belonging to James Kulaski. The blaze was caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp, but it was extinguished before much damage was done.

Slight Damage

At 10.18, box 165 called the fire department to 24 Bay st., off Lakeview avenue for a fire in a closet. There was very little damage done, the firemen getting the blaze out before it gained any headway.

A Grass Fire

A grass fire in a vacant lot on Hildreth street caused a telephone alarm yesterday afternoon at 2.32. The blaze was confined to the lot and no damage resulted.

WILLIAM WARTHEN HELD

As a Witness in Chicago Murder

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—William Wat Warthen, who came from Baltimore with Miss Sophia Singer, who was found murdered in a south side rooming house, is still in custody as a witness pending full investigation into the crime. Worthen says he was away from the house at the time of the murder.

ST. LOUIS FINANCIER

Burned to Death in a Hotel Fire

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—One man, W. C. Douglas, a local financier, was burned to death, and 20 other persons were injured, three receiving fractured skulls in a fire which destroyed the Berlin hotel early this morning. One hundred and fifty guests of the family hotel were forced to flee in their night clothes.

Police and firemen, thinking other guests had lost their lives, searched the ruins for hours without finding any other bodies. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

THE STANDARD OIL CO.

Sells Waters-Pierce Oil Co. Holdings

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Announcement was made this afternoon that the Standard Oil interests had sold to Henry Clay Pierce all their holdings in the Waters-Pierce Oil Co., thus ending the litigation that has been in the courts for some time.

SCHOONER WRECKED

Two of the Crew Lashed to the Rigging Too Weak to Seize Lines Shot to Them

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 2.—With two of her crew lashed to the rigging and the others undoubtedly lost, a schooner lies today stranded three-quarters of a mile southeast of the New Inlet lifesaving station being battered to pieces in a 55-mile gale.

Lines have been shot from shore over the ship, but the two men appeared to be too weak to seize them.

The wrecked schooner later was identified as the three-master John Maxwell of New York. The Maxwell, commanded by Capt. Godfrey, was bound from Norfolk to Savannah with a cargo of coal. She is 445 tons and is owned by A. B. Ball of New York.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

A two-act comedy, entitled "The Girl From the West" was presented in the town hall Saturday night by members of the Grace church dramatic club of Lowell. The affair was arranged under the auspices of the Dux Christus club for the benefit of the Congregational church. There was a large attendance and the performance, which was given in a clever manner, was highly enjoyed. The cast of characters was as follows:

Edward Ralston.....Roland W. Black
Chauncey Oglethorpe,
Willard A. Parker
Mrs. Ondego Jhones,
Miss Marjorie Erdis
Sierra Bengaline,
Mrs. Alice Livingston Gage
Lady Guinevere Landpoor,
Miss Bessie L. Adams

The scene represented Mrs. Ondego Jhones' residence in New York city. From the rise to the fall of the curtain in both acts the amateur players kept the undivided attention of the audience by their good acting and the creating of amusing situations that kept the spectators in continual merriment. To specialize would be somewhat unfair, all taking part in the comedy doing full justice to the respective characters which they represented. This was followed by the one-act play, "Cinders," which was also well given. The parts were taken by the following clever performers:

Jack Warrener.....Roland W. Black
Amelia Ann,
Mrs. Alice Livingston Gage

CAMPAIGN WORKERS

Started Out Today on the Most Strenuous Day of the Campaign—Rallies All Over Massachusetts

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Republican, democratic and progressive workers had the most strenuous day of the campaign thus far before them when they started out on the last day of the final week before election. For today and tonight rallies were arranged for nearly every city and a large number of towns in Massachusetts. Automobiles carried the speakers from one hall or village square to another, where they discussed state and national issues. Tonight several torchlight parades were arranged, the biggest of which were to be held in Boston.

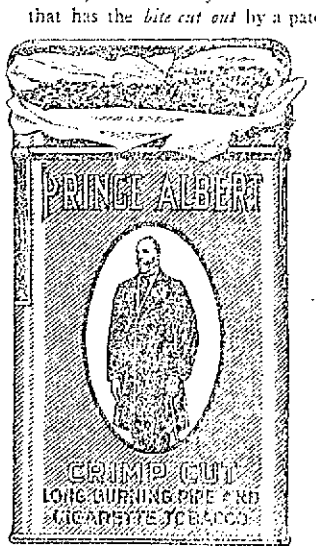

Gov. Foss, democratic nominee for reelection spent the day in the third congressional district, speaking at Orange, Leominster, Fitchburg, and elsewhere. Charles S. Bird, candidate of the progressives, continued his campaigning to Boston as did Joseph Walker, who heads the republican state ticket.

GAVE ELECTION EVE SERMON

Cardinal Gibbons Seeks to Awaken the Supine Citizen to Do His Duty

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—Cardinal Gibbons, in the cathedral here yesterday, delivered an election eve sermon designed to awaken "the supine citizen who never takes an interest in the political welfare of his country." He declared that if the future historian is called upon to record the decline and fall of the American republic he will ascribe the cause "the indifference, lethargy and political apostasy of her own sons."

The sermon was non-partisan as to the personal preference of the cardinal toward the three conspicuous candidates for president. He asserted his intolerance toward pessimistic prophets, who each campaign predict the end of the government unless their favorite candidate is elected and by a discussion of our form of government sought to show that the results of our election cannot seriously affect the endurance of the republic. The sermon follows:

"It is the habit of pessimistic prophets to predict that our government will soon come to an end, and that it is already in the throes of dissolution, and the disaster is sure to occur if their favorite candidate is defeated. These prophecies are usually more frequent on the eve of a presidential election. I have been listening to these dire prognostications for over half a century.

"But in every instance the American people wake up on the morning after election to find that they were disquieted by false alarms and that the government is transacting its business in the same quiet and orderly manner as before.

"I propose this morning to state as briefly as possible the grounds of my confidence in the stability and endurance of the American republic.

Political Authority Distributed

"By a wise provision of the constitution of the United States political authority is not concentrated in one individual, or in one department of the administration, but is judiciously distributed so that the balance of power may be preserved. Our general government consists of the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches. If anything goes wrong with any one of these departments, the evil is checked by the other two, and usurpation of power is prevented. There is an habitual jealousy among these branches. They are on the alert, zealously watching one another, so that no one branch may exceed its legitimate bounds. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

"Then, again, besides the federal administration, we have state governments and county rule; we have city and town and village municipalities. If all of these minor corporations were absorbed by the general government. If our governors, and state legislators, and sheriffs, and mayors and councilmen were all under the control of the president; if he could at will decapitate all obnoxious subordinate rulers, with one blow, all our political liberties would be at an end. But, happily, all these lesser officials enjoy full autonomy in their spheres and are independent of the chief magistrate.

"Our system of government is very complex. It may be compared to a colossal engine containing innumerable wheels within wheels. Each wheel works in its own orbit, like the planetary system. If the great federal wheel gets out of order, the smaller wheels are not much deranged, but keep on moving till the big machine is repaired.

"We are all familiar with the memorable Titanic disaster, which resulted in the loss of so many precious lives, as well as the peerless vessel itself. Had all the compartments of that steamship been watertight, the loss of life would have been avoided.

"Now our government is often called a ship of state. This great ship of state is divided into 48 minor states. Each of these states may be said to be water proof, in the sense that the engulfing of one would not involve the sinking of the other. California, for example, might be overwhelmed by the waters of a political revolution without disturbing the neighboring states of Washington, Nevada and Arizona.

"If our states were mere provinces or territories, without autonomy and sovereignty, like other republics, less favored than ours, we would enjoy less stability and less hope of enduring freedom than we now possess.

Safety of Republic

"The safety and permanence, therefore, of our republic largely depend on the autonomy of the several states, without the danger of absorption by the general government. Should our government and legislators ever become the subservient creatures of the federal government they would be mere puppets, subject to the will of the chief executive. They would cease to be waterproof and would share the fate of the Titanic.

"Two momentous crises occurred in my own day which were well calculated to test the vitality and strength of the republic. The first was the war between the states, when the nation was rent in twain, when fratricidal blood was shed over the land and a tremendous conflict was carried on for four years. This calamity has happily ended, and the dismembered states are now more firmly united than ever before, because slavery, which was the bone of contention, has been removed once and forever.

"The second crisis occurred in the presidential contest in 1876 between Tilden and Hayes. Mr. Tilden was robbed of the fruit of the victory which, I believe, he honestly won, and by questionable devices Mr. Hayes was declared the successful candidate.

"A nation that could survive these terrible strains must be possessed of extraordinary vitality and resources, and leads us to hope that in any future emergency the leaders and statesmen of the republic will rise to the occasion and bring order out of chaos.

"Another strong ground of confidence I have in the stability and permanence of the republic, rests in the enlightenment, the good sense and patriotism of the American people. You and your fathers have now for a century and a quarter experienced and enjoyed the blessings of a strong and free government. And if you compare the results of our political system with those of other civilized nations, I do not think that our republic, with all its drawbacks and shortcomings, will suffer in the comparison. You can say: 'America, with all thy faults, I love thee still.'

"Cold, indeed, and torpid obtuse and apathetic is the soul that is not aroused to warmth and enthusiasm in contemplating the history of the United States which has been the home of liberty and the haven of rest to downtrodden millions in other lands.

"But the survival of the American republic must rest on a more stable foundation than the patriotism of our citizens, the genius of our statesmen and the wisdom of our laws. It must have a stronger basis than fleets and dreadnoughts and standing armies; for 'the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong.' Our enduring stability can be secured only under the abiding protection of the Lord of Hosts.

"The history of the Jewish people from the days of Abraham to their dispersion among the Gentiles gives a forcible illustration of this truth; that those people are victorious in the end who have the God of battles on their side, and that He is with them who have unfailing confidence in His protection.

Sin a Reproach

"'Righteousness,' says the Book of Proverbs, 'exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to the people.' If our republic is to be perpetuated, if it is to be handed down unimpaired to future generations, it must rest on the eternal principles of justice, truth and righteousness; and downright honesty in our dealings with other nations; it must be sustained by the devout recognition of an overruling power, who governs all things by His wisdom, whose superintending providence watches over the affairs of nations as well as of men without whom not even a bird can fall to the ground.

"One of the leaders of the convention that assembled in Philadelphia to frame the constitution of the United States made the following sage remark to his colleagues: 'We have spent many days and weeks in our deliberations, and we have accomplished little or nothing. We have been groping in the dark because we have not sought light from the Father of Lights to illumine our understanding. I have lived for many years and the older I grow the more I am convinced that a Supreme Power interposes in the affairs of mankind. For if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His knowledge, how can an empire rise without His co-operation. And we also know from the Sacred Volume that 'unless the Lord build the house, he laboreth in vain who buildeth.'

"And happily for the nation this humble recognition of a superintending power has been upheld from the dawn of the republic to our own time. What a striking contrast we present in this respect to our sister republic across the Atlantic, which once bore the proud title of 'eldest daughter of the church.' The leaders of the French republic are so far carried away by the tide of unbelief that they studiously eliminate the name of God from their official utterances. How different is the conduct of our leaders and statesmen! They have all paid homage to the moral Governor of the world. All the presidents of the United States, from George Washington to William Howard Taft, have invariably invoked the aid of our heavenly Father in their inaugural proclamations. It is also the edifying custom of our chief magistrate to invite his fellow-citizens to assemble in their respective places of worship on the last Thursday of November, to offer thanksgiving to the Giver of all gifts for the blessings vouchsafed to the nation. Both houses of congress are daily opened with prayer. And all important civic and political conventions are inaugurated by an appeal to the throne of grace. God's supremacy is also recognized by the observance of the Christian Sabbath throughout the land.

Church and State

"It is true, indeed, that we have no official union of church and state in this country. But we are not to infer from this fact that there is any antagonism between the civil and religious authorities, nor does it imply any indifference to religious principles. Far from it. Church and state move in parallel lines. The state throws over the church the mantle of its protection, without interfering with the God-given rights of conscience; and the church on her part renders valuable aid to the state in upholding the civil laws by religious and moral sanctions.

"No man should be a drone in the social beehive. No man should be an indifferent spectator of the political and economical questions which confront him. Indifference and apathy in civic and political life are as hurtful to the state as indifference in religion is hurtful to the Christian commonwealth. Our Lord says to the bishop of Laodicea: 'I would that thou wert hot or cold, but because thou art lukewarm, and art neither cold nor hot, I will begin to vomit thee out of my mouth.'

"A sincere man who in attacking Christian faith honestly believes that he is right, is less blameworthy than the torpid, lukewarm Christian who never takes an interest in the religion of Christ. In like manner, a citizen, who earnestly espouses a faulty political principle is less dangerous to the state than the supine citizen who never takes an interest in the political welfare of his country.

"It is my profound conviction that if ever the republic is doomed to decay, if the future historian shall ever record the decline and fall of the American republic, its downfall will be due, not to a hostile invasion, but to the indifference, lethargy and political apostasy of her own sons.

"And if all citizens are bound to take an interest in public affairs, that duty especially devolves on those who are endowed with superior intelligence and education and who ought to be the leaders and exemplars of the people, guiding them in the path of political rectitude.

"There are three conspicuous citizens who are now candidates for the presidency. Whatever may be my private and personal preference and predilection it is not for me in this sacred pulpit or anywhere else publicly to dictate or even suggest to you the candidate of my choice.

"May God so enlighten the mind and quicken the conscience of the American people to a sense of their civic duties as to arouse in them an earnest and practical interest in the coming election, and may He so guide their hearts that they will select a chief magistrate whose administration will redound to the material prosperity and moral welfare of our beloved republic."

Two months in the new store and the interest is unabated. In fact it seems to grow from day to day, and our trade is growing by leaps and bounds. Three more clerks. The salary of all old employes raised and they deserve it. Never has a crew of men worked harder or more loyally.

26 more CRAWFORD RANGES sold in October than the same month last year. We don't know how many more CRAWFORD PARLOR STOVES as we don't keep a record of them, but we do of the ranges. We have sold since we are agents for the CRAWFORD over 3000 in Lowell and surrounding towns. HADLEY FOR VICE PRESIDENT

He Will Be the Running Mate of Pres. Taft on the Republican Ticket

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Fifteen out of 24 members of the republican national committee, who have notified Chairman C. D. Hilles of their choice of a vice presidential candidate to succeed the late James S. Sherman, are for Gov. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri.

By a statement here last night, Chairman Hilles declared that no selection would be made by the national committee until Nov. 12, but he made public the desires of the 24 committeemen who have openly stated their choice.

Of those, aside from the majority for governor, two favored John Wanamaker of Philadelphia; one Secretary of War Stimson, one Congressman S. McCall of Massachusetts, one Justice Hughes and one Gov. Goldsboro of Maryland.

"The suggestion that members of the republican national committee should authorize the executive committee or the chairman of the committee to nominate a candidate for vice president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Sherman, is not feasible, and, therefore, has not received favorable consideration," said Mr. Hilles.

"It has already been made clear that it would have been a physical impossibility for the members of the committee to attend a meeting prior to election day there not being sufficient interim between the death of the vice president and election day for the committee to convene. Proxies by wire would not have been legal and action based on such proxies would have been an unwarrantable innovation and would have established a dangerous precedent.

"A majority of the members of the committee have, however, publicly expressed their choice for a candidate, Mr. Hale of Maine favors immediate action, but has not yet indicated his choice for a candidate. While the member of the committee from the state of Idaho has not given color to his views, the republican state committee of Idaho has recommended the selection of Gov. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri."

The members of the committee who have publicly announced their preference for Gov. Hadley are:

Lewis of Vermont, Brooker of Connecticut, Parker of Alabama, Jackson of Georgia, Mosely of Mississippi, Brown of the District of Columbia, Granger of Ohio, Goodrich of Indiana, Warren of Michigan, Hawkins of Minnesota, Shoemaker of Missouri, Harris of Oklahoma, Mortimer of Texas, Gov. Hadley or Wanamaker, Bohn of Porto Rico, Mackay of Montana, Maxson of Wyoming, Speese of New Mexico.

For S. W. McCall, Estabrook of New Hampshire.

For Justice Hughes, Jackson of Maryland.

For Secretary Stimson, McCoy of the Philippines.

Gov. Hadley has also been recommended by State Chairman Herbert W. Clark of New Mexico, State Chairman Jesse F. McDonald of Colorado, State Chairman F. C. Williams of Vermont, Congressman E. W. Martin of South Dakota, Congressman J. W. Fordney of Michigan, Congressman William H. Wilder of Massachusetts and Congressman E. J. Hill of Connecticut.

Mr. Wanamaker has been recommended by State Chairman Edmund Mitchell of Delaware and Congressman J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania.

REV. E. VICTOR BIGELOW

Preached His Farewell Sermon at Eliot Church

Rev. E. Victor Bigelow preached his farewell sermon at the Eliot Congregational church yesterday. Mr. Bigelow has been pastor of the Eliot church for the last 12 years. He based his sermon on the text from I Corinthians, 11:24: "This do in remembrance of me." In part, he said:

"My sermon will be about the Lord's supper, that great memorial our Saviour asked for himself. Jesus said anybody is welcome at this supper who believes in him. Whether he has passed in examination before a church committee, he is invited to partake of the bread and of the wine. If you feel he is master of your heart, is not this call to you?

"Christ must have had a very human heart. He said, 'This do in remembrance of me,' when leaving his disciples. That which impelled him to establish this was not for fame of himself. He suggested that which is the simplest custom of life, eating and drinking. Even the poor can have food. And this simplicity, this suggestion of a custom which means our life, indicates the great ideal, the deep significance of it all. I believe that the wine spoken of was an unfermented wine, for that was what was drunk in those days. But he speaks of wine only as he knew what was the common drink of those times. Water would do as well, and I do not believe fermented wine should be drunk either at communion or at home.

"Why didn't Christ say 'Remember me by giving to the poor, or caring for the sick, or building houses for others?' He was the utmost utilitarian that ever lived, yet in this he scorned the utilitarian, and spoke wholly of a symbolical ceremony. What you want most in this world isn't money or food or clothing. No, in the final analysis, you want personal regard. Nobody is utilitarian in this final test. And that was what Christ wanted, when he said, 'This do in remembrance of me.' He wanted the hearts of men. It is a ceremony divested of the things of this earth.

"He did not ask us to remember his good deeds in general but he did ask us to remember his dying. What you and I are asked us to remember the Lord's death,—this means more than all the rest of his life. His purpose in existence was atonement, suffering, sacrifice.

"Nothing spurs men on as death, either the fear of one's own death, or the fact of the death of another. It is something which speaks within and with an imperative voice.

"Some ten or more years ago three words were spoken by everybody. They were: 'Remember the Maine.' Thousands of men responded to that tocsin of war, and went to Cuba to fight. And today, if you will, you will see the hulks of the ships which were sunk by the men who remembered the Maine.

"In the foothills of the Balkans men today are remembering the awful death of a sister, a brother, a father, mother or child, and they are striking down those who perpetrated awful crimes on relatives.

"In this supper, of which we are bidden to partake, there is no vengeance or fury against those who killed our Saviour. It was human selfishness, not Jewish selfishness that killed him. Is there one of us here unwilling to remember the Lord Jesus in this simple, universal, profound symbolism of the bread and wine? 'This do in remembrance of me.'"

During the service Miss Gertrude Flint Frisbie sang several solo numbers, and Mr. Bigelow announced that Rev. Nathan Matthews, formerly pastor of the Congregational church in St. Petersburg, Fla., will supply the pulpit of the church for the remainder of the month.

On Wednesday evening from 8 to 9.30 o'clock the church and society will give a farewell reception to Rev. and Mrs. Bigelow.

GENERAL ALARM OF FIRE

Blaze in Salem Caused $20,000 Damage

SALEM, Nov. 4.—A general alarm was sounded at 6.30 yesterday morning for a fire in the Goldthwait buildings, 9 to 11 Front street, which resulted in a loss of $20,000.

The fire started in the wholesale grocery store of P. Sushelsky, and was of unknown origin. The blaze was discovered by a small boy who notified the police.

The building is a two-story brick structure, and in the rear are a number of inflammable houses to which the firemen had great difficulty in preventing the flames from spreading.

The entire fighting apparatus of the city worked for three hours before the blaze was under control.

Sushelsky places his loss at between $8000 and $10,000, of which $2000 was covered by insurance. The Spencer Regulator company, at 5-7 Front street lost $2000, which was fully covered. The automobiles were removed in safety.

The heaviest loss was by the Salem Buttonhole company, who estimate the damage to stock from fire and water to be $14,000, only $2500 of which was covered. Buttonhole machines valued at $7700 were destroyed.

The Salem Electric Light company and Lewis J. Rogolsky met with small losses.

The building is owned by Hooper Brothers, and is assigned for $10,000.

THOMAS S. CUFF

Practical Politics in its issue of Sept. 14, 1912, says:

To carry a normally republican district for three years in succession is somewhat of a task for a republican these days and when a democrat accomplishes this feat people have a right to sit up and ask who he may be. The man in question is Representative Thomas S. Cuff of Lowell who has sat in the house from the 19th Middlesex district since 1910.

The district which "Tom" Cuff, as he was popularly known to all his associates on the hill represents, consists of Ward 9, Lowell, and the towns of Billerica and Tewksbury, and is made up of both farming and manufacturing industries and a man who represents such a district has somewhat of a job on his hands reconciling what are at most times opposite interests. Rep. Cuff has succeeded so well in his task that there seems to be no question but that he will be returned for another term.

As in former years Rep. Cuff has been found working hard for laws that will benefit the working people. He was on the right side of every labor measure that came up during the session. When the measures for progressive legislation were discussed Representative Cuff voted and worked for the Donohue resolutions in favor of the direct election of United States senators by the people, the federal income tax, for the initiative and referendum and other measures of this character. He was one of the strongest opponents of the so-called Ellis milk bill to which the farmers were strenuously opposed because of the additional burdens which it would put upon them.

Rep. Cuff helped to get through the past legislature the various measures appropriating money for the Lowell Textile school. He is 34 years old and is a prominent druggist in his city. He is a graduate of the public schools of Lowell and a member of the K. C., Y. M. C. I., U. S. Bunting, C. C. and A. A. He again served on the committee on public health during the past session and was instrumental in the reporting out of and passage of the bill to regulate the cold storage of food products.

SHE ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Young Woman Married Only Six Months

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Walter Eaton of 48 Brookford street attempted suicide during the absence of her husband yesterday, by illuminating gas.

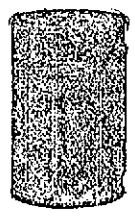

Neighbors, alarmed at the odor, broke into the apartments and found her unconscious. She is at the City hospital, where little hope is held out for recovery.

Before turning on the gas she wrote three letters, one to her husband imploring forgiveness and telling him where he would find clean linen to attend her funeral, another to Rev. Allen W. Stockdale, her pastor, and a third to a relative in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Eaton said his wife, who is 30 years old, had been brooding over religion for some time. She is from Nova Scotia, and the couple have been married but six months.

37,000 SAW THE CRIMSON WIN FROM TIGERS BY 16 TO 6

Some Strong Plays on Each Side, But Harvard Excelled—Brickley, the Famous Harvard Player, Was Injured

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 4.—An army corps of spectators streamed out to the great gray stadium on the banks of the Charles to see Princeton and Harvard battle in the most important football match on the eastern gridirons Saturday. The weather was superb, both from the players and the spectators standpoint, for a snappy northwester from out of a clear sky had succeeded yesterday's southerly storm. The rain of the previous afternoon had soaked the field to some extent but the turf dried rapidly as soon as the sun peeped over the walls of the amphitheatre.

Harvard was a slight favorite in the betting up to the opening of the game but the odds were narrow and there seemed to be little disposition on the part of Princetown backers to lay many wagers. The Orange and Black players passed a quiet night in Newton while many of the Harvard first line remained away from Cambridge until a few hours before the game began.

Trainer Keene Fitzpatrick looked over his Princeton charges carefully this morning and said he could observe only the best condition and he claimed that the entire team was in fine physical shape and confident of victory.

"Pooch" Donovan, who has trained Harvard for the past decade, had almost as good a report regarding the Crimson players, although he said that Capt. Wendell was not quite up to the normal owing to a sprained ankle, while Hardwick, the left halfback, was bothered by a couple of muscle bruises.

Princeton Men Arrive

The undergraduate delegation from Princeton reached Cambridge early, many coming by the Fall River line on a special steamer while others filled half a dozen special sleeping trains. They found Cambridge well decorated in their honor for Tiger colors were nearly as prominent in and about Harvard square as the Crimson. Great red banners, however, floated from nearly all the fraternity buildings and across many of the streets leading to the stadium.

As in former big contests the seating capacity of the stadium had been increased by the erection of temporary stands, so that nearly 37,000 people were enabled to see the game. Owing to the distance from Princeton, the demands for seats of the followers of the Orange and Black was light compared with the annual Yale-Harvard game. This enabled the Harvard management to put up for general sale many thousand seats. Many hours before the game started speculation as to the individual and collective strength of the two teams was a fruitful topic in or about Cambridge. A hundred or so authorities on the game and the latest developments were far from agreement. Some pointed out that Harvard would score many points through Brickley's wonderful drop-kicking abilities, that the Harvard backfield was one of the most powerful on the gridiron today and that the Crimson ends were superior to those of Princeton. Other experts declared that the Tigers were proverbial fighters to the last ditch and that the latest demonstration was only a week ago when the Princeton team turned what looked like a defeat by Dartmouth into an overwhelming victory.

The Lineup

The game was scheduled for 2 p. m. and the lineup as announced some hours earlier by the head coaches of the respective teams was as follows:

Harvard		Princeton
Felton, le		le, Andrews
Storer, lt		lt, Phillips
Pennock, lg		lg, Shenk
Parmenter, c		c, Bluethenthal
Trumbull, rg		rg, Logan
Hitchcock, rt		rt, E. Trenkmann
Coolidge, re		re, Dunlap
Gardner, qb		qb, J. Baker
Hardwick, lhb		lhb, Waller
Brickley, rhb		rhb, Pendleton
Wendell, fb		fb, Dewitt

Officials: Referee, W. S. Landford, Trinity; umpire, C. S. Williams, University of Pennsylvania; head linesman, Lieut. Nelly, West Point. Time, 15 minute periods.

Start of Game

Pendleton kicked off to Hardwick on Harvard's 15 yard line. The ball was run back 13 yards. Felton kicked on the first down out of bounds on Princeton's 45 yard line. Baker carried the ball on a wing shift and made four yards. Waller made three more and then Capt. Pendleton made a first down around Harvard's left end to Harvard's 40 yard line. On the next down it was holding by Princeton and a 20 yard penalty sent the ball back into the Tigers' territory. After an ineffectual rush Baker carried the ball and made three yards. Dewitt kicked to Harvard's 28 yard line and Hardwick carried it back to Harvard's 39 yard line. Harvard started rushing with a three yard gain by Capt. Wendell through tackle. Felton kicked to Pendleton on Princeton's 24 yard line where a fair catch was made. Dewitt was thrown back for a three yard loss and then after fumbling the pass Waller made 12 yards round Harvard's right end. Pendleton found Harvard's rush line adamant and could not gain. Dewitt kicked to Hardwick on Harvard's 30 yard line and the ball was run back six yards. Felton kicked to Pendleton on Princeton's 20 yard line and before he was downed on the Tigers' 37 yard line. Bradley took Wendell's place at fullback for Harvard. Waller made two yards through Harvard's right tackle on a wing shift play. Dewitt struggled through for three more. Bradley took three more. Dewitt kicked to Harvard's 22 yard line, where Brickley fell on the ball without gain. Hardwick carried on a fake kick and lost four yards. Felton then kicked to Pendleton in the centre of the field, the Princeton captain muffing it but recovered the ball on Princeton's 43 yard line. Another wing shift play netted three yards and then Waller carried it to Harvard's 48 yard line on a plunge through centre. Waller made two yards more on a fake kick and Dewitt made a first down on Harvard's 42 yard line. Pendleton then shook off three Harvard tacklers and made another first down on Harvard's 30 yard line before he was thrown. This was the nearest that either side had been to its opponent's goal. Princeton was making good gains when there came a five yard penalty for offside play.

On another fake kick Waller lost 10 yards. The first forward pass by Princeton was successful, Dewitt to S. Baker but there was no gain and Dewitt kicked outside of Harvard's 16-yard line. Up to this point Princeton had outrushed Harvard. Felton kicked again on the first down and although Pendleton muffed it again he made a quick recovery and it was Princeton's ball of their 45-yard line. Pendleton could not gain in a plunge into center and Dewitt was thrown back for a yard loss. A variation of the Minnesota shift netted four yards, Waller carrying the ball. Dewitt kicked to Gardner on Harvard's 24-yard line, where a fair catch was made. Brickley was unable to gain on a fake kick and then Felton kicked to Pendleton on Princeton's 12-yard line, a punt of 68 yards. Pendleton was nailed without gain. S. Baker made two yards on a quarterback run. Pendleton made four yards on a triple pass and then came some delay while Princeton held a council of war. The conference a two yard gain but was sufficient for a first down on Princeton's 20-yard line. Pendleton was hurled back for three yards. Here the first quarter ended.

Second Period

In resuming play Dewitt kicked a high ball without material gain and it was Harvester's ball on Princeton's 32-yard line. Brickley drove into the Princeton line for two yards and Princeton was sent back five yards for offside play. It was Harvard's ball on Princeton's 25-yard line. Brickley made four yards in the first rush and two on the second and it was Harvard's ball on Princeton's 19-yard line. Hardwick made four yards and Brickley plunged desperately against center for a first down on Princeton's 16-yard line. A five yard penalty on Princeton's put the ball on the Tiger's 11-yard line and then Hardwick plowed into the Tigers for four yards more. Brickley hurled himself into the mass of players for two yards and it was a fourth down on Princeton's four-yard line.

As the ball was still four yards from the Princeton goal on the fourth down Brickley dropped back to the 13 yard line and sent a beautiful drop over the Princeton goal for the first score of the game. Waller kicked off to the Harvard one yard line. There were a half dozen Harvard men waiting for the ball expecting it to go over the goal line. The pigskin bounced around and refused to roll over. Brickley picked it up and sprinted through the field for 16 yards before he was downed. Wight took Funk's place at right end for Princeton. On the first rush Brickley carried the ball to the 30 yard line on a fake kick and then Felton kicked out of bounds on Princeton's 42 yard line. Neither Waller nor Pendleton could gain on plunges into Harvard's line and Waller was thrown back for a five yard loss. Dewitt then kicked to Hardwick on Harvard's 25 yard line and the ball was rushed back nine yards. There was holding in the Harvard line on the first rush and a penalty of 15 yards. Felton immediately kicked to Pendleton on the Tigers' 35 yard line and Pendleton rushed it back 16 yards to Harvard's 44 yard line. Dewitt could not gain. An another variation of the shift in which seven men were lined up behind the line Waller made three yards. Dewitt then kicked over the Harvard goal line. The ball was brought out to Harvard's 20 yard line. Brickley made another four yards on a plunge through left tackle. Felton then kicked to Pendleton. The Princeton captain struggled back six yards before he was downed. Andrews attempted a forward pass but the ball struck the ground and was incompleted. On the next attempt Andrews hurled the ball to Pendleton on another forward pass which was successful and netted Princeton thirty yards. Another forward pass Andrews to Waller, completely fooled the Harvard forwards, for Waller caught it on Harvard's 10-yard line.

Touchdown for Princeton

He fell down after catching it but managed to recover his feet and dropped over the goal line. Harvard blocked Pendleton's kick out after the touchdown, so no goal was attempted. The two forward passes were beautifully executed and Princeton made 53 yards on the two plays.

Brickley kicked off to Pendleton on the 22 yard line and the ball was run back to the 40 yard line. After two ineffectual rushes by Princeton, the Tigers were penalized five yards for offside play. Storer threw Pendleton back and then Pendleton kicked to Hardwick on Harvard's 35 yard line. The Harvard back was thrown without gain and then Hardwick made four yards on a long run around Princeton's right end. Brickley made half a yard on the plunge into centre. Hardwick made a yard more. Felton then kicked to Pendleton on Princeton's 20 yard line and the ball although muffed was recovered and the hall run back five yards. Waller made two yards on a plunge into centre and Dewitt three more on a wing shift play. On a kick Baker struggled through Harvard's centre for a yard. Then Dewitt kicked to Gardner on Harvard's 36 yard line. Here Coolidge was thrown back for a three yard loss for an attempted run around Princeton's right end. Harvard attempted a forward pass but Waller caught the ball on Harvard's 43 yard line. Andrews hurled another long forward pass which Pendleton muffed on Harvard's 20 yard line, the ball being brought back for another down. Another Princeton forward failed and it still was Princeton's ball on Harvard's 43 yard line. Dewitt kicked over the line and time was called.

Third Period

The players came onto the field again a few minutes after three o'clock and then lined up for the third period. Both teams held brief consultations and then they lined up with Princeton kicking off. There were no changes in the Harvard line. Baker took Pendleton's place and kicked off to Harvard's ten yard line. Brickley ran it back ten yards and after one down kicked to H. Baker on Princeton's ten yard line. Wright went out and Pendleton took his place. Two rushes netted five yards on plunges into centre. On the next down Dewitt fumbled it and Harvard recovered the ball on Princeton's five yard on downs. Brickley got another yard on plunges into centre. There was offside play by Harvard and the ball was rushed back to Princeton's 20 yard line. Brickley made a yard with a smash into centre and then dropped back for a field goal. Instead Harvard rushed the ball. On the fourth down Brickley dropped back to the 15 yard line and shot his second goal, tieing the score. H. Baker kicked off Hardwick on Harvard's 20 yard line and the ball was run back five yards. Brickley worked his way back for four yards and Felton punted to H. Baker on Princeton's 20 yard line. The ball was run back five yards. On a forward pass Waller lost six yards. Dewitt punted and Gardner caught on Princeton's 47-yard line. There Brickley tried a goal from placement kick from the 45-yard line, which went across the goal and scored three more points. Baker kicked off to the Harvard 30-yard line, Storer falling on the ball. Hardwick could not gain around Princeton's right end. Felton then punted to H. Baker on Princeton's 25-yard line, the Princeton back being thrown without gain. Waller hurled himself into the line for a scant yard. Pendleton tried Harvard's right end for no gain and as Baker was off side Princeton was penalized five yards. Baker made a yard and then Dewitt kicked out of bounds on Princeton's 45-yard line. It was Harvard's ball. Brickley on a delayed pass was unable to gain so fierce was the Tiger tackling. But on the next play he made four yards on a fake pass formation. Hardwick made four yards on a fake forward pass. Brickley attempted a goal from midfield, but the ball was blocked and was then given to Princeton on downs. Waller could not gain on a plunge into center. Neither could Dewitt make gain against Harvard line.

On a double pass S. Baker could not gain when he had apparently a clear field. Dewitt then kicked to Hardwick on Harvard's 32-yard line. Brickley made three yards in a wiggle through left tackle. And another yard through the same place was made by Brickley. The strength of the opposing lines was found to be about equal when it came to line plunging. Felton then kicked to H. Baker on Princeton's 20-yard line and this time the Tiger back ran the ball back several yards. Neither Waller nor Baker could gain on line plunging. Dewitt on a run from a kick formation was thrown back for a loss of a yard and then kicked out of bounds on Harvard's 20-yard line. On a fake kick Brickley made two yards. Then Felton kicked to H. Baker on Princeton's 20-yard line. The ball was run back nine yards. On the first rush Baker fumbled but recovered the ball with loss of six yards. Andrews made a yard and then Dewitt kicked low and it was Harvard's ball on their 38-yard line. Princeton's tackling was very keen and Harvard could make but few gains. Swart took Logan's place, as Princeton's right guard. The period ended with the ball on Harvard's 38-yard line.

Score: Harvard 9, Princeton 6.

When play was resumed Bradley made half a yard on the first rush. The ball went up in the air and Baker made a fair catch on Princeton's 35 yard line. Waller made a fine run around Harvard's right end but there was offside play by Princeton and the ball was sent back to the 35 yard line. The Princeton formation was nearly always a shift with two-thirds of the team behind the line. There were two plunges into the line and then Dewitt tried a forward pass which was uncompleted. Emmons took S. Baker's place at quarterback for Princeton. There was some delay while the men were refreshed with water and then Princeton kicked to Harvard's 25 yard line where Gardner was thrown without gain. Brickley made 11 yards in a long run around Princeton's left end for a first down. He gathered in three yards more by a dash into center and then made another three through left tackle. It was Harvard's ball on their 42 yard line for a third down. Brickley was hurt and there was a wait.

Bailin went in at right tackle for Princeton. Brickley recovered and resumed play. Hardwick found only a mass of players in front of him and Felton kicked to H. Baker on Princeton's 20 yard line. The ball rolled out of bounds when Baker muffed it. On being brought out Princeton tried a forward pass and Brickley caught it on Princeton's 30 yard line. Hardwick made three yards through right tackle and Brickley gathered in two more, the ball being on Princeton's 25 yard line. Gardner then dropped back as if for a goal from the field and Brickley carried the ball to the 24 yard line. He attempted a goal from the field but the ball went wide. The ball was brought out and put in play on the 20 yard line by Princeton. Princeton then spread out her forces as if for a forward pass and Emmons made six yards on a quarterback run. Waller was hurled back seven yards. Then Gardner caught a Princeton forward pass on the Tigers' 30 yard line. It was once more Harvard's ball on Princeton's 30 yard line. Brickley made three yards in a crash into centre.

Harvard Men Laid Out

Several Harvard men were temporarily laid out and there was a delay of a few minutes. Driscoll went in at right guard for Harvard. Brickley struggled through the Princeton line for two yards. Standing in the middle of the field Brickley tried another goal from midfield but the ball although reaching the goal line went wide. Princeton put the ball in play at the 20 yard line. Waller was thrown back for a loss of nine yards on a run from a fake kick formation. He regained three of it on a crash into center. Dewitt then threw a perfect forward pass to Andrews and the ball was Princeton's on their 28 yard line. Dewitt kicked out of bounds on Princeton's 46 yard line, where the ball went to Harvard. Brickley, although tackled twice, made a first down on Princeton's 34 yard line. Princeton was off side and lost five yards. It was Harvard's ball on the Tigers' 29 yard line. Brickley could only gain a yard in a dash into center but Hardwick made three and the ball was on Princeton's 25 yard line for a third down. There Brickley tried another goal from the field, which just missed the goal posts. The ball was brought out again to the 20 yard line. Streit took H. Baker's place. Princeton tried another forward pass, Hardwick catching it and running the ball to Princeton's 30 yard line. Hardwick made nine yards round Princeton's right end and the ball was on the Tiger's 20 yard line. Hardwick made two yards more and it was a first down for Harvard on Princeton's 18 yard line. Brickley by a plunge carried the ball to Princeton's 13 yard line. Wigglesworth for Parmenter at center for Harvard. Hardwick made a yard. On a fake forward pass formation Hardwick placed the ball on Princeton's five yard line for a first down. Brickley made two yards with a terrific line plunge. Brickley made half a yard, so firm was the Princeton line. There was another pileup with the ball on the one yard line for a fourth down. On the next down Hardwick tore through the Princeton line and over the goal line for the first Crimson touchdown. Brickley was injured in the play and was forced to leave the field. Lineguard took his place. The Harvard stands gave Brickley a tremendous cheer as he came off the field with Dr. Nichols. Four men carried Brickley to the locker room. The game was resumed with Harvard kicking off. Andrews caught the ball on the 25-yard line and ran it back five yards. Pendleton was thrown back five yards on the first rush. Princeton attempted another forward pass, but Gardner came through and caught the ball. It was Harvard's ball on Princeton's 37-yard line. Here the game ended. Score Harvard 16; Princeton 6.

THE EXPORTS OF COAL

Showed Very Large Increase This Year

Coal is rapidly becoming an important factor in the export trade of the United States. The value of the coal sent to foreign countries last year was 321-2 million dollars, against 21 million in 1902 and 8 1-3 million in 1892, having thus increased over 500 per cent. in the last twenty years and 150 per cent. in the last decade. Even these large figures of over 50 million dollars' worth of coal sent to foreign countries in the fiscal year 1912 do not include the value of that passing out of the country in the form of "bunker," or fuel coal laden on vessels engaged in the foreign trade, which aggregated nearly 23 million dollars in value, making a total of over 75 million dollars as the value of the coal passing out of the United States in the fiscal year 1912. The quantity sent to foreign countries in 1912 was, according to figures compiled by the statistical division of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, 17 1-2 million tons, against 7 million in the 1902 and 2 1-2 million in 1892. Thus the quantity exported in 1912 is seven times as much as in 1892 and the value over 6 times as much in 1912 as in 1892. Coke exports also show a decided growth, the value in 1892 having been but 112 thousand dollars and in 1912 practically 3 million dollars. A comparison of the quantity and value of coal placed for fuel purposes on board vessels engaged in foreign trade in 1912 can only be made with comparatively recent years, the figures of bunker coal laden on vessels in 1912 being 7,093,212 tons, valued at $22,802,876, against 6,093,794 tons, valued at $19,671,778 in the fiscal year 1909, the earliest date for which complete figures of bunker coal movements are available.

The fact that the coal sent to foreign countries has increased 150 per cent. both in quantity and value, during the last ten years, that the total value of exports to foreign countries plus the value of that leaving the country as bunker coal now aggregates over 75 million dollars suggests that the total value of the coaling out of the United States in a single year will soon reach the 100 million dollar line.

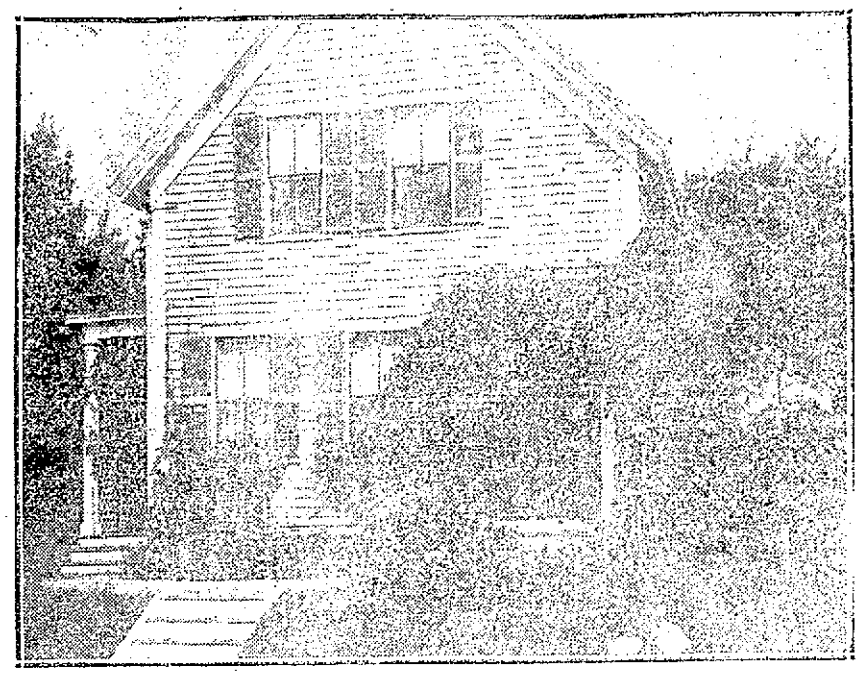

The movement of coal out of the United States is confined to comparatively few countries. Of the 2,979,192 tons of anthracite coal exported in the fiscal year 1912, all except 50,571 tons went to Canada; and of the 14,709,847 tons of bituminous coal exported in that year, 10,671,982 tons went to Canada, 1,121,589 tons to Cuba, 695,534 tons to other West Indies and Bermuda, 511,802 tons to Panama, 344,712 tons to Mexico, and less than one and one-half million tons to all other countries. While the total exports of coal to other parts of the world are at the present time small, the growth in the movements to certain European and South American countries has been rapid. The quantity of bituminous coal exported to Italy has grown from 42,644 tons in 1907 to 276,497 tons in 1912; to France, from 4027 tons in 1907 to 43,222 tons in 1912; to Argentina, from 9877 tons in 1907 to 156,702 tons in 1912; to Brazil, from 1610 tons in 1907 to 307,125 tons in 1912; and to French territory in Africa, from 589 tons in 1907 to 102,493 tons in 1912. The total exports of bituminous coal to all Europe grew from 87,512 tons in 1907 to 494,905 tons in 1912; and to South America, from 65,906 tons in 1907 to 491,905 tons in 1912; and to South America, from 65,906 tons in 1907 to 580,160 tons in 1912; and to South America, from 65,906 tons in 1907 to 580,160 tons in 1912.

The principal coal-importing countries of the world are: France, whose imports in the latest year for which figures are available were 16 1-4 million metric tons; Austria-Hungary, nearly 11 million; Belgium, 7 1-3 million; Italy, 9 1-2 million; Russia, 4 1-2 million; Sweden, 3 3-4 million; Argentina, 3 3-4 million; Spain, 2 million; China, 1 1-2 million, and Brazil, 1 1-3 million metric tons, the average value of these imports ranging from $8.50 to $6.50 per metric ton.

Pastor Brown of Hyde Park Prevented the Kidnapping of His Daughter

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—An unsuccessful attempt which was made to kidnap Ida Brown, the 8-year-old daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William A. Brown of Hyde Park, whose divorce case recently attracted much attention, became known yesterday.

Edward Johnson, an uncle of the child, together with a mysterious woman, took the little girl from the Fairmount house in Hyde Park late Saturday night, shortly after the death of Mrs. Brown in the Linwood street hospital according to the police, who prevented the couple from taking the midnight train to New York with the child.

The little girl was staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Ida Johnson, who left the Fairmount house 10 minutes before the child was taken away. The kidnapping was discovered by the Rev. Mr. Brown, who notified the police.

Mrs. Brown had been confined to the hospital for some time, and died last night. During her illness her daughter has been in the custody of Mrs. Johnson at the Fairmount house.

During the divorce case, the Rev. Mr. Brown, who was formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church of Hyde Park, said that he laid all his troubles to his mother-in-law.

On Saturday night Mrs. Johnson left her apartments in the Fairmount house and 10 minutes later, Johnson and a woman whose identity is unknown, took the little girl away with them.

Brown immediately notified the police when he discovered his daughter was gone, and Johnson, with the woman and little girl were found in the South station about to board the midnight train for New York.

They were detained, and the little girl was taken back to the Fairmount house.

The Brown divorce was heard before Judge Fessenden in the Suffolk divorce court last March, Mrs. Brown alleging cruel and abusive treatment.

Brown denied his wife's charges to the effect that he had assaulted and beaten her.

Their 8-year-old daughter, Ida, testified that her father was a "nice man," and that she never wished to speak to him again. She said that one night she helped her mother when her father was choking his wife and that her father often whipped her without cause.

Largest Crowd That Ever Entered Madison Square Garden Cheered Governor Wilson

WILSON ADDRESSING MEETING IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
COPYRIGHT 1912 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

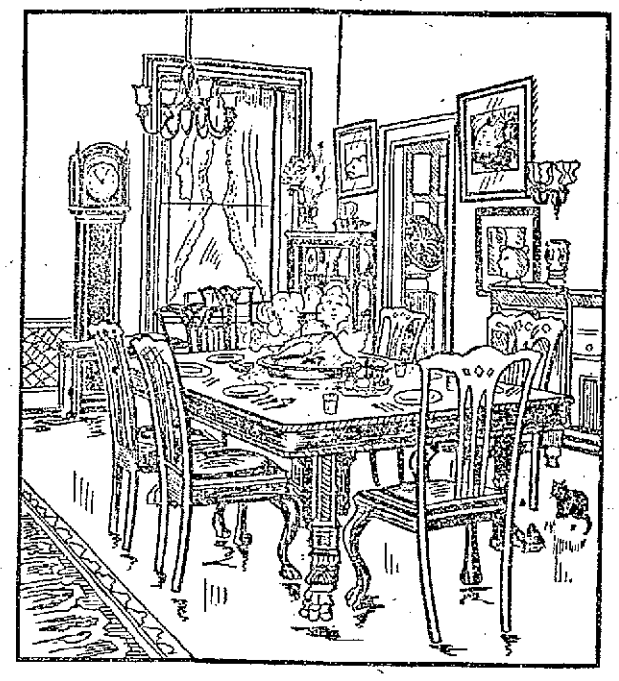

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—All records were broken when Governor Wilson appeared in Madison Square Garden Thursday night. In the first place, it is certain that from 500 to 1000 more persons were inside the huge amphitheater than were ever gathered there at one time before. This means that perhaps 16,000 persons greeted the democratic presidential candidate. Oscar Underwood of Alabama finished his speech at 9.10 with the words, "I will now make way for the next president of the United States." Immediately cheering and waving of flags began, and it was 10.14 before the crowd was stilled. And even then the vast audience manifested a disposition to break out again if offered a chance. The arrow designates Mr. Wilson.

MAN AND WOMAN HURT

They Were Struck By an Automobile

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Richard S. Merrill, 25, of 68 Charles street, Dorchester, who was operating an automobile, which ran down and severely injured two pedestrians when they were crossing Massachusetts avenue, near the junction of St. Stephen street, about 11 o'clock Saturday evening, is under arrest, charged with recklessly driving his auto.

It is alleged that, in full view of the theatre crowds and the people pouring from Symphony hall, his auto, speeding along at a rapid rate, struck and knocked down Mrs. Lillian Fisher of 146 Massachusetts avenue, and Manuel Pelprantz of 3 Denmark street, hurling both of them more than 10 feet into the air.

Mrs. Fisher was picked up unconscious, and a passing auto quickly brought her to her home, where she was cared for by a physician. It was found she is suffering from numerous contusions, her left arm broken and left wrist sprained, a fracture of the right ankle, and three ribs splintered.

She was resting comfortably at her home yesterday, and is under the care of a trained nurse. Her recovery is looked for unless internal injuries develop.

Pelprantz's condition is not serious, but he was badly cut and bruised and suffered from a long gash on his forehead and his right leg broken in two places. He is at the City hospital, where he was taken in another auto.

The police say that the auto, which is owned by Grace P. Merrill of 68 Charles street, Dorchester, did not slow down at the crosswalk, even though a number of people were on the street at the time.

They say the side of the auto struck Mrs. Fisher, and this probably saved her life. In attempting to avoid hitting the woman, Merrill turned the machine to one side, putting on the brake at the same time, and it is said the front wheel then hit Pelprantz, who was crossing the street just in back of Mrs. Fisher.

The police detained Merrill and when they found that both were severely injured, he was arrested.

POLICE HAVE A CLUE

To the Slayers of Patrolman Peterson

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—That a woman instigated the murder of Patrolman Peterson, who was shot to death early on Tuesday morning, is now the belief of the investigating officers. The new clue was furnished to the police last night and following the information officers scoured the North End in quest of two Italians, one of whom did the shooting.

The names of the two men wanted were given to the police and also the reason for the crime. According to the story, the woman in question had a grievance against Peterson because he had been instrumental in affecting her arrest. Later she made the remark that she would "get" the officer.

It appears that she had been arrested shortly before the first of May and was put on probation for one year. She was frequently seen in the company of two Italians who live in the North End.

She was the woman who spoke to Patrolman Peterson just before the shooting and asked his protection against the insults of two men, according to the information given the police. This was a frameup, the investigating officers believe, in order that the two assassins would have an opportunity of revenging the real or fancied grievance of the woman.

Additional information also was gleaned that one of the two slayers had made a remark that they would get square with Peterson for his part in the arrest.

This woman is a habitue of West and North End cafes, or had been up to the time of the crime. Since then she has not been seen about her usual haunts.

ATHLETICS AT LOWELL ARMORY

Board of Directors Met and Adopted Schedule for Winter Contests

An interesting meeting of the board of directors of the Lowell Armory Athletic association was held in the Company G quarters at the armory yesterday afternoon.

Capt. Walter R. Jeyes, president of the association, presided. The principal business of the meeting was the adoption of a new set of by-laws and the latter will govern the tournament which opens at the armory this evening. The new rules are practically identical with those of last winter, one change being made in the system of bowling. There will be a charge on the alleys at all times this year, of five cents a string, or six strings for 25 cents, and playing will be permitted only under certain conditions, namely, having an officer or non-commissioned officer present. If there is neither, the bowling will be allowed at the discretion of Capt. Jeyes, or the assistant armorer, Mr. Lyons. The following were appointed auditors for the season:

Lieut. Thomas W. Doyle of Company G, Sergt. Master of Company K and Sergt. Tobin of Company M.

Most of the time remaining was taken up with completing the details for the winter's athletics.

Capt. James N. Greig was appointed a committee of one to look after the printing and purchase of tickets for the bowling and the basketball.

CAPT. WALTER R. JEYES

December—2, G vs. C; 9, K vs. M; 16, C vs. K; 23, M vs. G; 30, M vs. C.

Wants to Locate Uncle

The following letter which may be of interest to some one in this city was received at this office this morning:

East Boston, Nov. 3, 1912.

Gentlemen:

I have an uncle named Ben Johnston who lives in or near Lowell. He is a reader of your paper. He is about 68 years old, used to work in Norwood, Mass., but of late years has worked among horses. At one time he drove a team for one of the mills in Lowell.

I would like to get in touch with him as it means a great deal to me.

Respectfully,

John T. Moran,

Arlington High Eleven, One of Greater Boston's Best Teams, No Match for Lowell High

CAWLEY ABOUT TO PUNT. AN ARLINGTON PLAYER IS SEEN BREAKING THROUGH THE LINE IN AN ENDEAVOR TO BLOCK THE KICK

Arlington High eleven another one of Greater Boston's football teams, was humiliated by Lowell High's fast gridiron army at Washington park Saturday afternoon, the score, when the smoke cleared away, being 21 to 0. Coach McCarthy of Arlington, said that his team was crippled by the loss of three men, including the captain, who were injured. Still the local boys were not too hard on the visitors, for toward the latter part of the game Coach Mahoney had removed most of the first string men and replaced them with aspiring substitutes.

At the start of the contest, the Arlington team exhibited commendable speed and strength while the playing of the home team was wonderfully loose and apparently most of the shifts were gotten up quickly, occasioned by the pressing demands of a fumble or other emergency.

The first period was a confusion of punting and forward passes as each team seemed eager to keep the ball as far as possible from its own goal. Cawley as usual furnished some spectacular playing in his running back of the ball after a kick and each time after the dust of the tackle and fall had cleared away, the pigskin would be found very near the point where it was booted.

The visitors made up in energy and spirit whatever other essentials of the game they may have lacked and the spectators appreciated the pluck and good sportsmanship which they evidenced. Again they received a further setback early in the game when Currier, one of their star men had to be removed because of an injury to his ankle. Yet in the face of such disheartening occurrences, they fought gamely to the end and before leaving Coach McCarthy of Arlington had words of high praise for the conduct of the Lowell team on the field.

One of the principal features, which should in all justice be remarked on, not of Saturday's game alone but in regard to all of the contests thus far played, is the constant good natured aspect and sportsmanlike conduct of the Lowell High boys toward their opponents. Not only is the too prevalent spirit of ill temper in a crisis an absent quantity in the case of the local team, but the players appear in smiling good humor as though they appreciated the true spirit of the game as one of fun and friendly rivalry only and not a matter of life and death. For instance Capt. Cawley, after a hard tackle had thrown him with a crash to the ground on one occasion, arose smiling, patted the tackler on the back in a characteristic friendly way and stepped back to his position. It was the same when he failed to make a forward pass complete, he tried again and again with luck against him and never lost his grin when the ball went to the opposing side. It is such a spirit as this that pleases the spectators at a game most, and a good humored team will put them in good humor, too.

Brunelle went over for the first tally in the second period after a steady advance up the field by the locals, and Carter as usual was there with the kick to add one more point to the score. Bailey was the principal in the second touchdown, carrying the ball over in a line play in the same period and again Carter kicked the goal.

In the second half of the game Lowell high was up to its old-time form and swept the field with Arlington, all the local backs giving fine exhibitions of fast play. Cawley got the third and last touchdown in the third quarter on a line plunge and after the third caused by Carter's shoe striking the pigskin, the latter had three goals from touchdowns to his credit.

Lowell was superior in most every department, while Arlington evidenced a snap and vigor to her plays that the home team could copy with advantage. Cawley's punting was a feature, as was the work of Quarterback Snyder. For Arlington the most prominent men were Currier, Bower and Cousins.

TEXTILE TEAM BEATEN

Technology Won By a Score of 19 to 0

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology eleven defeated the Textile eleven at the campus Saturday afternoon. The game was a fairly interesting one although a little one sided. O'Brien was the star for the Boston team scored three touchdowns and kicked the goal, the only one of the game. O'Brien is an unusually good player and he is very fast on his feet. He received most of his football training at Phillips Exeter academy where he played on the school team. Only for the work of O'Brien the score would have been entirely different as he was the principle factor of the game.

The Textile players play well individually but they lack team work and do not play together. Several fairly good players are on the team, but the work of Goodell was the most conspicuous. He is one of the halfbacks and although about the lightest man on the team, he is the one who plunges the line the hardest. Time and again he was given the ball on the second and third down and he would break through the line for five or ten yards.

In the first quarter of the game O'Brien made a 40-yard run around the right end and scored a touchdown for Boston. No more scoring was made during this period, the ball remaining in the centre of the field. During the second quarter it looked as though Boston would again score as they went a-down the field very rapidly. When within ten yards of the goal O'Brien secured the ball and crossed the goal line again, but the whistle had blown before the play was in progress so Boston was not credited with the touchdown. In the third period O'Brien again scored for Boston and he also scored again in the last period. When time was called the ball was in the centre of the field. The final score was M. I. T. 19, Textile 0.

Something must be said of the excellent work of Neeson, the referee. He has officiated at several of the High school games. His judgment and decisions showed fairness to the players and a complete knowledge of the rules. Summary:

NOVEL PLAY IN BASEBALL

Player With a Cork Leg Establishes Precedent

CAMPFIELD, Col., Nov. 4.—The last baseball game of the season here broke up in a row in the ninth inning as a result of a decision on the part of Umpire Jerry Carter, who claims he stuck by the rule book because there was no other way to decide.

Because one side was shy a man, Albert Billings, who wears a cork leg, took part in the game. In the last half of the ninth inning, while the score was tied and Billings was on third base, a short infield hit was made. Billings started for home and the ball was fielded perfectly. Determined to reach the plate before the ball, Billings kicked off his cork leg, which shot ahead and touched home plate before the catcher received the ball. Billings hopped in and was tagged by the catcher.

Billings' team claimed the run because his fake foot touched the plate before the catcher had the ball. The opposing team claimed that the runner was out because he was tagged before he reached home.

The umpire, after consulting the book of rules, claimed that there was no precedent for the situation and he was compelled to allow the run. A general wrangle ensued and it finally was decided to leave the question to the sporting editor of a local paper. He also is looking for a precedent.

THE PASSE-TEMPS CLUB

Entertained Many Gues's at Their Camp

Over 125 people were guests of the Passe-Temps club at their camp on the banks of Crystal lake yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the closing of the camping season of the club, and the event consisted of a roast pig dinner, followed by speeches.

The repast which was enjoyed by all present was served in the well appointed camp and proved very successful. At the close of the meal Toastmaster J. E. Bellemare called to order. Other speakers were J. Z. Chouinard, Horace Lefebvre and George E. Poirier.

In the latter part of the afternoon the jolly crowd was visited by Humphrey O'Sullivan, who was given a fine reception. He was triumphantly carried around the camp and then was asked for a few remarks, speaking in part as follows: "My friends, if you are in need of business advice come to me, for there is no man I take off my hat to in business, and in coming to me you may be sure that Humphrey will receive you in a cordial manner. Now, as I am not able to stay with you very long, having other pressing engagements on hand, I will go straight to the object of my visit. One important question will come before you Tuesday, and that is to send a man to congress. Now I ask of you to send me there and I will prove efficient, for no one can say I have not been on the level with any man in any business transaction. I offer you my word now that I don't go to Washington for self purposes nor for salary, and I promise you when there I will do all I can for you and your people. I have taken the banner of democracy, which is that wanted by the people, and I am in the fight for the people of the district. There is no corporation behind me and they cannot put me on the black list because I am independent. I appeal to men of all political creeds and if you want an honest man in congress for the following two years make your cross next to the name of Humphrey O'Sullivan on Tuesday."

Mr. George E. Poirier, a popular young man of this city, also made a few remarks in favor of Mr. O'Sullivan's caididacy, and his words were well received.

The officers of the club are: Hercule A. Toupin, president; J. J. E. Bellemare, vice president; J. Z. Chouinard, corresponding secretary; Horace Lefebvre, financial secretary; Thomas Rochette, treasurer.

The committee in charge of the banquet was as follows: Philias Rochette, Ernest Claveau and Thomas Rochette.

Coach Stagg of Chicago Has Discovered New Backfield Wonder

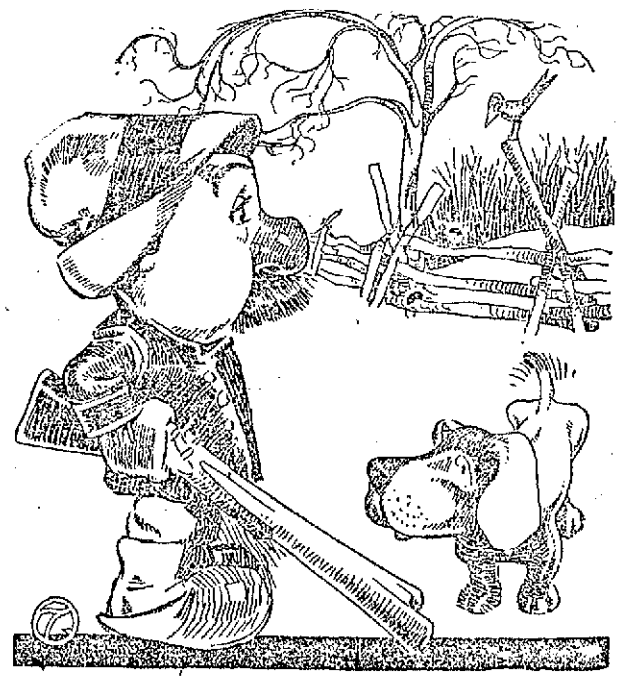

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Coach Alonzo Stagg of the Chicago university football team has his eleven in fine fettle for the big games on the schedule. The Maroons' adviser was delighted with the showing the team made against Purdue recently and has made many changes. Fitzpatrick, a second string man, has been placed at halfback and is expected to shine. He has been doing sensationally good work in practice. He is a hard runner and an aggressive tackler.

Coach Yost and His Michigan Pigskin Warriors Ready for Battle With Pennsylvania and Cornell

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 4.—Coach "Hurry Up" Yost and Michigan football warriors are now ready to make things interesting for Pennsylvania and Cornell, the two big games on the Wolverenes' schedule. Michigan tackles the Quakers on Franklin field, Philadelphia, Nov. 9 and Cornell at Ann Arbor Nov. 16. Since the defeat by Syracuse Yost has made many changes in the lineup, and he now believes the Wolverenes are strong enough to defeat both Penn and Cornell. Pontius is back in tackle position. There is no gainsaying the fact that he is needed there, and it is also a well known fact that he is good at this position. Paterson, who has been laid up, is back in center. His return will strengthen the line considerably. Coles will be kept at one tackle position. According to reports, Torbet played well at the other extremity, and there will be additional interest in the end fight because of the fact that Tessin will also receive a thorough workout there this week too. In regard to the Syracuse game very little is being said by those who made the trip. As near as can be ascertained there has never been a better exhibition of a team demoralized than was seen at the Orange stadium recently. The list of available players was cut down so there was little or no offense left, and Syracuse after she saw a possible chance for victory pushed the Wolverenes all over the field on defense. Coach Yost says there is no use crying over spilled milk because there remains much to be done if Cornell and Pennsylvania are to be beaten this fall.

BRYAN SEES DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS

He Says That Governor Wilson is the Only Hope of the Nation and Predicts His Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—William Jennings Bryan has issued the following statement:

To the People of the United States:—

On the eve of another presidential election, with the day for choosing a successor to President Taft but one day distant, I find the outlook for democratic success bright, indeed. In no state that I have visited have I found any indication that the electoral vote will be given to either Taft or Roosevelt. Democratic success seems as absolutely certain as anything human can be. Everywhere hope is ascendant and the very air seems surcharged with the spirit of approaching victory. Of all presidential years within the past score, this seems essentially to be democracy's year, and the only danger of falling short in this respect lies in overconfidence. During the remaining days of the campaign every democrat should be on his mettle and should work with renewed energy and enthusiasm for the success of the ticket—national, state and congressional.

While we have had a great deal to overcome, our cause seems to have made such amazing progress as to furnish substantial ground upon which to build a logical hope of triumph all along the line. From exhaustive inquiries and personal observations I am absolutely convinced that the voters are weary of republican misrule and party strife and are only awaiting the chance to institute a new and better order of things politically.

It is not strange that the voters of the country should turn from President Taft and condemn his failure to lead the people's fight for reform. But it is strange that anyone who opposes Taft should turn to Roosevelt for relief. Colonel Roosevelt had twice as long in which to secure reforms as Taft had and now he asks a third term (and we do not know how many more he wants) in which to do what he could have done when he was president. After giving us Mr. Taft and one thing, and that is the election of Gov. Wilson to the presidency on the 5th of November, and the utter rout of Wall street and the Big Interests.

And when the news comes that Wilson is the choice of the voters—as come, I believe, it surely will—I can picture how happy that noble man and his wife will be in their New Jersey home. But out in Nebraska there will also be another man and his wife equally as happy, for it will mean to us the consummation of 16 years of struggling and fighting for a principle—a great cause—and the victory will be just as sweet as if it were myself instead of Gov. Wilson who had been elected to the highest office within the gift of the American people.

This is my message to the people of the United States—a message of hope on the eve of victory.

Yours for a Triumphant Democracy,
William Jennings Bryan.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Was Tendered Miss Anna Riley Who is to Leave for Boston—Excellent Program Given

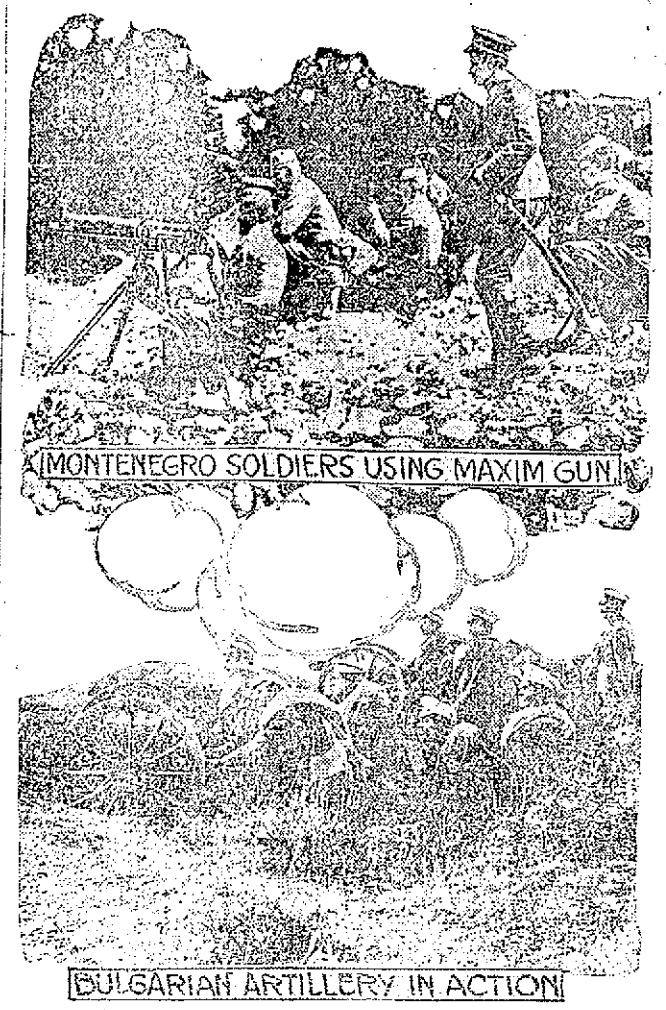

A farewell reception was tendered Miss Anna Riley, who is about to leave Lowell, to take up manicuring and hairdressing in Boston, by a few of her friends Friday night, at the home of Miss Ella Mulligan in Burns street.

Miss Katherine Masterson in behalf of those assembled presented Miss Riley a beautiful opal ring, with their best wishes for success in her new undertaking. Although taken by surprise, Miss Riley responded in a fitting manner, thanking all and assuring them that she will never forget their thoughtful consideration. During the evening there were vocal selections by Misses Anna Kelley and Ethel Geary, who rendered "Writing for the Robert E. Lee;" Sadie Kenny and Anna O'Loughlin sang "My Baby" in a pleasing way and responded to an encore; Misses Margaret Maloney and Genevieve Riley, who have very sweet soprano voices, sang "In the Shadows" and were loudly applauded. Miss Alice Kenny, who is quite a monologue artist, made a decided hit. There were readings by Misses Susie McGin, Katherine McArdle and Anna Donoghue, who also gave quite an exhibition of emotional acting in one act taken from "The Lion and the Mouse." Misses Ella Mulligan and Mary O'Day were the accompanists of the evening.

Miss Anna Sullivan gave a speech on woman suffrage which was enjoyed to the utmost. Miss Mae Masterson performed many sleight-of-hand tricks during the evening which were appreciated.

Here Are Some Soldiers Who Forced Turkey to Sue for Peace

The war in the Balkans had hardly started before it seemed to be over. Turkey was whipped at all points and in every engagement. It mattered no whether Servians, Montenegrins or Bulgarians engaged the Turks, the soldiers of the sultan were whipped. The Bulgarians and the Montenegrins had well equipped artillery and many rapid fire Maxim guns that proved to be deadly when actual fighting began.

H. O'SULLIVAN AND J. J. ROGERS

Attended Banquet for the French American Orphanage at Willow Dale

Despite the sharp breeze and the fact that the boat from Lakeview to Willow Dale was not running, over 400 people attended the grand dinner which was held yesterday afternoon at Willow Dale for the benefit of the new building now in process of construction at the French American orphanage in Pawtucket street. The repast was served in the large pavilion dining hall and the crowd was so large that over 200 people had to wait until the tables were reset.

Attired in their heavy winter garments, the guests arrived at the Dale shortly after noon in autos and carriages, while a large number made the trip on the electric cars. The great success of the event was mainly due to the organizers, Mesdames Ephrem Pelletier, Hubert Denault and Napoleon Cossette, who were ably assisted by a corps of young men and young women.

The Highland orchestra was in attendance and during the repast delighted the audience with excellent music, while the meal was followed by speeches and songs.

The piece de resistance on the menu was roast pig and be it said that the meal was deliciously prepared by Messrs. Henri L'Hereux and Sylva Charron. When all those present had satisfied their appetites, Representative Henri Achin, Jr., who had been chosen as toastmaster, rapped to order and in behalf of the organizers thanked those present for coming in such a large number. He said it had been said on many occasions that the French people could not support an orphanage, but it was proven today that this assertion is false. Continuing the speaker said: "While enjoying ourselves today we are helping a great movement. He closed by complimenting the committee in charge for the success and in behalf of the little orphans extended his thanks to all those who in any way helped the orphanage. He then called upon Mr. John Meyers for a vocal selection. Mr. Meyers rendered "The Palms," and as an encore sang "Let's Forget."

Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. I., was the next speaker and he in behalf of the orphanage thanked the women who are so zealously working for the home. He said he felt sorry Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., pastor of the parish, was not present for he felt sure the latter would be greatly pleased to set eyes upon such a large gathering.

John Jacob Rogers

The next man called upon for remarks was Mr. John Jacob Rogers, who was well received. He said he was born in the shadow of the orphanage and brought up in that district and said he was pleased when he learned that such an institution was to be started in that vicinity. He said he was pleased to note its progress and wished the institution continued success. Continuing, he said:

"I assure you there is nothing that appeals to the heart as much as those institutions, and I hope yours may prosper and extend and I feel sure it will be blessed by God for the work it is destined to do."

Humphrey O'Sullivan

The next speaker, Humphrey O'Sullivan, was introduced as a benefactor of the orphanage, and his name was received with prolonged applause. His remarks were in part as follows: "I am as you may judge very pleased to be here and also to be of assistance in building up the new orphanage. The establishment of such an institution is a source of great pleasure to me, for I was formerly a member of the St. Vincent de Paul society, an organization whose purpose was to care for the needy children and old people. In the lifetime of the lamented Fr. Campeau I had an interview with him and when I was told he intended to establish the French American orphanage I was so pleased I told him if ever wealth favored me I would help him and also that I would leave a provision in my will, and I am pleased today to say that I have already done this, and half of the promised amount is provided in it and the other half I have already started to give and I intend to give before the end comes. We have another orphanage in this city, and I will take care of it to the line.

"I am pleased to see such a gathering, and hope all will succeed in your enterprises and if ever I can be of any assistance to you, call upon me and you will find in Humphrey O'Sullivan a friend of the French people and of the little ones." These brief remarks were warmly received, and the speaker was given a real ovation and three cheers as he sat down. Representative Victor J. Jewett also addressed the assembly.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Collette, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Labine, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Laforme and Mr. Joseph L. Lussier, all of Nashua.

The following women helped materially in bringing about the success: Mrs. J. A. Perron, Mrs. Lemire, Mrs. Jeffrey Cossette, Mrs. Lefebvre, Mrs. Bourdon, Mrs. J. B. Morin and several others contributed to the event. A delegation from the Garde d'Honneur under the direction of Capt. Joseph L. Lamoureaux acted as ushers. The delegation was as follows: Capt. Joseph L. Lamoureux, First Lieut. Emile Bordeleau, Second Lieut. Louis St. Jean, First Sergt. Eugene Beaulieu and Third Sergt. Elie Belley.

The following young men, although pressed into service, acted as emergency waiters as though they were veterans at the business: Messrs. Ernest and Dan Lemire, James Gregoire, Albert Guilbeault, Arthur Cote, Philip Morin, Arthur Ribeault, J. A. W. Vincent, Arthur Chandonnet and Ovila Cyr.

SOUTH END CLUB

Young Men Tendered a Reception to Humphrey O'Sullivan at Lincoln Hall Yesterday Afternoon

The Lowell South End club, an organization of 150 young men, with cosy apartments in Lincoln hall building, gave a reception to Humphrey O'Sullivan and his staff of speakers yesterday and it was a great, big, enthusiastic affair. In another sense, it was a reunion of the boys from the south end, for James B. Casey, Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., and James T. Miskella, all at home in that district, were there as special guests, and they received a great ovation. Major Robert J. Crowley and William F. Curtin, Esq., were also present.

President Thos. H. Donoghue called to order at 3 o'clock, and in a few well-chosen words introduced J. Joseph O'Connor, Esq., as chairman. Lawyer O'Connor spoke at length in an interesting manner, taking up the tariff in a plain, matter-of-fact style, and bringing out several good points. He advocated the election of the democratic ticket, and made an earnest plea for the election of Humphrey O'Sullivan.

Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., was particularly eloquent in referring to the south end, the tender memories he has of his boyhood there, the clean, sportsmanlike qualities that always prevailed among the young men, the willingness to fight for one another, in any contest. Others who made brief addresses were James B. Casey, James F. Miskella and Robert J. Crowley. Humphrey O'Sullivan got a cordial reception on his arrival and in a few words thanked the members for their expressions of friendship.

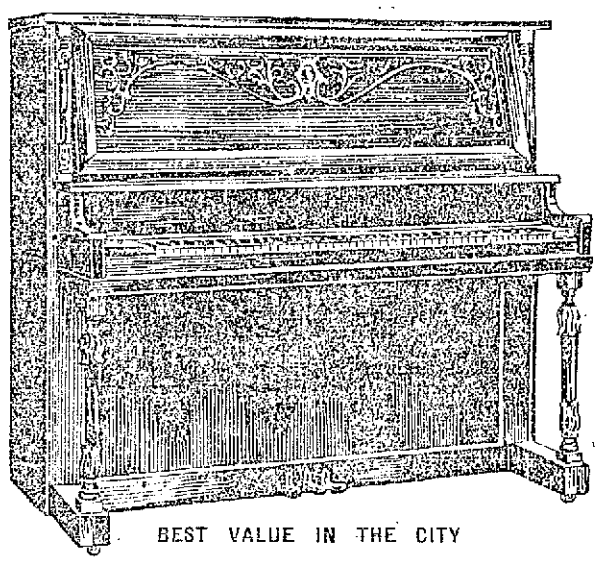

Butler Vets

The Butler Vets held a social at their quarters in Fletcher street yesterday afternoon, and their guest of honor was Humphrey O'Sullivan, candidate for congress. Dinner was served and an entertainment program was provided. The O'Sullivan party arrived shortly after 3 o'clock and they were received with cheers and applause. James H. Walker made a speech of welcome to Mr. O'Sullivan, who replied briefly, saying: "My friends, I just dropped in to shake hands and also to tell you I am in the congressional fight." He got a most cordial welcome.

Bunting Club

The members of the Bunting club held an informal entertainment yesterday afternoon. There was a large number present and they spent several hours in listening to good vocal selections. Humphrey O'Sullivan was present and he was given a rousing reception by his fellow members.

Dick Galloway acted as chairman of the entertainment committee and he called upon Mr. John Meyers for a selection, and before John got through he had completed the third song and given one recitation. Others who sang were Charles Hearst, John Whelton and Guy Whitaker, while Joseph Ellis of North Billerica, with his sonorous bass voice, recited in a delightful manner "Independence," which was followed by "The Class of Men Who Made America What It Is."

No matter where you live, no matter what kind of a piano you want, the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms will sell it to you. It's over seven years now since the arrogant Piano Trust told us that we must not cut the prices on their instruments. If we disobeyed the order of the Trust it would put us out of business. The fight is still on and we are still selling the best Trust pianos, now, lower—must lower—than ever before.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PIANO DEALERS! No pianos will be sold to dealers or makers for a less price than marked for public sale. MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, when Mr. Russell M. Fox and Miss Minnie B. Cailleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cailleman, were united in marriage at the bride's home, 15 Ivy street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. T. Carlyon, pastor of the Centralville Methodist Episcopal church.

Miss Jessie M. Cailleman, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. E. Roswell Wirt acted as best man. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Lena Lucy.

The wedding was a very pretty ceremony, and it was performed in the presence of only a few relatives and intimate friends on account of the serious illness of the bride's mother. Mr. Fox is the organist and choir director of the Centralville Methodist Episcopal church, and his wife was the contralto soloist of the choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox left on the 5 o'clock train for New York city, where they will spend their honeymoon.

FRAZER—ALBERT

A pretty marriage was solemnized this morning at St. Jean Baptiste church, when Mr. Alfred Frazer and Miss Aurore Albert, two popular young people of this city were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Charles Paquette, O. M. I. The young couple were attended by Mr. J. Grondine and Miss Rose Albert, the latter a sister of the bride, who acted as best man and bridesmaid respectively. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Albert, 179 Salem street, where a sumptuous dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Frazer who were the recipients of many costly gifts left at noon for New York, where they will spend their honeymoon.

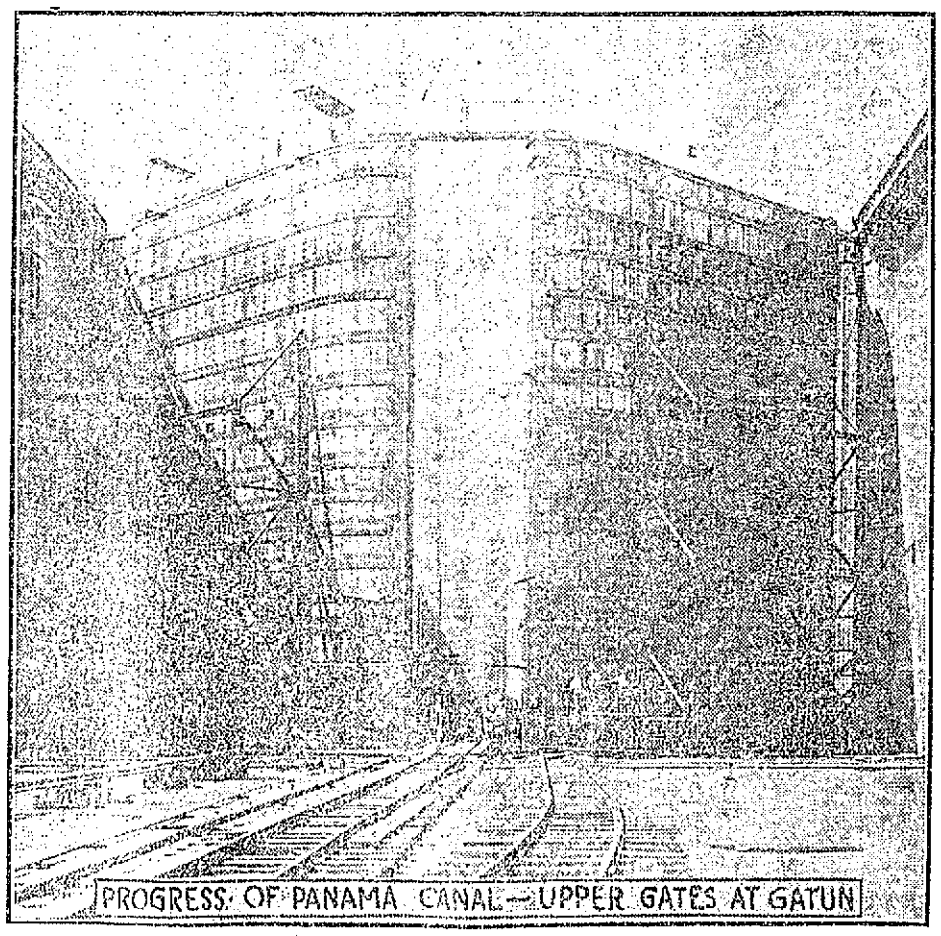

ST. ANNE'S VESTED CHOIR

Rendered Cantata, "The Holy City"

Gaul's sacred cantata, "The Holy City," was sung by the vested choir of St. Anne's church Sunday night at 7 o'clock. Rev. Samuel H. Jobe was in charge of the service. Rev. Mr. Jobe is the new rector of St. Luke's mission and is the assistant pastor of St. Anne's church.

An immense crowd was present and many were unable to gain admittance. The choir under the direction of Mr. Charles Sladen gave a beautiful rendition of this sacred cantata. The soloists were Ercel Treson Partlone, Arthur Smith tenor, Master Alfred Fletcher soprano, and Miss Marie Sladen, contralto. The cantata was given under the direction of Mr. Charles Brown, the organist and choir master. The accompaniment on the piano and organ was excellent, Miss Alice Rogers lending the pianist.

The Dam at Gatun is Almost Completed And Soon the Water Will Be Turned in

This picture of the upper gates to the lock at Gatun on the Panama canal is probably the last that will be made showing this view, as the water is soon to be turned in. The gates are practically completed. The lower gates can be seen through the opening in the upper gates. The water now stands in Gatun lake at about two-thirds the height of the gates. It is understood that the spillway will soon be opened, and the water will be held at its present height until about time for the canal to be opened to traffic.

GENERAL STRENGTH

OF THE MARKET WAS SHOWN IN THE FINAL HOUR

There Was Particular Improvement In Lehigh Valley and the Hill Stocks—Early Losses Were Quite Generally Replaced By Moderate Gains—Other Features of the Trading

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Aside from the Hill issues all the leading stocks opened lower today. Canadian Pacific was down a point with fractional losses for St. Paul, Southern Pacific, Steel and Amalgamated. Trading was extremely light, with all indications of a dull day.

Prices were practically stationary throughout the first hour on a minimum of business except C. P., which added to its initial loss.

Stocks were exceedingly dull and decidedly weak in the early part of today's session. The Balkan complications caused further uneasiness abroad and the eve of the presidential election was largely responsible for the apathy shown here. Canadian Pacific was weakest of the Standard railways with moderate firmness in St. Paul and Hill issues.

St. Paul advanced two points and the balance of the list also strengthened in the noon hour. Trading, however, continued nominal.

Further improvement was noted in the later trading, Hill stocks adding to their early gains with moderate activity in Union Pacific and Steel at better prices.

The market closed firm. General strength was shown in the final hour, with particular improvement in Lehigh Valley and the Hill stocks. Early losses were quite generally replaced by moderate gains.

BOSTON MARKET

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—The continued activity and strength in Pond Creek Coal was the feature of the early Boston market today. Copper shares were steady with the volume of trading small.

DETECTIVES AT WORK

To See if There Are Any Cases of Illegal Registration in Indiana—Detectives at Work

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—The ferreting out of more cases of alleged illegal registration and the perfecting of more plans to get out the entire vote of the state tomorrow was the order in the camps of the three political parties in Indiana today. It is believed operatives of a Chicago detective agency have been at work in most of the principal towns of the state for several days.

ANDREW MOLLOY

Severed His Connection With Tremont & Suffolk And Was Presented Purse Of Gold

Mr. Andrew Molloy, for many years overseer of the dress and spool rooms of the Tremont and Suffolk has severed his connection with that company, his resignation taking effect last Saturday. At the completion of the week's work, Saturday evening, while Mr. Molloy was at his home in Riverside street, his former employes unexpectedly called and after taking possession of the house, presented their former overseer a large purse of gold. The speaker told of the many good qualities of the retiring overseer, and how he will be missed by all who labored under him, but that all were glad to learn that he was to accept a more lucrative position. Mr. Molloy, though overcome at the excellent gift, said that while he had accepted a better offer he greatly regretted to discontinue his duties at the Tremont and Suffolk mills. He said that he enjoyed his long stay there and will ever remember the many favors that his former employes had tendered him. He thanked those present for the purse of gold and assured them that while engaged in other duties he will ever remember the employes of the dress and spool rooms of the Tremont and Suffolk mills. He invited his friends to make themselves at home, and this they did and during the remainder of the evening, all assisted in providing a very entertaining program of song and story.

GREAT DEMOCRATIC RALLY

your condition and if you don't vote the democratic ticket you will continue to carry your burden.

"We are going to elect Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey president and then we are going right down along the line and elect a democratic governor and lieutenant governor, democratic congressman, democratic councilor and, to make a long story short, we are going to make it a great big democratic victory from top to bottom.

"It is very important that you should elect a democrat to congress. Unless Gov. Wilson has a democratic congress behind him he will not be able to carry out the big reforms that he intends to carry out. I feel that I can represent you in congress better than you have ever been represented there. I am not the creature of any trust and when I go to congress I will have no interests other than those of the people to serve. I am not going to profit anything personally by going to congress, but I think the opportunity is open to me to assist you and that is why I want to go to congress.

Drove Butcher Cart

"I want the laboring man to know that I am his friends. I belong to organized labor and am a member of the Typographical union. I am a son of toil and I know the burdens you have to bear. I know the home story of the workingman, and I want to put more sunshine into that story. I want to oust the worried look and replace it with a smile and I want to make it possible or to assist in making it possible for the poor man to have a little more of the good things of life.

"I have said that I sprang from the ranks of labor and I meant just what I said. I am the fellow who worked at the bench and in the store; the fellow who swept the sidewalks and drove a butcher cart and if I am the kind of a man who wants to represent you in congress it is up to you to vote for me on Tuesday. I did not have anyone to blaze the road to success for me. I had to hoe my own row and I hoed it cheerfully and with the thought always uppermost in my mind that some day I would reach the top. I got there all right and my experience in getting here is the very thing that made me your sympathizer. It cemented a friendship between Humphrey O'Sullivan and the laboring man that will last as long as O'Sullivan lasts and before it is too late I want to do something substantial for you. There is just one way that I can do it. There is just one avenue open to the fulfillment of my desire to assist you and that avenue leads to the ballot box. The election will be next Tuesday and if you want a friend to represent you in congress, vote for Humphrey O'Sullivan."

Mr. Rogers at City Hall

John Jacob Rogers addressed a gathering from the city hall steps Saturday night at nine o'clock and he began and ended his speech with an attack on Humphrey O'Sullivan, many times calling the attention of his hearers to "that building across the street." John Y. Myers introduced Mr. Rogers as the next congressman from the fifth district and the latter said in part:

My friends of the city of Lowell; I have been waiting for the past few weeks and fighting as energetically as I knew how and I will continue to fight until the polls close on next Tuesday. I want you to look at that building across the street, and look at the man in it. He was here a few minutes ago and he spoke to you of the industry he had built from a little shoe store but he did not mention the Associate building. I propose to tell you about that. The speaker repeated the charges he had made during the week in his speech and advertisements and made others charging Mr. O'Sullivan with being unfair to labor, unfair to Lowell. He said he employed boys to pack his rubber heels at wages of from four to five dollars a week and had circulers printed in Boston. The crowd that heard Mr. Rogers was much smaller than that which listened to Mr. O'Sullivan, but it cheered at the call of Mr. Myers.

The Polish Club

At 7.30 o'clock last evening Humphrey O'Sullivan was the guest of honor at the Polish club in Coburn street and was well received. There were about 200 members present and when the congressional candidate entered the hall he was given an ovation. President Antheny Paprowicz occupied the chair and he introduced John C. King as chairman of the assembly. Mr. O'Sullivan spoke briefly, declaring himself the friend of the laboring man. He told how he had climbed the ladder of success from driving a butcher cart and selling type, but he did it not by cheating labor, but by paying labor high wages in selling advertisements. The boys he employed in his business to pack rubber heels were well paid for the time given to the business despite the statements of Mr. Rogers to the contrary.

Maritime Province Club

The Maritime Province club in Princeton street held open house yesterday afternoon and in the latter part of the day was visited by Humphrey O'Sullivan, who spoke to them for nearly a half hour. Mr. O'Sullivan's remarks were well received and three cheers were given in his honor when he left the place

North Billerica Rally

There will be an O'Sullivan rally in Union hall, North Billerica, tonight. The speakers will be Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., and Hon. James B. Casey.

REDUCED FARES

Provided For Pupils of the Evening Schools, According to City Solicitor's Opinion

City Solicitor Hennessy, in an opinion submitted to the superintendent of schools today, says that evening school pupils and industrial school pupils are entitled to reduced transportation fares on the street railway. The superintendent of schools requested an opinion in the matter. Mr. Hennessy, in his opinion, states that the law, originally, cut officers, did not include or intend that evening school pupils should have the right to enjoy the privilege of reduced fare, but by legislative enactment pursuant to chapter 530, of the Acts of 1908, evening school pupils were entitled to the reduced fares, and by an act of 1910, chapter 667, the law was so amended that industrial day or evening school pupils were included.

The Dracut range house was broken into last night or Saturday night and several articles were stolen, including axes, shovels, etc. The matter was reported to Commissioner Cummings today and he has reported it to the Dra-

OUR MESSAGE

TO THE MEN AND WOMEN OF MASSACHUSETTS—

I am not writing this message for myself. If I were the only one interested, it would never have been written. But I am heart and soul in a cause, and that cause shall have all the assistance I can give it.

Representing that cause—the cause of the people—I have talked to many voters, and yet there are many men I have not reached to tell of the principles and the definite measures for which, in Nation and State, the Progressive Party and its candidates stand.

A considerable part of the newspapers have refused to print our speeches, and many of them distort our purposes. Therefore I will tell you here what my position is, and what I want to accomplish.

When I went into the Progressive movement nine months ago, I never believed that, under any circumstances, I would be a candidate for any office. I enlisted upon the understanding that I would not be asked to do more than lend my name, my influence, my energy and my money to the cause; and yet I am the Progressive candidate for Governor.

Well, what could I do? It was represented to me by earnest and sincere men and women that it was my duty to serve, and finally I became convinced that to refuse would prove me recreant to the Progressive cause—a coward on the firing line.

Before and since then I have given money to the campaign outside of Massachusetts, and I have worked as a soldier in the ranks of this Commonwealth, and given all to this State campaign which I may legally give, and yet there is no wish in me to make this secret on the one hand or take any credit for it on the other. It was my plain duty in a battle not for any ordinary political issue, but for the right against wrong.

I believe the two old parties are controlled by the same kind of bosses. The great mass of people cannot hope for more progressive legislation from the Democratic party than they have got from the Republican party. I believe Mr. Wilson will be as helpless as Mr. Taft has been weak.

I welcome our Progressive party because it is pledged in its platform to do for the human family specific things which the old parties ignore. President Eliot says the tariff is the main issue today; Governor Wilson says the trust question is the issue; Governor Foss says the railroad situation is the most important; Mr. Walker does not seem to have found an issue. I admit the great importance of each of these issues with the exception of Mr. Walker's; and our Progressive platform and leaders deal with each in definite, statesmanlike fashion. But if these were the only or the main issues, I would not be a candidate for Governor of the Commonwealth. I do not agree with these gentlemen. They do not correctly understand what the people want and need.

I think I know what the people want and need. They want their government returned to them.

They need an administration which has a human heart.

The people want, for instance: A law to establish the Initiative and Referendum, whereby the will of the people may be established by a direct vote of the people when our representatives refuse to carry out our wants.

The people need laws to deal justly and rightly with fundamental human rights—the right of everyone to a life rather than an existence.

Our platform stands, and I personally stand, for:

1. A law to abolish child labor. Thousands of girls and boys under twelve years of age are being ruined in our factories in many States of the country, and this must be stopped if we are to maintain a strong race of men and women.

2. A minimum wage for women. Thousands of women in Massachusetts are working for less than four dollars per week, and that is below a living wage and must and can be stopped by law if we are going to protect the honor of our women—if we are to care for the unborn as well as those living.

3. One day's rest in seven. Thousands of men are obliged to work seven days in seven, week in and week out, in Massachusetts, and that is intolerable and must be stopped.

4. Old Age Pensions. We ought to protect, by a form of social insurance in which the State takes part, old men who if poor have no place in Massachusetts to go to except the poor house.

5. In factories which operate twenty-four hours continuously night and day, such as paper mills, we want to compel employers in such factories to give their workers an eight-hour day rather than a twelve-hour day, a forty-eight hour week, rather than a seventy-two-hour week, as now prevails in those mills.

It is difficult to understand why these planks do not interest my opponents—Mr. Walker and Governor Foss. They certainly affect vitally the life and welfare of every one, directly or indirectly, in this Commonwealth; we must make this State and country a better place for the poorest man and woman if we expect to have it a safe place for the richest man or woman.

Unless we take hold of these human problems in a human way—work them out along the line the other great countries have found to be successful—we shall soon face a social revolution more serious than most of us dream of.

I have been close to the men and women who work. I have achieved some success in building up my business. But I have not lost my heart in the process. More and more, as time goes on, I feel that business success may be achieved without forgetting the toiler at the bottom.

The State, too, must do its share to protect the weak from the greed of the men who recognize nothing save the acquisition of wealth. Our Progressive party platform recognizes this, and that is why I am enlisted in this cause, which I believe to be a real fight to help those who need help.

The result tomorrow will show that the Progressive party will be a permanent one, because pledged for human betterment.

I have made the best fight for that cause that I am capable of making. I have had a somewhat successful business life in dealing with men and money, and most men will believe that this fits me as well to be your Governor as though I had been in politics for 20 years.

WHAT INSPIRES BUSINESS CONFIDENCE?

Despite the calamity howl of republican candidates and the prediction that a democratic victory will bring idleness and soup kitchens; the country looks to the democratic party for relief from the incubus of republican rule, the republican trusts and republican monopolies that rob the masses. The prospect of a democratic victory inspires the people with the hope of relief all over this country today, and this is the only explanation of the great confidence that prevails in business circles on the eve of a presidential election. Already the election of Governor Wilson is conceded by some of the leading republican papers of the country.

THE COST OF LIVING

Candidate Rogers throughout this campaign has persistently quoted Mr. Hearst as saying that the cost of living is greater in England than in this country. If Mr. Hearst said so, he said what is not true, and the other statement credited to him that wages are from 40 to 50 per cent. lower in England than in this country shows that the cost of living must also be lower because if it were not the people could not live at all. Imagine how people could support themselves in this country if wages were cut down one-half. It is an undeniable fact that American beef is sold in London at from 10 to 25 per cent. lower than in this country, and this is due to the high tariff, which enables the beef trusts to swindle the American consumer. What the beef trust does with its product other trusts are doing with theirs so that even the United States government has had to let some of its contracts to foreigners in order to overcome the extortion of the steel trust.

DEMOCRATS VOTE THE STRAIGHT TICKET

Although under our new charter the party designations have been dropped, and the vote is cast for candidates without reference to their political affiliations, such is not the case in this election. This campaign is one of principles and policies as represented by the various parties. Wilson and Marshall, the democratic nominees for president and vice-president, are statesmen and orators of whom the nation may well feel proud, but yet the principles involved are of much greater importance because they affect the interests of the whole nation and of all the people. The men may die but the principles will live.

The principles set forth in the democratic platform, if properly applied in the government of the nation for the next four years, will bring stability, prosperity and justice to all of the people, whereas a continuance of republican rule can only intensify the present discontent that prevails among the people.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that every democrat in Lowell and the fifth congressional district will vote loyally for his party so as to render all assistance in obtaining an overwhelming victory for the democratic party.

TO PREVENT PANIC OR WORSE

Republican candidates are quoting Gov. Wilson's description of the panic which started under the republican administration in 1891, and continued until 1893 and 1894. Nobody denies that the panic was severe, but democrats do deny that it was a democratic panic. The republican party in that case had brought the country to a crisis by mismanagement, and the effect of their maladministration was felt after the democrats assumed control of the government.

Governor Wilson today is the man of destiny, who will set up the rule of justice and right in such matters as the tariff, the regulation of the trusts and the prevention of monopoly. The only thing today that will prevent a panic, or what is worse a revolution, is the overthrow of the republican party, and the election of Governor Wilson, and a democratic congress to control the business of this country for the next four years, or longer. The republican calamity howlers should tell of the conditions in 1907, when there was a severe panic which they cannot by any stretch of imagination lay at the doors of the democratic party which had been out of power for over ten years. The democratic party will have to change the tariff policy so as to restore domestic competition and just enough foreign competition to prevent trusts from swindling the people.

TURKEY VANQUISHED

Every friend of humanity must rejoice at the triumphant victories won by the Balkan allies over the forces of the Ottoman empire. Gen. Savoff of the Bulgarian army has made a record for military genius unexcelled by that of any other military commander in Europe. Had Germany, Russia or even England attacked the Ottoman empire not one of them could have accomplished its overthrow in such a short time as did the Bulgarian army, aided of course by the other allies; but the force of the Bulgarian attack was that which accomplished the overwhelming defeat of the Turkish army after a great battle which continued incessantly for four days and nights. The great powers of Europe are amazed at the swiftness with which the might of Turkey has been crushed. The powers will now naturally be inclined to intervene, but we surmise that the Balkan allies will insist upon making their own terms and upon driving the Turk from Europe. Constantinople is now at their mercy, and nothing is left for Turkey but to sue for peace or beg for mercy. A new power will hereafter be considered in all the councils of war in Europe and the map of the continent will have to be changed. It is not improbable that Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro and Servia will unite permanently for their mutual protection and independence. They can defend themselves against any power in Europe. All Christendom should rejoice at the downfall of a power that has committed some of the worst atrocities perpetrated upon humanity in the history of the world.

THE SUN'S ATTITUDE MISREPRESENTED

Lowell Sun (democratic) editorial, Nov. 2, 1912: "If John Jacob Rogers were a democrat, running upon the democratic platform, we would take a great deal of pleasure in voting for him."

The only objection that the "Sun" offers to Mr. Rogers is that he is NOT A PARTISAN. And it is because he has SHOWN that he is NOT A PARTISAN that many democrats will tomorrow unite with republicans and progressives in electing as our next congressman John Jacob Rogers.

The above advertisement by John Jacob Rogers or his political managers is printed here in order to show the method by which his literary bureau distorts facts for his political purposes. We should have no objection if he had printed our entire statement as it appeared instead of garbling it as he has done. The Sun in emphasizing the fact that this is a campaign of principles and not of men, said that if Mr. Rogers were running on the democratic platform where he should be, we would take pleasure in voting for him and that if Humphrey O'Sullivan were running on the republican platform where he should not be, we would not vote for him on any consideration, implying that no man, no matter how popular he may be, should be supported in this election if he be so far deluded as to take a nomination on the republican ticket. This is the position that should be taken by every democrat in Lowell.

The advertisement states what every man in Lowell must know to be untrue when he says: "The only objection that The Sun offers to Mr. Rogers is, that he is not a partisan." We know that Mr. Rogers is a partisan but not a partisan of the right kind. He is not a democrat but a republican and in regard to his attitude to democratic reforms we may cite here what we said in an editorial on last Friday, to wit:—

"In the congressional contest, therefore, it is not the mere personality of O'Sullivan or Rogers that should be considered as of paramount importance, it is the party and the principles that each represents and these along should guide the voters in casting their ballots on election day. If the people want a congressman to stand for democratic principles and work along democratic lines for the welfare of this district, they should elect O'Sullivan; but if they want a man who will oppose democratic principles, they should elect Mr. Rogers, who will not disappoint them in this respect,

Seen and Heard

It is a great thing to be hopeful, but just being hopeful never got anybody anywhere.

Never ask for advice until you have your mind made up fully what you are going to do.

The big man in a small town might be a pretty small man in a big town, but what difference does that make to him?

The freckled boy needn't feel discouraged. There are spots even on the sun.

There is plenty of room right in the busiest part of any big city for a cemetery large enough to provide a burial place for all the men who have died from overwork.

They do tell that some of the political campaigners who have been covering the fifth congressional district in automobiles intend to write an essay on the value of guide posts.

A girl is always glad to see the postman coming, even though he may be only bringing bills for father.

As is only natural, the man who always keeps his word is cautious about giving it.

A good many old-fashioned people exclaim every now and then: "I want to know!" without taking any trouble, so far as other folks can see, to learn.

The little girl in short dresses doesn't mind if it is muddy, because it gives her an excuse for holding up her skirts.

Did you ever stop to think that the busy bee that is held up for a model loafs through half the year?

When a man tells you that he hasn't an enemy in the world, you know right away that he has never done anything worth mentioning.

Once in a very great while the man who has borrowed two dollars from you till pay day surprises you by coming in six months afterward to return it.

When Eve moved out of the Garden of Eden, did she leave everything in apple-pie order for the next tenant?

After a man has been married for six or seven years, he begins to learn that the embroidered guest towels are for ornament, not for use.

If a man has been mean to you, and you want to get even with him—although that is a most unchristian spirit—buy the little boy who lives next door to him a harmonica.

One of the poorest ways for a man to advertise for a wife is to go around with two or three buttons off his coat.

When a woman runs to catch a car,
Why, the horses have to laugh!
You've seen a woman throw a stone?
Well, it's funnier by half.
While her right she waves on high,
And she tries, as she runs, in a hopeless way,
To catch the motorman's eye.

She lollops along in a lop-sided trot,
With a wildly anxious face,
I wouldn't say what her distinction is,
But it isn't exactly grace.
And the car goes smoothly on its way
And leaves her standing there,
And she stamps her foot, and she bites her lip—
If women could only swear!

WAVERLEY LODGE NO. 104

Observed Its Thirtieth Anniversary

Waverley Lodge No. 104, Order Sons of St. George observed the thirtieth anniversary of the organization Saturday night with an old fashioned English tea party and concert, which was held in the banquet room of the Odd Fellows temple on Middlesex street. Many of the charter members as well as many guests were present. Superintendent William F. Barlow was expected to be the principal speaker but owing to illness in the family he was asked to be excused. Past President Eli Turner, the first past president and probably the oldest man in the lodge, was present and gave a talk on the early history of the lodge in this city. He read a poem which he had composed especially for the occasion.

Following the banquet a concert was given which commenced at 8 o'clock the following taking part: Violin solos, William Galloway; songs, Peter Picken; reading, Harry Leavitt. Following the entertainment a short history of the lodge was read by Past Grand President Eli Turner, as well as a poem written by him for this special occasion. The evening was enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to be present and all appreciated the efficient work of the committee in charge of the affair.

JOHN ORRELL
State Instructor of Secret Work

The Lowell lodge was organized in 1882 and the first meetings were held at the homes of the members. During the first few months of the organization it was more of a social club for the Englishmen or men of English parentage. On November 2, 1882, the lodge was formally instituted and the charter issued. For the first six months there were not any sick benefits paid by the society but as time passed on and others joined the organization, it was voted to make it a benefit order, and at the present time it is one of the strongest organizations in the Massachusetts jurisdiction. According to the last grand lodge report issued in July, Waverley lodge stands fifth in membership and third in finances.

The lodge is a sick and death benefit society and admits to membership all men of good character over eighteen years of age who can pass a physical examination and were born in England or were of English parentage.

Waverley lodge at the present time is in a very good financial condition, having about $4500 in the local banks, a burial lot in the Edson cemetery valued at $200 and lodge property valued at $250. It pays sick benefits of five dollars a week for thirteen weeks in each year and $100 on the death of a member and $35.00 to a member on the death of his wife. They also supply the services of a physician for a member during his illness. Dr. J. B. A. Johnson now doing the work.

While the membership is not growing very rapidly at the present time, still they are initiating young men to take the place of the older ones who are dropping out. The present membership of the lodge is two hundred and eight. Four have been initiated this term and four have died.

The lodge has been honored in the past by the grand lodge of Massachusetts by the election of three of its members to the presidency of the grand lodge as follows: Dr. William B. Jackson, who was the first grand president of Massachusetts; P. G. P. John Orrell and P. G. P. Samuel Holgate, Past President N. W. Matthews, Jr., was a member of the finance committee during the past year and is slated for assistant secretary during the coming year. P. G. P. Orrell is a member of the grand board of trustees and also instructor of secret work.

The officers of the lodge are: Junior past president, Harry L. Francis; vice president, John W. Andrews; chaplain, Samuel J. Burt; secretary, Fred Potter; treasurer, N. W. Matthews, Jr.; assistant secretary, John Barker; messenger, Arthur Bennett; assistant messenger, Arthur Pascall; inside sentinel, Willis H. Bowles; outside sentinel, Harold J. Hounsell; pianist, Frank L. Orrell; trustees, John Orrell, Sam Asquith and Frank Pascall.

The general committee in charge of the thirtieth anniversary is as follows: John W. Foster, chairman; John Barker, secretary; Thomas Gardiner, George Humphriss, John W. Andrews, William H. Bowles, Harold J. Hounsell, Samuel J. Burt, Arthur Bennett, Frank L. Orrell, Harry L. Francis, George H. Gale, John Orrell, N. W. Matthews, Jr., and Fred Potter.

Several sub committees have been appointed and the following are the chairmen: Tickets, John Barker; kitchen, Willis H. Bowles; speakers, Thomas Gardiner; waiters, Fred Potter; concert, Frank L. Orrell.

The Massachusetts jurisdiction of the order is at the present time the banner jurisdiction of the country, according to the latest reports which have been issued from the supreme secretary. They have passed the Pennsylvania jurisdiction which was in the lead for a long time.

Lenses Were Stolen

A clever lens thief visited Lowell on Saturday and after paying visits to several photograph studios succeeded in stealing four lenses valued at about $800. The matter was reported to the police and a careful search was made for the thief, but is is thought that he was a professional crook and after making his haul left for parts unknown.

It is said that two of the lenses were made in Germany and each was worth $300, while the other lenses were of French and English make and not as valuable.

Illegal Keeping Charged

Sergeant Duncan and Inspectors Holland and Grady of the liquor squad visited a house at 78 Fenwick street about 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and seized seven and one-half gallons of ale and five gallons of lager, in cases. The wet goods were taken to the police station and a warrant for illegal keeping of liquor was sworn out against Peter Cargas, who, it is alleged, was the owner of the liquor.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

MISDIRECTED.

Mr. Knagg—I can't see why you failed to find that place. I told you it was just a stone's throw from the corner.

Mrs. Knagg—I know you did, but I couldn't find a stone to throw, and if I had found one it wouldn't have done any good because I can't throw to save my life.

C. O. D.

Miss Gossip—They say she has a no-account husband.

Miss Gassip—Yes. He always pays cash.

WHAT'S IN A NAME.

"Ma, what's the difference between a mortician and an undertaker?"

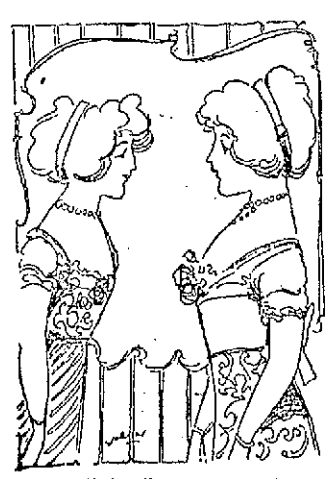

"They both do the same kind of work, son, but I am inclined to think a mortician will charge more."

HE KNEW.

Little Tommy—Say, papa, what is meant by beastly weather.

Papa—When its raining cats and dogs.

MISLEAD BY APPEARANCE.

"Your friend, Mr. Bagshaw, is married, isn't he?"

"No; he's just naturally careless and slovenly in his dress."

GETTING HIS NUMBER.

Mr. Gayland—My dear, I want you to distinctly understand that I have a very great reverence for the truth.

Mrs. Gayland—Yes, I notice you always keep a respectful distance from it.

THE "SOLID SOUTH"

Will Cast Its Usual Democratic Majority in the Presidential Election on Tuesday

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 4.—Reports from various campaign headquarters throughout the southern states today indicate that the so-called "solid south" will cast its customary democratic majority in the presidential election on Tuesday. Final appeals are being made to the democrats, progressives and republicans and a record vote everywhere is predicted.

O.M.I. CADETS TO PARADE

Will Escort Col. O'Sullivan Tonight

Every member of the O. M. I. Cadets, no matter in what section of the city he resides, is commanded by Maj. Haggerty to report at the armory, Immaculate Conception school hall, tonight. They must wear blue uniforms and will carry arms, and they will report not later than 7.30 p. m. Any cadet failing to report on time will have a mark placed against his name, which will count against his promotion when vacancies occur in the higher offices. This is an unusual occasion for the Cadets and for that reason it is especially desired that every young soldier be in line. Major Haggerty is anxious to have all his cadets in line to escort their colonel, Humphrey O'Sullivan, from the Middlesex street station to Associate hall tonight. The cadets will be headed by their own fife, drum and bugle corps, which has recently increased its numbers and expended a considerable sum of money for new instruments. The Cadets will leave their armory at 7.30 sharp and march to the Middlesex street station, where they will meet Col. O'Sullivan and escort him to the hall.

For Senator
SEVENTH MIDDLESEX DISTRICT
Alonzo G. Walsh
TO THE VOTERS—WARDS 5 AND 9

Some reasons why ALONZO G. WALSH, Candidate for State Senator, should receive the support of Lowell voters.

1st. It is the first time in the whole history of the 7th District that Lowell has had the opportunity to send a Senator.

2nd. His nomination came at the solicitation of representative citizens at a meeting held in the western part of the Senatorial District. (The District takes in Wards 5 and 9 of Lowell and extends from Ayer to the Sea.)

3rd. Mr. Walsh's career is well known to the people of Lowell as a worker in the Hamilton Mills in his personal business life, as public servant in City government, as president of the Lowell Board of Trade in his home and social relations. His life has ever been earnest and active for the good of the City and its citizens.

4th. In the consideration of measures for the public good, or his relations with his fellow citizens, the question of creed, politics or condition has never for a moment prejudiced his action.

5th. He is known to us as a man of ability, fully qualified by rare talents as a speaker, who will be fearless in pressing forward the desires of the community in any movement for its advantage or in the defense of its rights. There is nothing of shadiness in his character, he is a "good mixer," as hundreds will testify who know him and own him as a kind and true friend.

6th. He has ever been loya. to Lowell—let Lowell now be loyal to him; for this the only opportunity we have had to elect a Lowell man to represent our district in the state senate.

7th. We unhesitatingly endorse Alonzo G. Walsh and heartily recommend him to all voters (regardless of party) as the man who should be elected to the office of state senator from this seventh district, and urge you to give him your vote on Tuesday, November 5th.

The above circular is signed by about 500 endorsers from every part of the district.

WARDS 5 AND 9 COMMITTEE,

REV. J. F. M'GLINCHEY

Preached at St. Peter's Church Yesterday

Rev. John J. McHugh celebrated the high mass at 11 o'clock at St Patrick's church yesterday morning. The music was the feature of the service, the sanctuary choir especially doing commendable work. It was announced that the annual coal collection will be taken up at all the masses next Sunday.

St. Peter's

Rev. James F. McGlinchey of the cathedral in Boston preached at all the masses at St. Peter's church yesterday, speaking in the interest of the foreign missionary work. He asked help for the 65,000 Catholic missionaries who are laboring among the heathens in the cause of Christianity in China, Japan, Oceanica and other foreign lands. A special meeting of all interested in the work was called at half past three in the afternoon and it was largely attended. Many became members of the society for the propagation of the faith and offered their services as promoters.

In the afternoon the talk of Fr. McGlinchey was interesting and entertaining as well as instructive, for he narrated many interesting experiences and anecdotes of his missionary work.

St. Michael's

Rev. Fr. Mullin was the celebrant of the high mass at 10.45 o'clock yesterday morning, and a very instructive discourse on the gospel of the day was delivered by Fr. Murphy.

The Junior Holy Name society held a meeting in the basement yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and after the business session an interesting debate on the qualifications of the three presidential candidates was held. The discussion developed several strong arguments for each of the candidates. Woodrow Wilson's candidacy was supported by W. Downey and W. Maroe, while J. Garrett and T. Donnelly spoke in favor of President Taft. Theodore Roosevelt and the progressive platform were ably represented by C. Thomas and T. Groarke.

Sacred Heart Church

The members of the Knights of Equity, about 250 in all, went in a body to the 7.30 o'clock mass at the Sacred Heart church yesterday morning and received Holy Communion. Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., was the celebrant of the mass. Mr. John J. Kelly was the organist and the solo parts during the service were taken by Mr. James E. Donnelly and Mr. John McMahon.

Rev. John P. Flynn preached the sermon and he first congratulated the members of the Knights of Equity on the large attendance.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the Knights of Equity led by James E. Donnelly, sung "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name." After the mass they proceeded to the school hall of the Sacred Heart parish where a breakfast was served. A musical and literary program was rendered, including the following numbers:

Selections by Knights of Equity orchestra, under the direction of Bro. James A. Sheehan; song, Bro. James E. Donnelly; remarks, Hugh J. Molloy; song, Bro. Frank McCartin; remarks, Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I.; remarks, Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I.; remarks, Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I.; reading, Bro. James Coughlin; remarks, Bro. Redmond Welch; song, Bro. Charles A. Carey; reading, Bro. Thomas J. Beane; piano solo, Bro. Edward Flanagan; duet, Bros. J. J. Dean and Thomas Larkin; remarks, Bro. Thomas B. Delaney, S. K.

The committee on arrangements was Thomas J. Beane, Thomas B. Delaney, Frank Roche, John D. Sullivan, John J. Pinder, Thomas F. McCann, Wm. F. Daly, Leo Molloy and James A. Sheehan.

Immaculate Conception

A meeting of the Holy Rosary society was held yesterday afternoon at which the usual routine business was transacted. It was announced at all the masses yesterday that there will be a meeting of the Holy Name society on next Thursday evening in the school hall. Next Sunday is the quarterly communion day for the Y. M. C. I. and the Holy Name society. They will attend 7.30 o'clock mass in a body.

The pastor of the Immaculate Conception church has kindly offered the use of the basement to the members of the Lithuanian church which was destroyed by fire Saturday. The offer has been accepted and the Lithuanians will attend services there.

St. Columba's

The Forty Hours' devotion was begun yesterday at the high mass and will close Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The young ladies of the Tabernacle society are making elaborate preparations for their "Kermis" and dance, which will take place in Associate hall next Wednesday night and a good time is assured all who attend.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

Blanche Ring's first appearance of any prominence on Broadway was when the late A. H. Chamberlyn produced "The Defender" at the Herald Square theatre. With the singing of "In the Good Old Summer Time," the Boston girl sprang into instant popularity.

Then a few seasons later Miss Ring, a slim girl with two long braids of soft brown hair down her back, was the one saving grace in Mrs. Osborne's playhouse, tripping away with all the honors.

From that time on she appeared in leading roles with some of the best known comedians in the country, among them James T. Powers in "The Jewel of Asia," Jefferson De Angelis and Alexander Carr in "The Great White Way," Joseph Weber in a burlesque on "The Devil," Lew Fields and the late Peter Dailey in "About Town," Frank Daniels in "Sergeant Brue," Harry Conor in "Vivian's Papa," John T. Shayln in "His Honor the Mayor," Harry Kelly in "His Majesty" and Louis Harrison in "The Blonde in Black."

Several seasons ago Miss Ring scored a London success in "The Love Birds." After making a tour of the London music halls she returned to this country and appeared in Lew Field's production of "The Midnight Sons." Then came two seasons as the star of "The Yankee Girl," while this year she has a new vehicle, "The Wall Street Girl," written especially for her by Margaret Mayo and Edgar Selwyn, with lyrics by Harwood Burt and music by Karl Hoschna.

"MADAM BUTTERFLY"

The management could not have made a wiser selection than Puccini's most famous opera, "Madam Butterfly," with its continuous flow of inspired melodies and other easily recognized musical beauties, and its charming story full of dramatic intensity, pathos, romance and quaint Japanese atmosphere, which will be the offering of the Aborn English grand opera company at the Opera House on Friday, Nov. 8.

"A BUTTERFLY ON THE WHEEL"

The story unfolded in "A Butterfly on the Wheel" teaches one of the greatest lessons against divorce that has ever been told. It goes to the court-room for its most telling scene, a scene by the way which is said to be the finest reproduction of a law court ever staged. "A Butterfly On the Wheel" ran for the entire season in New York after having been played for a year in London. It was produced on this side by Lewis Waller, the English actor-manager, so that one may be assured of the artistic part of the entertainment. The first local presentation of the play will occur at the Opera House next Saturday, matinee and night.

"LITTLE BOY BLUE"

One of the most pretentious offerings of the present theatrical season is the Henry W. Savage production of the joyous operetta "Little Boy Blue" which will be the attraction at the Opera House, Nov. 12th.

"FRECKLES"

One of the earliest and most important theatrical offerings of the local season is A. G. Delamater's beautiful scenic production of "Freckles," a dramatization by Neil Twomey of Gene Stratton-Porter's widely read novel of the same title.

Merrimack Square Theatre

No better bill has been given in weeks than the one scheduled for this week at the Merrimack Square theatre. The headliner is to be The Fuji Japs, a quartet of clever equilibrists and gymnasts who perform many original and difficult tricks among which is the Slide for Life. The Merrymakers are again to be seen this week in a farce with music called "A Kiss in the Dark." Marion Kay, comedienne, with a repertoire of songs and stories will be seen to advantage and Boyde Rogers is to be the week's soloist. Then there are the pictures. Tomorrow evening the performances will be arranged to run longer in order to give the final election returns. Phone 2053.

Yesterday's Sunday concerts were greatly enjoyed by large and appreciative audiences, the program given being of fine selection. Each number was well presented, and all those who visited the theatre had a very pleasant afternoon or evening. The Sunday concerts at this theatre are a feature, and are bound to prove popular, during the cold months. The auditorium is well heated, and patrons are given every available comfort.

The Playhouse

"The Deep Purple," the weekly presentation by The Drama Players at The Playhouse (formerly Bathaway Theatre) is an offering in which the patrons of this cosy theatre should find extreme enjoyment. The piece is based on the famous New York "badger game" and is handled in a way that is sure to meet with the genuine approval of all. The play will be staged in a way with the many successes of the past in which this company has appeared. Mr. Smythe and Miss Jackson, whose work in the leading roles has earned for them an enviable reputation, will appear in characters to which they are peculiarly fitted and should experience no trouble in adding to their laurels already won. The first presentation will be given tonight and starting Tuesday afternoon matinees will be the order every day thereafter. Election returns will be announced from the stage on Tuesday night. Order your seats early and assure yourself of the best locations. Box office telephone 811.

Keith's Theatre

Bert Levy, cartoonist, will prove immensely entertaining at Keith's theatre, this week, and his efforts at entertainment will be ably seconded by Marie Lee and her seminary girls, and Henry Horton in the rural comedy, "A Woman in the House." Ollie Young and April give their refined juggling act. The Monarch Comedy Four are kings in their special line. Payne & Barrett offer a different brand of the talking and singing act, while Alice De Garma is an aerialist from the big indoor circuses of Europe. Her work cannot fail to receive its just measure of appreciation. Andrew Kelly, with the aid of Hibernian humor gives his "Casey the Lad" characterizations. Election returns will be given from the stage Tuesday evening.

PORTE ADMITS DEFEAT OF TURKS

WOOD AND MAYOR SCANLON

To Be Called to Testify for the Defense at Ettor, Giovannitti, Caruso Trial

SALEM, Nov. 4.—Today began the third week in the Lawrence textile strike murder trial and the second day for the defense of Joseph F. Ettor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, who are charged with responsibility for the killing of Anna Lopizzo, innocent victim of a street riot.

Having thoroughly outlined their plan of defense last week, counsel for the accused prepared today to call as witnesses all the members of the strike committee who were in daily touch with Ettor and Giovannitti, who are particularly charged as accessories before the fact to the murder and as active participants in a conspiracy. From these witnesses, as many of them to be Americans as the defense can summon, the attorneys seek to prove that neither Ettor nor Giovannitti advised violence or disregard for law, but that on the contrary they sought to prevent trouble and actually prevented it on several occasions. Witnesses for Caruso, whose situation in the case is unlike the others, in that he is accused of participating actually in the fatal riot, will attempt to establish an alibi for him. Among the witnesses whom the defendants' counsel plan to summon before they close their case are William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Co., Mayor Scanlon of Lawrence, Atty. Gen. Swift of Massachusetts and other officials.

Efforts of the defense to bring out the wage issue as the basis for the industrial disturbance last winter were unsuccessful. Judge Quinn excluded questions relating to the pay of textile workers on the ground that this had no bearing on the killing of the woman.

Mill workers who testified told how they were called out of the mills because their wages were less when the hours of labor were reduced by law, but none was permitted to tell the amount of his wages. Counsel for the defense had a dozen of the child mill workers brought from Lawrence to aid the case by their testimony.

Mayor Scanlon of Lawrence, who was in court, was excused from testifying until next Monday. John J. Breen, former school committeeman, who was convicted and fined for "planting" dynamite, also was in court and may be called as a witness. Another witness present summoned by the defense was John N. Cole, former speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives.

It was decided today to hold court on election day, the jurors waiving their rights to vote. As the members of the jury live so far apart Sheriff Johnson said it would be impossible to make the rounds of their homes before the polls closed unless he had a German airship.

Leopoldo Tortora, an Italian, who testified through an interpreter, gave a different version of the speech of Giovannitti on the Lawrence common, in which detectives quoted him as urging the strikers "to prowl like wild animals at night, seeking the blood of the 'scabs.'"

Tortora quoted Giovannitti's speech as follows:

"The parade is finished. Go home and play with your children and eat with your wife, for it is cold. Do not go to Canal street, because that is private property and those gentlemen over there have police and soldiers. The police have clubs and the soldiers have sharp instruments on the guns. When they see you coming they will seek your blood like savages. If you won't do as I say I will go back to New York."

TURKISH ARMIES MUST KEEP ON WITH THE STRUGGLE

It is Hoped That Powers Will Find Some Way to Use Their Good Offices—Turkish Army Said to be Rushing for Safety

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Those powers thus far consulted have responded to Turkey's appeal for their mediation in the war by declaring that they could make only proposals for peace and could not approach the Balkan nations with a request for an armistice.

Some of the governments have pointed out that Turkey's proposal for a cessation of hostilities, in other words, an armistice, would offend the Balkan victors. Other governments take the position that it would be an infringement of international law for the moment.

The war must, therefore, continue, and the Turkish armies, which the Porte has at last admitted have been beaten, must keep on with their unequal struggle against the victorious invaders.

It is hoped and believed still that the powers will soon find a formula under which they can offer their good offices. The terms of peace themselves are a matter entirely for the belligerents to settle, Bulgaria having again affirmed that no interference by outsiders will be tolerated. In this she has the whole-hearted support of her allies, who settled the political as well as the military aspect of the campaign before the war was undertaken.

The negotiations which were taking place among the powers when Turkey sprang the surprise of asking for mediation were not oversuccessful. The European governments had not even agreed upon the preliminaries for an offer of mediation. The suggestion made by France to which both Russia and England subscribed met with nothing but criticism in Austria and she, of course, was backed by Germany and Italy, the other two members of the triple alliance.

It is suggested, however, that Austria misunderstood the proposal in regard to disinterestedness which was not. It is believed in Austria, directed against the idea of economic arrangements between Austria and the Balkan league. Still, Austria's attitude has caused much uneasiness and reports that she is mobilizing continue to circulate all over Europe.

In the meanwhile the war is going on and what was left of the Turkish army after the defeat at Lule Burgas is

A GREAT DEMOCRATIC RALLY

Will be Held in Associate Hall Tonight—Parade Will Form at Middl'x St. Station

All roads will lead to Associate hall tonight and the attraction will be the big O'Sullivan rally for which arrangements were completed on Saturday. The rally will be preceded by a parade that will form at the Middlesex street station at 7.30 o'clock and proceed to the hall. The speakers will include Hon. Charles S. Hamlin; Judge N. V. Gannon of Iowa, judge of the superior court; Hon. Charles J. Martel of Boston; Judge Thomas P. Riley of Malden; Hon. B. Shaw of Boston and Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan. The rally will begin at 8 o'clock and Commissioner Andrew Barrett will preside.

Saturday Night Rallies

Messrs. Humphrey O'Sullivan and John Jacob Rogers made a whirlwind tour of the city in automobiles Saturday night and made outdoor speeches at various points. It was generally conceded that Mr. O'Sullivan drew the biggest crowds and this fact was made very plain at Tower's corner, where Mr. O'Sullivan spoke to more than a thousand people, while Mr. Rogers' audience did not number over two hundred or two hundred and fifty. Both of the candidates talked to big crowds at city hall. Mr. Rogers indulged in personalities, but Mr. O'Sullivan did not mention Mr. Rogers' name. In the beginning of the campaign Mr. O'Sullivan said he would not indulge in personalities, and he has kept his promise. In his very first speech of the campaign Mr. O'Sullivan said:

"I do not intend to indulge in personalities in any speech that I may make during this campaign. If I cannot win this fight without throwing mud at my opponents, I do not want to win at all."

Mr. O'Sullivan was given hearty receptions throughout the city Saturday night and he told his listeners that he was going to win. "I have never lost a fight yet and I am not going to lose this," he said. "I feel confident of success," he continued, "and when the votes are counted on Tuesday you will find that Humphrey O'Sullivan will have been elected.

"I admit that the fight was a little bit discouraging in the beginning, but never for a single moment did I lose confidence in myself or my friends. I think perhaps that some of my friends were not as optimistic as myself, but they are confident now that I will win, and it is my best judgment that I am as good as elected.

"I am in this fight for the good that I can do for the people. The democratic party has caught the spirit of the times and we are marching on to victory. The fact that so many of you have gathered here tonight proves beyond the shadow of a doubt that you have been roused to action. You have tired of the mistakes, blunders and negligence of the republican party and you have determined to apply the remedy. You have within your power to put an end to republican misrule on Tuesday next and I think you have determined to do so. You have borne the burden long enough and the opportunity to get rid of it will come to you on Tuesday. If you fail to cast it aside then you will have yourselves to blame. If you elect the democratic ticket you will vote to improve

MR. HUMPHREY O'SULLIVAN,
LOWELL, MASS.

Dear Sir and Brother—

I have received with great interest the platform upon which you stand as a Candidate for Congress as a Labor man. I can only say that your clear and definite stand upon the great issue now before the people leaves no room for any misunderstanding as to your attitude towards the wage workers.

I want to take this opportunity unsolicited to endorse your position on the many vital issues now confronting the people and cannot help but feel assured that they are bound to commend strongly to the Voters of your district who like the rest of the people through the country are seeking relief from the unsatisfactory and demoralizing conditions now confronting the people through the high cost of living.

As one who knows you for many years, who has watched your career, knowing that whatever business success you may have honestly attained, has not in the slightest degree kept you out of touch with the common people, I cannot refrain from emphasizing the fact that it is such hard headed, practical experiences you have had that will be needed in the next Congress to make the fight for the people's rule.

To our organized labor men in your district I can but call their attention to the declaration of our American Federation of Labor. "Elect your friends and defeat your enemies, and wherever and whenever possible elect men carrying a paid up union card."

With your past record behind you, your Typographical Union Card in your pocket, I fervently hope to see you take your place in the next National Congress.

With best wishes for your success next Tuesday,

I am fraternally yours,

To the Voters of the 19th Middlesex District:

As a candidate for re-election to the Legislature from the 19th Middlesex District, which includes ward 9 of Lowell, Tewksbury and Billerica, I feel that the voters who have honored me in the past are entitled to some account of my stewardship and reasons why they should again give me their support. The records of the Legislature show in black and white that in every contest between the corporation and the people and between the people and the political bosses I have stood consistently on the side of the people. Every labor and humanitarian measure before the house has had my vote and every bit of aid that I could render it, and I feel a noblest pride in having had even a small part in the enactment of the many measures in behalf of organized labor and the people in general that have been put on the statute books during the past three years. In 1910, my first year in the Legislature, I was responsible for the reimbursement of taxes on land owned by the state in Tewksbury, which meant about $1200 every year for the town. As a member of the committee on Public Health it was my special privilege to oppose the State Board of Health in taking and controlling the Merrimack river, which would mean an expenditure of over $3,000,000 to the city of Lowell. As a member of that committee I voted and advocated the Homestead bill, so-called, which passed the House; voted to make the B. & M. and N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. supply their passengers with free drinking cups; was the father of the bill stopping the sale of morphine in this state.

At all times I have remembered that I am but the servant of the people and have tried to look at every measure through the eyes of my constituents and act as I believed they would have me act.

I offer you a training that should make me more valuable to you and a record of faithful attention to your interests, and respectfully solicit your approval in the coming election, Tuesday, Nov. 5, 1912.

Very truly yours,

THOMAS S. CUFF

WILSON MAY GET EVERY STATE

It is Believed He Will Receive the Biggest Popular Vote in History of United States

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Sunday was a comparatively quiet day in the presidential camps.

President Taft, remaining in New York on his way from Utica to Cincinnati, held conferences with National Chairman Hilles, State Chairman William Barnes, Jr., and other political advisers.

Col. Roosevelt and George W. Perkins and others of his political aides conferred at Oyster Bay.

Gov. Wilson, resting at his home in Princeton, was in telephonic communication during the day with his headquarters in New York.

The democratic national committee statement last night said that it would be no surprise to its members if Wilson had every vote in the electoral college. That he would have the biggest popular vote in the history of the United States was claimed.

One development of the day was a statement made by Mr. Barnes, after he left the president, that he favored John Wanamaker for vice president.

The day brought forth no changes in plans and no important developments in the wind-up of the bitter fight that is to terminate with Tuesday's election.

Each candidate expressed the confidence held by his committee in the successful termination of his fight for the election.

At the respective headquarters desks were cleared up, clerical work brought to an end, and preparations made for the dismemberment of the big organizations today.

Wilson Sets Fears at Rest

Exaggerated reports of the accident to Gov. Wilson early yesterday, during his journey back to Princeton, which were in circulation in New York early in the day, were set at rest by the candidate himself, who told his managers over the telephone that he had suffered only a slight injury.

The republican vice presidential situation occupied much attention in republican circles. Reports were current that an attempt was being made to sound out republican sentiment throughout the country as to a satisfactory choice for the place made vacant by Vice President Sherman's death. While President Taft's intimate friends disclaimed such an intention, names of several possibilities were brought forward during the day by various men prominent in republican circles.

William Barnes, Jr., on leaving President Taft's apartments at the Manhattan hotel, made the following statement:

Barnes Favors Wanamaker

"The republican battle has been carried on in this campaign in the interest of sane and intelligent government and straight thinking. The candidate for vice president to be nominated by the national committee ought to be a man who fits in with the meaning of the party. I think John Wanamaker is such a man. I hope he will be named at the meeting of the national committee Nov. 12."

Senator Dixon, progressive national chairman, announced Saturday that the progressive fight for the congress that begins in 1915 will be inaugurated at a meeting of the progressive national committee in Chicago Dec. 16.

Without awaiting the result of Tuesday's congressional and presidential election, Senator Dixon will issue a formal call for the December meeting of the progressive organization.

"In addition to the members of the national committee," said Senator Dixon, "I am also inviting to participate in the conference all chairmen of the different state progressive committees and all candidates of the progressive party for governor in the various states."

The forecasts from the respective national headquarters gave in some detail the factors which the leaders of the respective parties believe will affect Tuesday's voting.

Predict Record Wilson Vote

"Wilson and Marshall will have the largest majority of electoral votes given to any candidate since before the Civil war," said Chairman McCombs in the democratic forecast. "They will receive also the largest popular vote ever given to a political party in the history of the United States. They will carry not less than 40 of the 48 states and are likely to carry all of them. A unanimous vote in the electoral college will not surprise any man who has seen the confident reports to democratic national headquarters in the last days of the campaign.

"Congress will be democratic in both branches. The lower house will not contain more than 109 of the combined opposition, and in the senate the democrats will gain more than the 10 seats necessary to wipe out the republican majority. The same sentiment that is sweeping Wilson into executive authority will back him up with legislative power to do the things the people demand."

Senator Dixon, progressive national chairman, in an official statement declared Col. Roosevelt would carry the election.

"Approximately six million votes will be cast for Roosevelt and Johnson out of a total vote of 15,000,000," he said. "The fatal error in all the democratic estimates is the assumption that Wilson will poll the Bryan vote of four years ago. The progressive party program has appealed mightily to the great industrial classes of the nation.

"Roosevelt and Johnson will sweep the big industrial centres with a landslide. Wilson and Marshall have not appealed to the masses of the voters because they have not offered any definite plan of constructive statesmanship or legislation.

"Taft will be the worst beaten candidate since Winfield Scot led the remnant of the old Whig party to destruction in 1852. After Tuesday the old republican organization will be 'the third party' in every state in the Union. I doubt if it will ever again nominate a candidate for president. After Tuesday the progressive party will be the dominant opposition party to the democrats.

"It is a most conservative statement to say that Tuesday Roosevelt will receive at least 60 per cent. of the Taft vote of four years ago, and certainly not less than 15 per cent. of the Bryan vote of that year. That being true, he will carry New York state by a plurality of 65,000. At the same time he will have at least 297 votes in the electoral college. It takes only 266 to elect a president."

Tammany Hall joined in the prediction of general democratic victory in a statement given out by Charles F. Murphy.

"Never were democratic prospects brighter and democratic expectations more confident," said Mr. Murphy.

"All our reports and canvasses indicate a great democratic sweep in nation and state on Tuesday. The Empire state will give the presidential and state tickets splendid majorities. Its democratic representation in congress will be substantially increased and both branches of the legislature will be democratic."

FIRE DEPARTMENT

Was Given on Unnecessary Run to the Old City Hall Building on Saturday Night

A portion of the fire department was given an unnecessary run to the Old City hall building in Merrimack street about 6.34 o'clock Saturday night. A water faucet in the office of Dr. Otis Allen had been left running and some person who thought that there was a break in a water pipe telephoned to the fire department. The water was shut off and the only damage done was caused by water.

Fire in Cottage

An alarm from box 46 at 9.35 o'clock Saturday night was for a fire in a cottage at 29 Front street belonging to James Kubaski. The blaze was caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp, but it was extinguished before much damage was done.

Slight Damage

At 10.16, box 165 called the fire department to 24 Ray ct, off Lakeview avenue for a fire in a closet. There was very little damage done, the firemen getting the blaze out before it gained any headway.

A Grass Fire

A grass fire in a vacant lot on Hildreth street caused a telephone alarm yesterday afternoon at 2.52. The blaze was confined to the lot and no damage resulted.

ST. LOUIS FINANCIER

Burned to Death in a Hotel Fire

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—One man, W. C. Douglas, a local financier, was burned to death, and 20 other persons were injured, three receiving fractured skulls in a fire which destroyed the Berlin hotel early this morning. One hundred and fifty guests of the family hotel were forced to flee in their night clothes.

Police and firemen, thinking other guests had lost their lives, searched the ruins for hours without finding any other bodies. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

SCHOONER WRECKED

Two of the Crew Lashed to the Rigging Too Weak to Seize Lines Shot to Them

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 2.—With two of her crew lashed to the rigging and the others undoubtedly lost, a schooner lies today stranded three-quarters of a mile southeast of the New Inlet lifesaving station being battered to pieces in a 55-mile gale.

Lines have been shot from shore over the ship, but the two men appeared to be too weak to seize them.

The wrecked schooner later was identified as the three-master John Maxwell of New York. The Maxwell, commanded by Capt. Godfrey, was bound from Norfolk to Savannah with a cargo of coal. She is 445 tons and is owned by A. H. Bull of New York.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

A two-act comedy, entitled "The Girl From the West" was presented in the town hall Saturday night by members of the Grace church dramatic club of Lowell. The affair was arranged under the auspices of the Dux Christus club for the benefit of the Congregational church. There was a large attendance and the performance, which was given in a clever manner, was highly enjoyed. The cast of characters was as follows:

Edward Ralston.....Roland W. Black
Chauncey Oglethorpe,
Willard A. Parker
Mrs. Ondego Jhones,
Miss Marjorie Erdis
Sierra Bengallne,
Mrs. Alice Livingston Gage
Lady Guinevere Landpoor,
Miss Bessie L. Adams

The scene represented Mrs. Ondego Jhones' residence in New York city. From the rise to the fall of the curtain in both acts the amateur players kept the undivided attention of the audience by their good acting and the creating of amusing situations that kept the spectators in continual merriment. To specialize would be somewhat unfair, all taking part in the comedy doing full justice to the respective characters which they represented. This was followed by the one-act play, "Cinders," which was also well given. The parts were taken by the following clever performers:

Jack Warrener .....Roland W. Black
Amelia Ann,
Mrs. Alice Livingston Gage

CAMPAIGN WORKERS

Started Out Today on the Most Strenuous Day of the Campaign—Rallies All Over Massachusetts

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Republican, democratic and progressive workers had the most strenuous day of the campaign thus far before them when they started out on the last day of the final week before election. For today and tonight rallies were arranged for nearly every city and a large number of towns in Massachusetts. Automobiles carried the speakers from one hall or village square to another, where they discussed state and national issues. Tonight several torchlight parades were arranged, the biggest of which were to be held in Boston.

Gov. Foss, democratic nominee for congressional district, speaking at Orange, Leominster, Fitchburg, and elsewhere. Charles S. Bird, candidate of the progressives, confined his campaigning to Boston as did Joseph Walker, who heads the republican state ticket.

GAVE ELECTION EVE SERMON

Cardinal Gibbons Seeks to Awaken the Supine Citizen to Do His Duty

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—Cardinal Gibbons, in the cathedral here yesterday, delivered an election eve sermon designed to awaken "the supine citizen who never takes an interest in the political welfare of his country." He declared that if the future historian is called upon to record the decline and fall of the American republic he will ascribe the cause "the indifference, lethargy and political apostasy of her own sons."

The sermon was non-partisan as to the personal preference of the cardinal toward the three conspicuous candidates for president. He asserted his intolerance toward pessimistic prophets, who each campaign predict the end of the government unless their favorite candidate is elected and by a discussion of our form of government sought to show that the results of our election cannot seriously affect the endurance of the republic. The sermon follows:

"It is the habit of pessimistic prophets to predict that our government will soon come to an end, and that it is already in the throes of dissolution, and the disaster is sure to occur if their favorite candidate is defeated. These prophecies are usually more frequent on the eve of a presidential election. I have been listening to these dire prognostications for over half a century.

"But in every instance the American people wake up on the morning after election to find that they were disquieted by false alarms and that the government is transacting its business in the same quiet and orderly manner as before.

"I propose this morning to state as briefly as possible the grounds of my confidence in the stability and endurance of the American republic.

Political Authority Distributed

"By a wise provision of the constitution of the United States political authority is not concentrated in one individual, or in one department of the administration, but is judiciously distributed so that the balance of power may be preserved. Our general government consists of the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches. If anything goes wrong with any one of these departments, the evil is checked by the other two, and usurpation of power is prevented. There is an habitual jealousy among these branches. They are on the alert, zealously watching one another, so that no one branch may exceed its legitimate bounds. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

"Then, again, besides the federal administration, we have state governments and county rule; we have city and town and village municipalities. If all of these minor corporations were absorbed by the general government, if our governors, and state legislators, and sheriffs, and mayors and councilmen were all under the control of the president; if he could at will decapitate all obnoxious subordinate rulers, with one blow, all our political liberties would be at an end. But, happily, all these lesser officials enjoy full autonomy in their spheres and are independent of the chief magistrate.

"Our system of government is very complex. It may be compared to a colossal engine containing innumerable wheels within wheels. Each wheel works in its own orbit, like the planetary system. If the great federal wheel gets out of order, the smaller wheels are not much deranged, but keep on moving till the big machine is repaired.

"We are all familiar with the memorable Titanic disaster, which resulted in the loss of so many precious lives, as well as the peerless vessel itself. Had all the compartments of that steamship been watertight, the loss of life would have been avoided.

"Now our government is often called a ship of state. This great ship of state is divided into 48 minor states. Each of these states may be said to be water proof, in the sense that the engulfing of one would not involve the sinking of the other. California, for example, might be overwhelmed by the waters of a political revolution without disturbing the neighboring states of Washington, Nevada and Arizona.

"If our states were mere provinces or territories, without autonomy and sovereignty, like other republics, less favored than ours, we would enjoy less stability and less hope of enduring freedom than we now possess.

Safety of Republic

"The safety and permanence, therefore, of our republic largely depend on the autonomy of the several states, without the danger of absorption by the general government. Should our government and legislators ever become the subservient creatures of the federal government they would be mere puppets, subject to the will of the chief executive. They would cease to be waterproof and would share the fate of the Titanic.

"Two momentous crises occurred in my own day which were well calculated to test the vitality and strength of the republic. The first was the war between the states, when the nation was cut in twain, when fratricidal blood was shed over the land and a tremendous conflict was carried on for four years. This calamity has happily ended, and the dismembered states are now more firmly united than ever before, because slavery, which was the bone of contention, has been removed once and forever.

"The second crisis occurred in the presidential contest in 1876 between Tilden and Hayes. Mr. Tilden was robbed of the fruit of the victory which, I believe, he honestly won, and by questionable devices Mr. Hayes was declared the successful candidate.

"A nation that could survive these terrible strains must be possessed of extraordinary vitality and resources, and leads us to hope that in any future emergency the leaders and statesmen of the republic will rise to the occasion and bring order out of chaos.

"Another strong ground of confidence I have in the stability and permanence of the republic, rests in the enlightenment, the good sense and patriotism of the American people. You and your fathers have now for a century and a quarter experienced and enjoyed the blessings of a strong and free government. And if you compare the results of our political system with those of other civilized nations, I do not think that our republic, with all its drawbacks and shortcomings, will suffer in the comparison. You can say: 'America, with all thy faults, I love thee still.'

"Cold, indeed, and torpid obtuse and apathetic is the soul that is not aroused to warmth and enthusiasm in contemplating the history of the United States which has been the home of liberty and the haven of rest to downtrodden millions in other lands.

"But the survival of the American republic must rest on a more stable foundation than the patriotism of our citizens, the genius of our statesmen and the wisdom of our laws. It must have a stronger basis than fleets and dreadnoughts and standing armies; for 'the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong.' Our enduring stability can be secured only under the abiding protection of the Lord of Hosts.

"The history of the Jewish people from the days of Abraham to their dispersion among the Gentiles gives a forcible illustration of this truth; that those people are victorious in the end who have the God of battles on their side, and that He is with them who have unfailing confidence in His protection.

Sin a Reproach

"'Righteousness,' says the Book of Proverbs, 'exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to the people.' If our republic is to be perpetuated, if it is to be handed down unimpaired to future generations, it must rest on the eternal principles of justice, truth and righteousness; and downright honesty in our dealings with other nations; it must be sustained by the devout recognition of an overruling power, who governs all things by His wisdom, whose superintending providence watches over the affairs of nations as well as of men without whom not even a bird can fall to the ground.

"One of the leaders of the convention that assembled in Philadelphia to frame the constitution of the United States made the following sage remark to his colleagues: 'We have spent many days and weeks in our deliberations, and we have accomplished little or nothing. We have been groping in the dark because we have not sought light from the Father of Lights to illumine our understanding. I have lived for many years and the older I grow the more I am convinced that a Supreme Power interposes in the affairs of mankind. For if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His knowledge, how can an empire rise without His co-operation. And we also know from the Sacred Volume that 'unless the Lord build the house, he laboreth in vain who buildeth.'"

"And happily for the nation this humble recognition of a superintending power has been upheld from the dawn of the republic to our own time. What a striking contrast we present in this respect to our sister republic across the Atlantic, which once bore the proud title of 'eldest daughter of the church.' The leaders of the French republic are so far carried away by the tide of unbelief that they studiously eliminate the name of God from their official utterances. How different is the conduct of our leaders and statesmen! They have all paid homage to the moral Governor of the world. All the presidents of the United States, from George Washington to William Howard Taft, have invariably invoked the aid of our heavenly Father in their inaugural proclamations. It is also the edifying custom of our chief magistrate to invite his fellow-citizens to assemble in their respective places of worship on the last Thursday of November, to offer thanksgiving to the Giver of all gifts for the blessings vouchsafed to the nation. Both houses of congress are daily opened with prayer. And all important civic and political conventions are inaugurated by an appeal to the throne of grace. God's supremacy is also recognized by the observance of the Christian Sabbath throughout the land.

Church and State

"It is true, indeed, that we have no official union of church and state in this country. But we are not to infer from this fact that there is any antagonism between the civil and religious authorities, nor does it imply any indifference to religious principles. Far from it. Church and state move in parallel lines. The state throws over the church the mantle of its protection, without interfering with the God-given rights of conscience; and the church on her part renders valuable aid to the state in upholding the civil laws by religious and moral sanctions.

"No man should be a drone in the social beehive. No man should be an indifferent spectator of the political and economical questions which confront him. Indifference and apathy in civic and political life are as hurtful to the state as indifference in religion is hurtful to the Christian commonwealth. Our Lord says to the bishop of Laodicea: 'I would that thou wert hot or cold, but because thou art lukewarm, and art neither cold nor hot, I will begin to vomit thee out of my mouth.'

"A sincere man who in attacking Christian faith honestly believes that he is right, is less blameworthy than the torpid, lukewarm Christian who never takes an interest in the religion of Christ. In like manner, a citizen, who earnestly espouses a faulty political principle is less dangerous to the state than the supine citizen who never takes an interest in the political welfare of his country.

"It is my profound conviction that if ever the republic is doomed to decay, if the future historian shall ever record the decline and fall of the American republic, its downfall will be due, not to a hostile invasion, but to the indifference, lethargy and political apostasy of her own sons.

"And if all citizens are bound to take an interest in public affairs, that duty especially devolves on those who are endowed with superior intelligence and education and who ought to be the leaders and exemplars of the people, guiding them in the path of political rectitude.

"There are three conspicuous citizens who are now candidates for the presidency. Whatever may be my private and personal preference and predilection it is not for me in this sacred pulpit or anywhere else publicly to dictate or even suggest to you the candidate of my choice.

"May God so enlighten the mind and quicken the conscience of the American people to a sense of their civic duties as to arouse in them an earnest and practical interest in the coming election, and may He so guide their hearts that they will select a chief magistrate whose administration will redound to the material prosperity and moral welfare of our beloved republic."

Two months in the new store and the interest is unabated. In fact it seems to grow from day to day, and our trade is growing by leaps and bounds. Three more clerks. The salary of all old employes raised and they deserve it. Never has a crew of men worked harder or more loyally.

26 more CRAWFORD RANGES sold in October than the same month last year. We don't know how many more CRAWFORD PARLOR STOVES as we don't keep a record of them, but we do of the ranges. We have sold since we are agents for the CRAWFORD over 3000 in Lowell and surrounding towns. And if it keeps on every housekeeper in Lowell will have one, and if every one would take the trouble to look over the CRAWFORD before buying a range, there wouldn't be any other range sold.

HADLEY FOR VICE PRESIDENT

He Will Be the Running Mate of Pres. Taft on the Republican Ticket

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Eighteen out of 24 members of the republican national committee, who have notified Chairman C. D. Hilles of their choice of a vice presidential candidate to succeed the late James S. Sherman, favor Gov. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri.

In a statement here last night, Chairman Hilles declared that no selection would be made by the national committee until Nov. 12, but he made public the desires of the 21 committeemen who have openly stated their choice.

Of these, aside from the majority for governor, two favored John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, one Secretary of War Stimson, one Congressman S. McCall of Massachusetts, one Justice Hughes and one Gov. Goldsboro of Maryland.

"The suggestion that members of the republican national committee should authorize the executive committee or the chairman of the committee to nominate a candidate for vice president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Sherman, is not feasible, and, therefore, has not received favorable consideration," said Mr. Hilles.

"It has already been made clear that it would have been a physical impossibility for the members of the committee to attend a meeting prior to election day there not being sufficient interim between the death of the vice president and election day for the committee to convene. Proxies by wire would not have been legal and action based on such proxies would have been an unwarrantable innovation and would have established a dangerous precedent.

"A majority of the members of the committee have, however, publicly expressed their choice for a candidate. Mr. Hale of Maine favors immediate action, but has not yet indicated his choice for a candidate. While the member of the committee from the state of Idaho has not given voice to his views, the republican state committee of Idaho has recommended the selection of Gov. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri."

The members of the committee who have publicly announced their preference for Gov. Hadley are:

Lewis of Vermont, Brooker of Connecticut, Barker of Alabama, Jackson of Georgia, Mosely of Mississippi, Brown of the District of Columbia, Granger of Ohio, Gnodrich of Indiana, Warren of Michigan, Hawkins of Minnesota, Niedringhaus of Missouri, Harris of Oklahoma, MacGregor of Texas (Gov. Hadley or Wanamaker), Behn of Porto Rico, Marlow of Montana, Maxson of Wyoming, Spiese of New Mexico.

For S. W. McCall: Estabrook of New Hampshire.

For John Wanamaker: Barnes of New York, McCulloch of Kentucky.

For Justice Hughes, Jackson of Maryland.

For Goldsborough, Martin of Virginia.

For Secretary Stimson, McCoy of the Philippines.

Gov. Hadley has also been recommended by State Chairman Herbert W. Clark of New Mexico, State Chairman Jesse F. McDonald of Colorado, State Chairman F. C. Williams of Vermont, Congressman E. W. Martin of South Dakota, Congressman J. W. Fordney of Michigan, Congressman William H. Wilder of Massachusetts and Congressman E. J. Hill of Connecticut.

Mr. Wanamaker has been recommended by State Chairman Edmund Mitchell of Delaware and Congressman J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania.

REV. E. VICTOR BIGELOW

Preached His Farewell Sermon at Eliot Church

Rev. E. Victor Bigelow preached his farewell sermon at the Eliot Congregational church yesterday. Mr. Bigelow has been pastor of the Eliot church for the last 12 years. He based his sermon on the text from I. Corinthians, 11:24: "This do in remembrance of me." In part, he said:

"My sermon will be about the Lord's supper, that great memorial our Saviour asked for himself. Jesus said anybody is welcome at this supper who believes in him. Whether he has passed in examination before a church committee, he is invited to partake of the bread and of the wine. If you feel he is master of your heart, is not this call to you?

"Christ must have had a very human heart. He said, 'This do in remembrance of me,' when leaving his disciples. That which impelled him to establish this was not for fame of himself. He suggested that which is the simplest custom of life, eating and drinking. Even the poor can have bread. And this simplicity, this suggestion of a custom which means our life, indicates the great ideal, the deep significance of it all. I believe that the wine spoken of was an unfermented wine, for that was what was drunk in those days. But he speaks of wine only as he knew what was the common drink of those times. Water would do as well, and I do not believe fermented wine should be drunk either at communion or at home.

"Why didn't Christ say 'Remember me by giving to the poor, or caring for the sick, or building houses for others?' He was the utmost utilitarian that ever lived, yet in this he spurned the utilitarian, and spoke wholly of a symbolical ceremony. What you want most in this world isn't money or food or clothing. No, in the final analysis, you want personal regard. Nobody is utilitarian in this final test. And that was what Christ wanted, when he said, 'This do in remembrance of me.' He wanted the hearts of men. It is a ceremony divested of the things of this earth.

"He did not ask us to remember his good deeds in general, but he did ask us to remember his dying. What you and I are asked is to remember the Lord's death—this means more than all the rest of his life. His purpose in existence was atonement, suffering, sacrifice.

"Nothing spurs men on as death, either the fear of one's own death, or the fact of the death of another. It is something which speaks within and with an imperative voice.

"Some ten or more years ago three words were spoken by everybody. They were: 'Remember the Maine.' Thousands of men responded to that tocsin of war, and went to Cuba to fight. And today, if you will, you will see the hulks of the ships which were sunk by the men who remembered the Maine.

"In the foothills of the Balkans men today are remembering the awful death of a sister, a brother, a father, mother or child, and they are striking down those who perpetrated awful crimes on relatives.

"In this supper, of which we are bidden to partake, there is no vengeance or fury against those who killed our Saviour. It was human selfishness, not Jewish selfishness that killed him. Is there one of us here unwilling to remember the Lord Jesus in this simple, universal, profound symbolism of the bread and wine? 'This do in remembrance of me'."

During the service Miss Gertrude Flint Frisbie sang several solo numbers, and Mr. Bigelow announced that Rev. Nathan Matthews, formerly pastor of the Congregational church in St. Petersburg, Fla., will supply the pulpit of the church for the remainder of the month.

On Wednesday evening from 8 to 9.30 o'clock the church and society will give a farewell reception to Rev. and Mrs. Bigelow.

GENERAL ALARM OF FIRE

Blaze in Salem Caused $20,000 Damage

SALEM, Nov. 4.—A general alarm was sounded at 6.30 yesterday morning for a fire in the Goldthwait building, 3 to 11 Front street, which resulted in a loss of $20,000.

The fire started in the wholesale grocery store of P. Sushelsky, and was of unknown origin. The blaze was discovered by a small boy who notified the police.

The building is a two-story brick structure, and in the rear are a number of inflammable houses to which the firemen had great difficulty in preventing the flames from spreading.

The entire fighting apparatus of the city worked for three hours before the blaze was under control.

Sushelsky places his loss at between $8000 and $10,000, of which $2000 was covered by insurance. The Spencer Regulator company, at 5-7 Front street lost $3000, which was fully covered. The automobiles were removed in safety.

The heaviest loss was by the Salem Buttonhole company, who estimate the damage to stock from fire and water to be $14,000, only $2500 of which was covered. Buttonhole machines valued at $7700 were destroyed.

The Salem Electric Light company and Lewis J. Rogolsky met with small losses.

The building is owned by Hooper Brothers, and is assigned for $10,000.

THOMAS S. CUFF

Practical Politics in its issue of Sept. 14, 1912, says:

To carry a normally republican district for three years in succession is somewhat of a task for a republican these days and when a democrat accomplishes this feat people have a right to sit up and ask who he may be. The man in question is Representative Thomas S. Cuff of Lowell who has sat in the house from the 19th Middlesex district since 1910.

The district which "Tom" Cuff, as he was popularly known to all his associates on the hill represents, consists of Ward 9, Lowell, and the towns of Billerica and Tewksbury, and is made up of both farming and manufacturing industries and a man who represents such a district has somewhat of a job on his hands reconciling what are at most times opposite interests. Rep. Cuff has succeeded so well in his task that there seems to be no question but that he will be returned for another term.

As in former years Rep. Cuff has been found working hard for laws that will benefit the working people. He was on the right side of every labor measure that came up during the session. When the measures for progressive legislation were discussed Representative Cuff voted and worked for the Donohue resolutions in favor of the direct election of United States senators by the people, the federal income tax, for the initiative and referendum and other measures of this character. He was one of the strongest opponents of the so-called Ellis milk bill to which the farmers were strenuously opposed because of the additional burdens which it would put upon them.

Rep. Cuff helped to get through the past legislature the various measures appropriating money for the Lowell Textile school. He is 34 years old and is a prominent druggist in his city. He is a graduate of the public schools of Lowell and a member of the K. C., Y. M. C. I., U. S. Bunting, C. C. and A. A. He again served on the committee on public health during the past session and was instrumental in the reporting out of and passage of the bill to regulate the cold storage of food products.

Many Prominent Citizens Attended the Funeral

All that was mortal of the late Maj. Charles A. Stott was tenderly consigned to its last resting place yesterday afternoon after simple but impressive service had been held at the home of deceased, 172 Nesmith street. There was a very large attendance present, among the sorrowing friends being a large number of representatives of social and fraternal organizations. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Alan C. Ferrin, pastor of the High Street Congregational church, assisted by Rev. Appleton Grannis, rector of St. Anne's Episcopal church.

The Weber male quartet of Boston sang several appropriate hymns and at the grave prayers were read by Rev. Mr. Ferrin and Post 42, G. A. R., performed their military services and taps were sounded.

The delegations present represented the Lowell cemetery trustees, Post 42, G. A. R., directors of the Lowell Mutual Fire Insurance Co., trustees of Rogers Hall school, Mass. Mutual Fire Insurance union, Pilgrim commandery, Royal Arch chapter, Kilwinning lodge, A. F. and A. M., and Ahasuerus council. The city was represented by his honor, Mayor James O'Donnell and the city council.

The honorary bearers were: C. C. Hutchinson, F. W. Kittredge, A. G. Cumnock, A. G. Pollard, N. W. Corcross, C. L. Knapp, E. E. Sawyer, C. W. Whilden and Joseph Peabody. The active bearers were members of the various Masonic bodies, and were Arthur D. Prince, Major Charles J. Noyes, Frank L. Weaver, James F. Savage, Herbert C. Tutt, Frank K. Stearns, Charles H. Hobson and Chas. E. Bartlett. The arrangements were under the direction of N. G. Norcross and H. Kirke White, in charge of J. B. Currier Co., undertakers.

SHE ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Young Woman Married Only Six Months

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Walter Eaton of 48 Brookford street attempted suicide during the absence of her husband yesterday, by illuminating gas.

Neighbors, alarmed at the odor, broke into the apartments and found her unconscious. She is at the City hospital, where little hope is held out for recovery.

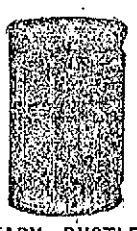

Before turning on the gas she wrote three letters, one to her husband imploring forgiveness and telling him where he would find clean linen to attend her funeral, another to Rev. Allen W. Stockdale, her pastor, and a third to a relative in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Eaton said his wife, who is 30 years old, had been brooding over religion for some time. She is from Nova Scotia, and the couple have been married but six months.

WAS FOUND GUILTY OF LARCENY

Woman Accused of Larceny Was Ordered to Pay a Fine of $15

Ora Roberts was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on complaints charging her with drunkenness and the larceny of $6.50 from Peter Georgeopulos, it being alleged that she relieved him of the money in a local hotel, Saturday night. She entered a plea of guilty to being drunk, but denied that she stole the money. The court after considering the evidence in the case, however, found the woman guilty on both complaints and fined her $15 for larceny, the case of drunkenness being placed on file.

Georgeopulos, who resides at 414 Market street, testified that he entered the hotel in question Saturday night and there met Mrs. Roberts who, he said, after having some conversation threw her arms around him and relieved him of $6.50 which was in a vest pocket. He said when he tried to have the woman return the money he was put out of the hotel.

Georgeopulos' companion testified to seeing the woman take the money.

Patrolman John H. Clark said he arrested the woman on complaint of Georgeopulos. The woman was intoxicated at the time and denied having stolen any money, but told the officer she would give the man $5 in order to avoid the notoriety. When asked how much money she had she said she had a couple of dollars but when searched at the police station it was found she had $7.35.

Mrs. Roberts, testifying in her own behalf, said she was at the hotel drinking and the complainant gave her $5.

Drunken Offenders

John F. Curran, charged with drunkenness, entered a plea of guilty but said he would like to be placed on probation as he is going out of the city. On condition that he leave the city the court placed him in the custody of the probation officer. If John remains around Lowell very long he will be given a ticket to the state farm.

Edward J. Mooney was sentenced to three months in jail.

Mary E. Brown, James A. Lord and George Leach were fined $6 each.

Emily Perreault, Charles H. Garside and William Smith, Sunday drunks, were fined $5 each.

Two first offenders were each ordered to pay a fine of $2 and ten simple drunks were released.

THE SUPERIOR COURT

Criminal Session Opens Next Monday

The November sitting of the criminal session of the superior court will open next Monday and the following Lowell cases in which appeals have been made will be heard at this session:

John McIntyre, Francis Drolette, William Lewis and Thomas McArdle (juvenile) found guilty of larceny in the lower court.

George Boisvert, non-support.

Patrick Roarke, assault and battery.

Patrick J. McCormick, Thomas McGovern, Stephen A. Laughton, John F. Buckley, Robert J. Farley, Henry Trepanier (two appeals) and James J. Stack, drunkenness.

THE DEFENDANT WON

Verdict in the Biggio vs. Foster Case

The civil session of the superior court was resumed this morning with Justice McLaughlin presiding. The first case to be taken up was that of John Biggio vs. Arthur J. Foster, both of Stoneham, an action of tort. The plaintiff in his declaration claimed that he was badly injured by being run over by a wagon owned by the defendant while crossing a street in Framingham. The case only lasted a couple of hours and the jury reported a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The next case was that of Henry J. Sullivan vs. Fred A. Buttrick, both of this city. The action is one of tort and the ad damnum is $10,000. The plaintiff claims that he was injured by falling in an elevator well in Palmer street and that the accident occurred through the negligence of the defendant. The jury was empanelled and several witnesses were sworn in.

ON THE BALLOT

Two Questions That May Puzzle Many of the Voters at Tomorrow's Election

One of the questions on the ballot tomorrow is whether persons convicted of corrupt practices shall be disfranchised. Most people believe that offences of this kind are best punished by the courts like any others without permanent disfranchisement which might be just in some cases and unjust in others. The other is relative to an amendment of the constitution to help conservation of forest lands and is needed at the present time.

Telephone Alarm

The fire department answered a telephone alarm this morning in the Patterson Rubber Co.'s plant on Middlesex street, where a slight blaze was found under the engine. It is thought that the fire started from the dropping of a hot coal into some grease. It was extinguished without difficulty and the damage was small.

THE WAR WITH TURKEY

rushing for supposed safety behind the line of forts at Tchataija with the Bulgarians left trying to cut them off. It is suggested in some quarters that Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander in chief has received reinforcements and is making a last desperate stand to cover the retreat of his shattered forces.

THE GREEKS BLEW UP BATTERY ON HEIGHTS AND BURNED WAR CRAFT

ATHENS, Nov. 4.—The Greeks have captured Prevesa, a fortified town in Epirus, on the north side to the entrance of the Gulf or Arta. The Greek troops entered the town at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. About noon the Greek squadron, which has been blockading the ports, sent two gunboats cleared for action into the harbor, but no resistance was offered.

Prevesa was suffering the effects of the blockade and famine threatened the town. Prior to the capture of this place a Greek detachment occupied Nicopolis, a commanding position a short distance away. The Greeks blew up the Turkish battery which occupied the heights where the Turks were entrenched. The Turks and Bashi-Bazouks (irregular soldiery) took to flight, but 450 of them were captured.

A Turkish torpedo boat in the Gulf of Arta was shelled and burned.

The Turkish forces are concentrating at Janina, although they still hold Pentopigadia, strongly fortified heights. The Janina army numbers 20,000, with strong positions, but all communication with the Monastir army, on which it is dependent, has been cut and ammunition and provisions are scarce.

Gen. Riocitti Garibaldi, son of the Italian patriot, has reached Patras and is expected to arrive here today. His corps numbers 3000 foreigners and Greeks. He will take the field at the earliest possible moment. The mayor of St. Petersburg has sent greetings on behalf of that city to the mayor of Athens. He announces that the Russian capital has voted $50,000 for the sufferers among the allies.

The crown prince is reported to have captured Yenidish, near Saloniki, after an engagement lasting over Friday and Saturday. The Greek army is still pushing forward, the Turks retreating in disorder.

1,350 PRISONERS CAPTURED BY THE SERVIAN TROOPS HAVE ARRIVED AT BELGRADE

BELGRADE, Servia, Nov. 4.—A batch of prisoners numbering 1350, chiefly Arnaut tribesmen and other irregulars captured by the Servian troops in Macedonia arrived here today under escort. Most of them were barefooted and in rags and almost starving.

Auto Fire Apparatus

The city of Savannah, Ga., was the first city in the United States to install a full equipment of automobile fire apparatus and Mayor O'Donnell is in receipt of a picture of the Savannah "auto outfit." There are thirteen machines in all. The picture was sent the mayor by a former Lowell boy, Dr. Martin Morris, who visited his relatives and friends in the city a few weeks ago.

AN EXCELLENT CONCERT

Given in Sacred Heart School Hall

Excellent music, exquisitely rendered, was a feature of the first grand sacred concert by the Sacred Heart choir, assisted by Mrs. Nettie Sawyer Roberts, James E. Donnelly and Borjes' orchestra, which was given in the school hall in Moore street last evening. The program was one of rare excellence and included some of the famous compositions of the old masters.

The program was arranged by Mr. John J. Kelty, organist and director of the choir. During the past few weeks, a number of rehearsals have been held, and Mr. Kelty as well as the members of the choir, worked untiringly on the arrangements for the concert. When the final number, "Unfold Ye Portals," by Gounod, was given by the full chorus, the splendid voices resounded through the hall, to the delight of all and the complete satisfaction of the organist and director.

The attendance was a very representative one, the hall being comfortably filled, with lovers of music from practically every section of the city.

Choir directors, and singers from the other local churches were conspicuous, and the priests of the parish as well as a number of other clergymen, were present. The audience was very appreciative and quick to recognize the excellent work of the singers and players. Each number met favor and all responded to encores. Mrs. Roberts and Mr. Donnelly in their solo and duet work, added much to the success of the program, each giving several pieces in their remarkable artistic manner. The orchestra accompaniment, as well as the numerous selections were well given.

The program opened at 8 o'clock, the first number being the Triests' March from Athalia, an instrumental piece, by the orchestra. It made a most appropriate opening selection and was well received. The beautiful "Sanctus" from St. Cecilia's mass with solo by John H. McMahon, tenor of the church choir, was next given, and the splendid voice of Mr. McMahon was heard to great advantage, while the chorus work was noticeably good.

Millard's "Ave Verum," was artistically given by Miss Kathleen Jennings, soprano soloist. The "Evening Prayer," by the church quartet was next given and the beautiful voices of the four singers blended exquisitely, and the number proved a most pleasing one. The orchestra gave several selections followed by a baritone solo, "The Light of Heaven's Own Day" by James E. Donnelly, and the commissioner was in splendid voice and made a fine impression. He responded by giving "The Holy City," by request, and in this number, too, did Mr. Donnelly score a great success. The closing of the first part of the program was the entire chorus in "Glory to God on High" from the Twelfth Mass by Mozart, and the beautiful selection was one that fittingly concluded seven grand concert numbers.

The Tannhauser March, a composition that has been heard in many sections of the globe, was the first number of the second part of the program and it was exceptionally well given by the orchestra. "Glory Blessings" by the choir, with solos by Mrs. Mary Monroe Mooney and Mr. George Kirwin, followed, and both singers, who possess excellent voices, were heard to advantage, while the chorus work was very pleasing. "Ninety and Nine" and "There is a Beautiful Land on High," two excellent compositions, were given by Mrs. Nettie Sawyer Roberts. The latter sang with her usual fine expression and her grand contralto voice resounded through the hall with great effect. That very pleasing selection, "The Palms," by Hildreth was well given by the orchestra; duet, "Even Song," by Mrs. Roberts and Mr. Donnelly, proved one of the features of the program; a quartet, "The Saving Victim," was well rendered and the quartet also sang a beautiful "Veni Creator." The final number was "Unfold, Ye Portals."

O'SULLIVAN IS THE FAVORITE

In the Bets That Have Been Made on the Congressional Election

Tomorrow will be election day and it looks good for the democrats all along the line. There was considerable betting reported about town this afternoon. About all of the bets reported had to do with the congressional fight and at least one man gave odds of two to one on O'Sullivan. It was stated that Saturday night's rallies turned the tide stronger than ever in favor of Mr. O'Sullivan, but Mr. Rogers' followers claim not to take much stock in the rallies as a demonstration of sentiment. They claim that the men who will vote for Mr. Rogers are not the men who attend open air rallies and that statement is open to interpretation. It does not convey the impression that Mr. Rogers is counting on the laboring man's vote, for the laboring man, as a rule, attends outdoor rallies.

The political prognosticators, and presagers are in a quandary as to the results of tomorrow's election. The progressives are playing their first inning and their presence on the field of battle knocks the old time prophets off the map.

It is generally conceded, however, that the democrats have the chance of a life time. They have an opportunity in both the seventh and eighth senatorial districts. In the seventh district, which includes wards 5 and 9, the democrats have a strong candidate in Rep. Edward Fisher of Westford, who has had two terms in the house. The same district which has already honored Rep. Fisher is included in his senatorial district and it is believed by many that his election is assured. The seventh district showed a large progressive vote in the presidential primaries and as a result the progressives have a candidate in the person of John E. Macy of Acton, who is expected to draw a large vote from the republican ranks.

The republican candidate is Alonzo G. Walsh. If the democrats of wards five and nine together with those in the towns of the district vote solidly for Rep. Fisher, he will be elected, for his predecessor, ex-Rep. Kiley of Lynn, came close to carrying the district last year with no split in the republican party.

In the eighth district Senator Barlow has no high road to success, for he is being actively opposed within his own party by a strong progressive candidate in the person of Rep. Robert W. Drawbridge, of Pepperell. The democratic candidate, Henry J. Draper, has always shown strength as a vote getter, and this year has paid more attention to the towns of the district with the result that he expects a much bigger vote from that source than he received before. This is another case in which democratic success can be achieved only by straight voting.

The Fourteenth District

The democrats have a splendid opportunity to elect a representative in the 14th district, ward one, and Dracut.

In an advertisement signed by several well known republicans the voters are asked to support Rep. Butler because of three measures pertaining to Lowell and Dracut which he supported. In the first place if they can find only three measures with which to recommend him when his opponents have found 10 times three with which to fight him, he and his supporters must be in hard straits. The advertisement neglects to state that another measure affecting Lowell and Dracut that he supported over the governor's veto, was the bill to raise the salaries of the county commissioners. Furthermore, in the ad., Rep. Butler is given the credit of getting the bill for the River road through the legislature, which is a good joke to all the Lowell members of the senate and house, particularly Rep. Fisher of Westford, who was a leader in the fight for the passage of this bill.

The 17th District

Again in the 17th district the democrats can make a showing by straight voting where Reps. Victor Jewett and Henri Achin are seeking re-election, opposed by two particularly strong candidates in ex-Alderman Joseph Jodoin and Joseph F. Whiteley. Last year Messrs. Jewett and Achin, as we have already remarked, made their good showing with the aid of democratic votes, for they received many votes on the strength of good fellowship. But once in the legislature they immediately became straight-laced republicans and forgot their democratic friends.

18th District

Rep. Craig, the republican candidate in the 18th district, while possessed of a legislature record similarly distasteful to that of Rep. Butler has a democratic candidate in the person of William R. Kennedy and a "democratic progressive" candidate in Patrick S. Peppard, Jr., to oppose him according to the lists at the state house. The district is so strongly republican that the only hope the democrats can possibly have is to centre upon one candidate and have the progressives do likewise.

19th District

Disquieting rumors come from Billerica in the 19th district relative to talk of cutting Rep. Thomas S. Cuff on election day. Rep. Cuff defeated Thomas Sheridan for the democratic nomination in the primaries, but it appears that one of Mr. Sheridan's friends is not satisfied to abide by the result of the primaries but is shouting loudly for Rev. Mr. Williams, the republican candidate, and predicts his election. This year of all years the democrats of the district should stand by Rep. Cuff to a man. Furthermore, Rep. Cuff has one of the finest legisitrive records that was ever piled up by any Lowell representative, and for this he is entitled to consideration. Rep. Cuff has had the interest of his entire district at heart all the time and his work in behalf of the town of Tewksbury, the pure drug laws and other measures of statewide importance has made him one of the best known and most respected members of the house. It should be said in justice to Mr. Sheridan that this late day opposition to Rep. Cuff does not come from him but from one disappointed friend of his.

The other representative districts are too one-sided to admit of any hope for the minority.

THE PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATES

Charles Sumner Bird, William N. Osgood and R. T. Drawbridge Spoke at City Hall Square

A large crowd attended and manifested great enthusiasm in the progressive rally at the city hall steps late Saturday afternoon in which the principal speaker was Charles Sumner Bird, candidate for governor on the progressive ticket.

The chairman was Peter Caddell and he introduced Mr. William N. Osgood, progressive candidate for congress, as the first speaker. The latter spoke but a few words when Mr. Bird and party arrived. The candidate for governor, after acknowledging the hearty welcome which he received, spoke in substance as follows:

Mr. Bird's Address

"President Eliot of Harvard college seems to think that the tariff is exclusively the issue of this campaign, and he says so upon every occasion in discussing politics. Others talk about trusts, and still others about the trolley road, when considering state politics, but both democratic and republican parties ignore the real issue—the issue of human rights.

"Gentlemen, I came to this party a few months ago, because I felt that a great party had arisen to uplift the human family. This country has expended large sums of money for the conservation of forests, the production of fish, and the protection of game, but what has it done for the women and the children and the overworked men?

"The progressive party stands for a national law to stop child labor. It stands for a minimum wage for women. There are thousands of women working for $4 a week, or less, and such wages, insufficient to meet the living expenses, have driven thousands of women to dishonor.

"We have the platform designed to benefit women and children who are working their lives out for low wages in the mills, but we can do nothing without your help. You are the people to benefit, and it is for you to accept the opportunity now presented. You must not only vote the progressive ticket, but you must assume the additional responsibility of preaching the progressive doctrine.

"We are going to win this fight, but win or lose, you'll find me in the ranks. I intend to stay fighting for the progressive cause until it dominates the land."

Mr. Bird got a rousing reception and his speech was listened to with close attention.

Mr. Arthur D. Hill and Robert T. Drawbridge, the latter a candidate for senator, spoke briefly.

Mr. Osgood's Speech

Mr. William N. Osgood was the last speaker and he endeavored to show just why Mr. Rogers and Mr. O'Sullivan are not fitted for positions in congress.

Among other things he said:

"In this campaign I have two opponents, one of whom, Mr. Rogers, apparently believes that the fifth district was set aside by divine providence especially for him. Just why he should consider himself the possessor of this entire district politically I am at a loss to find out.

"It is pertinent to consider an opponent's fitness, and to argue that question. I have no hesitation in saying that Mr. O'Sullivan is not fitted for the position of congressman. He lacks training. He could not draw a bill to present to congress in behalf of the people of this district.

"Mr. Rogers is not qualified to represent the voters of this district, because he represents special privilege. He is a public utility corporation man, and no man can represent the people adequately when he is entangled in interests directly opposed to the people. No man can serve two masters.

"I do not deny the right of a man to be employed by corporations, but I do make the point that a man thus employed is not fit for positions in which he is to serve the people. Mr. Rogers recently said he was not personally interested in corporations, that his father owned the stock in these corporations. It happens that he is the secretary of the Lowell Gas Light Corporation and is a member of the firm of Dunbar & Rogers, corporation lawyers.

"Mr. Rogers says he is a director in the Y. M. C. A., an organization which I most heartily believe in. But the building almost across the street I consider an architectural monstrosity, and the site I criticise just as emphatically. It would not be such a failure architecturally if another site had been secured permitting proper outlines. But the land was owned by the Locks & Canals, one of the pet corporations of the firm of Dunbar & Rogers. Is that why the site was selected?

"Mr. Rogers says he is a director in the Day Nursery, an institution where little girls are kept while their mothers work in the mills to earn dividends for the Rogers family.

"The real man of charity never tries to advertise himself. Let others speak for him, if anything is to be said. The progressive party seeks to remove the conditions which necessitate charity. The progressive party purposes to keep children out of the mills, and to secur industrial justice to adult workers."

OFFICERS CHOSEN

At the Meeting of L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique Held in Salem Yesterday

The quarterly meeting of District council, N. 5, of l'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique was held yesterday in Salem, Mass., with a large attendance of delegates representing the following councils: St. Jean Baptiste, Amesbury; Jasques-Cartier, Lynn; St. Jean Baptiste, Newburyport; Jeanne d'Arc, Newburyport; Laurier, Salem; Chenier, Lawrence; Carillon, Lowell; St. Victoire, South Lawrence; St. Clothilde, Lawrence; St. Remi, Haverhill; J. N. Jacques, Lowell; Lavel, Lowell; Rainville, Danvers; Samuel de Champlain, Ipswich; Barette, Forge Village, and Lafayette, Salem.

The meeting was opened by Joseph F. Montminy of this city, substitute to the president general, and considerable business was transacted, among that being the changing of the council from No. 5 to No. 4 and organizing the same, and also to hold only two meetings a year instead of four as before.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Emile A. Garneau, Lawrence, president; J. L. Daoust, Haverhill, first vice president; Josephat Poirier, Ipswich, second vice president; J. E. Perrier, Lynn, secretary treasurer; Louis L. Plante, Newburyport, master of ceremonies.

The substitute to the president-general read the general treasurer's report for the past three months and it was received with prolonged applause for it shows that there is a substantial sum in the union's treasury and that conditions are flourishing in the union.

FOSS IS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

He Also Says That Governor Wilson Will Carry the State of Massachusetts

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Equally insistent claims that their state and national candidates would carry the commonwealth of Massachusetts tomorrow were made by the leaders of each of the three principal parties on the last day before election.

The activities of the campaigners were not relaxed today and flying trips were made about the state by automobiles that the candidates and speakers might appear in as many localities as possible.

Gov. Foss was scheduled to address democratic rallies in the Boston wards tonight while former Speaker Walker, after appearing at a noon meeting in Faneuil hall arranged to go to Worcester to address republicans there tonight. Candidate Bird of the progressives planned to make the rounds of Boston wards tonight.

Chairman Hatfield of the republican state committee claims the state for Taft by 50,000, pointing to the record registration of 604,000 as showing that the reserve republican vote is coming out to make a clean sweep for the national and state ticket alike. Chairman Matthew Hale of the progressive party state committee declares "The old party machines will go down to ignominious defeat," and that the Roosevelt vote will give the people a "big surprise."

Gov. Foss expressed himself as confident of his own re-election and the carrying of the state by Gov. Wilson as democratic candidates for president. Gov. Foss based his claim on what he said is the general clamor for better regulation of the railroads and public utility corporations.

For the first time in the history of the state women were expected to appear generally at the polls largely through the instrumentality of the progressives. While they cannot vote or take any actual part in the election they are relied upon by their affiliations to turn many votes to the credit of their respective party candidates.

It is expected that Massachusetts will be among the first states in the Union to start the balloting tomorrow, and that the first results in any national election precinct will come from some little town in Barnstable, Norfolk or Plymouth counties. Four years ago the town of Norwell heralded Mr. Taft's victory shortly after 1 o'clock in the afternoon. A dozen towns in the Old Colony district of the state had reported by 3 o'clock.

Five of the 33 Massachusetts cities, Everett, Medford, Melrose, Somerville and Taunton, will take advantage of the recent enactment of the legislature and keep their polls open until 8 p. m., while Cambridge, Newton, Northampton and Waltham will close at 4.30.

On the other hand, New Bedford will stop voting at 2 p. m. and Fall River at 3 p. m., while the other cities will close as usual at 4 p. m. In Boston the polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 4 p. m., and Boston's vote for president and governor is usually known by 6 o'clock.

Many of the party leaders were active today in urging on their city and town lieutenants the necessity of getting out the last available vote tomorrow. It was anticipated that thousands of automobiles would be contributed by party supporters and that better results would be obtained than under the old system of horse-drawn carriages.

Some of the more sanguine political leaders predict that with the enthusiasm and interest in the election and the free use of the motor car nearly 90 per cent of the 604,000 registered voters in Massachusetts would cast their ballots.

Gov. Bliss Nominated

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 4.—The principal feature of Rhode Island's closing day of the political campaign was the appearance of Governor Johnson of California, progressive candidate for vice-president, in a rally at Providence. In the republican camp the general situation was complicated by the death yesterday of Congressman Utter, who was a candidate for re-election in the second district. Former Lieut. Gov. Bliss was named by the executive committee of the republican state committee late last night to replace Congressman Utter on the ballot. That the vote on the presidential electors would be close was admitted by democratic, republican and progressive leaders.

Gov. Johnson in Providence

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 4.—Governor Johnson of California, the progressive candidate for vice-president, came here today to appeal to the voters at a rally in this city at noon. The "Bull Moose special" brought him early today from New York and it waited until after his address in Providence to carry him to Springfield, where he will make the last speech of his nine weeks' campaign tonight. The California executive will have delivered more than 500 speeches, mostly in the east, before he closes his campaign for the vice-presidency.

Record Vote in Maine

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 4.—Political managers in Maine agreed today that with good weather this state should cast a record presidential vote. The final details for bringing out the vote were completed today. The brunt of the speaking campaign has been borne by the progressives, although the republicans held many rallies last week. The principal activity of the republicans and democrats has been toward extra efforts to get the voters to the polls. Appeals to the voters have been made through the mails for the most part and in each electric district vehicles have been arranged for to get the old and infirm to the voting booths and agents have been instructed to urge the stay-at-homes to cast their ballot.

Both progressive and democratic managers claim victory while on the republican side it is said that sentiment for President Taft has been growing greater as the campaign closed.

Election Will Be Close

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 4.—Indications that Tuesday's vote for presidential electors would be close caused political managers throughout the state one of the busiest days of an active campaign. Besides the presidential contest the democrats, progressives and republicans have fought hard for their respective state tickets and today each party hurled its final broadside of argument and appeal at the voters through the medium of advertisements, circulars or "stump oratory." Confidence in the outcome of the struggle for national and state tickets was expressed in the headquarters of all three parties.

The Vermont Campaign

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 4.—While the campaign in Vermont has been quiet as compared with the excitement preceding the state election in September the machinery for getting out the vote Tuesday has been well overhauled by progressives, republicans and democrats. Managers of each party express confidence of success.

In the state election there was a heavy falling off of the republican vote. On account of lack of a majority vote the decision was thrown into the legislature, where the republican ticket, which secured a plurality of the popular vote, was chosen. The democrats showed a gain and ran second with the progressives third.

All parties held rallies in different parts of the state today.

POLITICAL NOTES

Your last chance to hear the orators is tonight.

Don't put off voting until the last moment lest you lose your chance.

Thanks to the advent of the progressives, if you will, the democrats have an opportunity to win in some of the local republican districts but they can be successful only by voting the full strength of the ticket and voting it straight from top to bottom.

Every democrat in Lowell should vote for Hon. David I. Walsh for lieutenant, governor, despite the fact that a Lowell man and a former democrat is a candidate on the progressive ticket.

Rep. Edward Fisher of Westford will discard the "Rep." for the "Hon." after tomorrow. With no progressive in the contest last year and the democratic candidate practically unknown in this section, the latter came within a few hundred of being elected against a stronger republican candidate than Mr. Walsh. If the democrats of wards five and nine do their part Rep. Fisher will be elected.

Things look good for Henry Draper.

Few men from this vicinity have introduced and carried through more important matters of legislation than has Rep. Cuff who is one of the best known and most popular members of the lower house. He should be re-elected and the democrats have it in their power to send him back.

JOHN JACOB ROGERS

Addressed Large Crowd This Noon at the American Hide and Leather Company on Perry Street

John Jacob Rogers, republican candidate for congress in the fifth district completed his noon day rallies by addressing a large crowd at the main gate of the American Hide and Leather company on Perry street today. Mr. John Y. Meyers introduced the speaker, in very complimentary terms saying that the candidate did a good turn for him some ten years ago when he was working in one of the local mills, and that as a result of that favor and nothing else he has worked for him in this campaign. Mr. Rogers spoke along the lines of his other speeches during the campaign.

WOULD-BE ABDUCTORS FOILED

Pastor Brown of Hyde Park Prevented the Kidnapping of His Daughter

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—An unsuccessful attempt which was made to kidnap Ida Brown, the 8-year-old daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William A. Brown of Hyde Park, whose divorce case recently attracted much attention, became known yesterday.

Edward Johnson, an uncle of the child, together with a mysterious woman, took the little girl from the Fairmount house in Hyde Park late Saturday night, shortly after the death of Mrs. Brown in the Linwood street hospital according to the police, who prevented the couple from taking the midnight train to New York with the child.

The little girl was staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Ida Johnson, who left the Fairmount house 10 minutes before the child was taken away. The kidnapping was discovered by the Rev. Mr. Brown, who notified the police.

Mrs. Brown had been confined to the hospital for some time, and died last night. During her illness her daughter has been in the custody of Mrs. Johnson at the Fairmount house.

During the divorce case, the Rev. Mr. Brown, who was formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church of Hyde Park, said that he laid all his troubles to his mother-in-law.

On Saturday night Mrs. Johnson left her apartments in the Fairmount house and 10 minutes later, Johnson and a woman whose identity is unknown, took the little girl away with them.

Brown immediately notified the police when he discovered his daughter was gone, and Johnson, with the woman and little girl were found in the South station about to board the midnight train for New York.

They were detained, and the little girl was taken back to the Fairmount house.

The Brown divorce was heard before Judge Fessenden in the Suffolk divorce court last March. Mrs. Brown alleging cruel and abusive treatment.

Brown denied his wife's charges to the effect that he had assaulted and beaten her.

Their 8-year-old daughter, Ida, testified that her father was a "bad man," and that she never wished to speak to him again. She said that one night she helped her mother when her father was choking his wife and that her father often whipped her without cause.

Largest Crowd That Ever Entered Madison Square Garden Cheered Governor Wilson

WILSON ADDRESSING MEETING IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
COPYRIGHT 1912 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

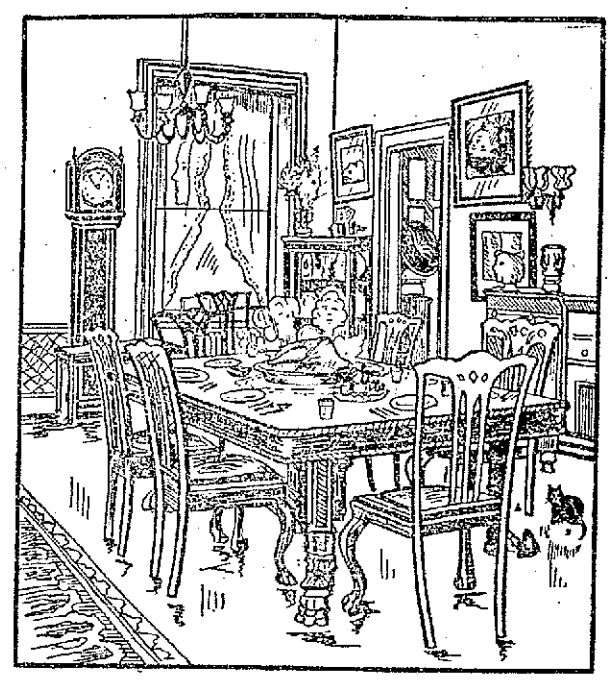

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—All records were broken when Governor Wilson appeared in Madison Square Garden Thursday night. In the first place, it is certain that from 500 to 1000 more persons were inside the huge amphitheater than were ever gathered there at one time before. This means that perhaps 16,000 persons greeted the democratic presidential candidate. Oscar Underwood of Alabama finished his speech at 9.10 with the words. "I will now make way for the next president of the United States." Immediately cheering and waving of rags began, and it was 10.14 before the crowd was stilled. And even then the vast audience manifested a disposition to break out again if offered a chance. The arrow designates Mr. Wilson.

MAN AND WOMAN HURT

They Were Struck By an Automobile

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Richard S. Merrill, 25, of 68 Charles street, Dorchester, who was operating an automobile, which ran down and severely injured two pedestrians when they were crossing Massachusetts avenue, near the junction of St. Stephen street, about 11 o'clock Saturday evening, is under arrest, charged with recklessly driving his auto.

It is alleged that, in full view of the theatre crowds and the people pouring from Symphony hall, his auto, speeding along at a rapid rate, struck and knocked down Mrs. Lillian Fisher of 146 Massachusetts avenue, and Manuel Pelprantz of 3 Denmark street, hurling both of them more than 10 feet into the air.

Mrs. Fisher was picked up unconscious, and a passing auto quickly brought her to her home, where she was cared for by a physician. It was found she is suffering from numerous contusions, her left arm broken and left wrist sprained, a fracture of the right ankle, and three ribs splintered.

She was resting comfortably at her home yesterday, and is under the care of a trained nurse. Her recovery is looked for unless internal injuries develop.

Pelprantz's condition is not serious, but he was badly cut and bruised and suffered from a long gash on his forehead and his right leg broken in two places. He is at the City hospital, where he was taken in another auto.

The police say that the auto, which is owned by Grace P. Merrill of 68 Charles street, Dorchester, did not slow down at the crosswalk, even though a number of people were on the street at the time.

They say the side of the auto struck Mrs. Fisher, and this probably saved her life. In attempting to avoid hitting the woman, Merrill turned the machine to one side, putting on the brake at the same time, and it is said the front wheel then hit Pelprantz, who was crossing the street just in back of Mrs. Fisher.

The police detained Merrill and when they found that both were severely injured, he was arrested.

POLICE HAVE A CLUE

To the Slayers of Patrolman Peterson

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—That a woman instigated the murder of Patrolman Peterson, who was shot to death early on Tuesday morning, is now the belief of the investigating officers. The new clue, was furnished to the police last night and following the information officers scoured the North End in quest of two Italians, one of whom did the shooting.

The names of the two men wanted were given to the police and also the reason for the crime. According to the story, the woman in question had a grievance against Peterson because he had been instrumental in effecting her arrest. Later she made the remark that she would "get" the officer.

It appears that she had been arrested shortly before the first of May and was put on probation for one year. She was frequently seen in the company of two Italians who live in the North End.

She was the woman who spoke to Patrolman Peterson just before the shooting and asked his protection against the insults of two men, according to the information given the police. This was a frameup, the investigating officers believe, in order that the two assassins would have an opportunity of revenging the real or fancied grievance of the woman.

Additional information also was gleaned that one of the two slayers had made a remark that they would get square with Peterson for his part in the arrest.

This woman is a habitue of West and North End cafes, or had been up to the time of the crime. Since then she has not been seen about her usual haunts.

ATHLETICS AT LOWELL ARMORY

Board of Directors Met and Adopted Schedule for Winter Contests

An interesting meeting of the board of directors of the Lowell Armory Athletic association was held in the Company G quarters at the armory yesterday afternoon.

Capt. Walter R. Jeyes, president of the association, presided. The principal business of the meeting was the adoption of a new set of by-laws and the latter will govern the tournament which opens at the armory this evening. The new rules are practically identical with those of last winter, one change being made in the system of bowling. There will be a charge on the alleys at all times this year, of five cents a string, or six strings for 25 cents, and playing will be permitted only under certain conditions, namely, having an officer or non-commissioned officer present. If there is neither, the bowling will be allowed at the discretion of Capt. Jeyes, or the assistant armorer, Mr. Lyons. The following were appointed auditors for the season:

Lieut. Thomas W. Doyle of Company G, Sergt. Master of Company K and Sergt. Tobin of Company M.

Most of the time remaining was taken up with completing the details for the winter's athletics.

CAPT. WALTER R. JEYES

December—2, G vs. C; 9, K vs. M; 16, C vs. K; 23, M vs. G; 30, M vs. C.

Arlington High Eleven, One of Greater Boston's Best Teams, No Match for Lowell High

CAWLEY ABOUT TO PUNT. AN ARLINGTON PLAYER IS SEEN BREAKING THROUGH THE LINE IN AN ENDEAVOR TO BLOCK THE KICK

Arlington High eleven another one of Greater Boston's football teams, was humiliated by Lowell High's fast gridiron army at Washington park Saturday afternoon, the score, when the smoke cleared away, being 21 to 0. Coach McCarthy of Arlington, said that his team was crippled by the loss of three men, including the captain, who were injured. Still the local boys were not too hard on the visitors, for toward the latter part of the game Coach Mahoney had removed most of the first string men and replaced them with aspiring substitutes.

At the start of the contest, the Arlington team exhibited commendable speed and strength while the playing of the home team was wonderfully loose and apparently most of the shifts were gotten up quickly, occasioned by the pressing demands of a fumble or other emergency.

The first period was a confusion of punting and forward passes as each team seemed eager to keep the ball as far as possible from its own goal. Cawley as usual furnished some spectacular playing in his running back of the ball after a kick and each time after the dust of the tackle and fall had cleared away, the pigskin would be found very near the point where it was booted.

The visitors made up in energy and spirit whatever other essentials of the game they may have lacked and the spectators appreciated the pluck and good sportsmanship which they evidenced. Again they received a further setback early in the game when Currier, one of their star men had to be removed because of an injury to his ankle. Yet in the face of such disheartening occurrences, they fought gamely to the end and before leaving Coach McCarthy of Arlington had words of high praise for the conduct of the Lowell team on the field.

One of the principal features, which should in all justice be remarked on, not of Saturday's game alone but in regard to all of the contests thus far played, is the constant good natured aspect and sportsmanlike conduct of the Lowell High boys toward their opponents. Not only is the too prevalent spirit of ill temper in a crisis an absent quantity in the case of the local team, but the players appear in smiling good humor as though they appreciated the true spirit of the game as one of fun and friendly rivalry only and not a matter of life and death. For instance Capt. Cawley, after a hard tackle had thrown him with a crash to the ground on one occasion, arose smiling, patted the tackler on the back in a characteristic friendly way and stepped back to his position. It was the same when he failed to make a forward pass complete, he tried again and again with luck against him and never lost his grin when the ball went to the opposing side. It is such a spirit as this that pleases the spectators at a game most, and a good humored team will put them in good humor, too.

Brunelle went over for the first tally in the second period after a steady advance up the field by the locals, and Carter as usual was there with the kick to add one more point to the score. Bailey was the principal in the second touchdown, carrying the ball over in a line play in the same period and again Carter kicked the goal.

In the second half of the game Lowell high was up to its old-time form and swept the field with Arlington, all the local backs giving fine exhibitions of fast play. Cawley got the third and last touchdown in the third quarter on a line plunge and after the third caused by Carter's shoe striking the pigskin, the latter had three goals from touchdowns to his credit.

Lowell was superior in most every department, while Arlington evidenced a snap and vigor to her plays that the home team could copy with advantage. Cawley's punting was a feature, as was the work of Quarterback Snyder. For Arlington the most prominent men were Currier, Bower and Cousins.

TEXTILE TEAM BEATEN

Technology Won By a Score of 19 to 0

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology eleven defeated the Textile eleven at the campus Saturday afternoon. The game was a fairly interesting one although a little one sided. O'Brien was the star for the Boston team scored three touchdowns and kicked the goal, the only one of the game. O'Brien is an unusually good player and he is very fast on his feet. He received most of his football training at Phillips Exeter academy where he played on the school team. Only for the work of O'Brien the score would have been entirely different as he was the principle factor of the game.

The Textile players play well individually but they lack team work and do not play together. Several fairly good players are on the team, but the work of Goodell was the most conspicuous. He is one of the halfbacks and although about the lightest man on the team, he is the one who plunges the line the hardest. Time and again he was given the ball on the second and third down and he would break through the line for five or ten yards.

In the first quarter of the game O'Brien made a 40-yard run around the right end and scored a touchdown for Boston. No more scoring was made during this period, the ball remaining in the centre of the field. During the second quarter it looked as though Boston would again score as they went a-down the field very rapidly. When within ten yards of the goal O'Brien secured the ball and crossed the goal line again, but the whistle had blown before the play was in progress so Boston was not credited with the touchdown. In the third period O'Brien again scored for Boston and he also scored again in the last period. When time was called the ball was in the centre of the field. The final score was M. I. T. 19, Textile 0.

Something must be said of the excellent work of Neeson, the referee. He has officiated at several of the High school games. His judgment and decisions showed fairness to the players and a complete knowledge of the rules. Summary:

NOVEL PLAY IN BASEBALL

Player With a Cork Leg Establishes Precedent

CAMPFIELD, Col., Nov. 4.—The last baseball game of the season here broke up in a row in the ninth inning as a result of a decision on the part of Umpire Jerry Carter, who claims he stuck by the rule book because there was no other way to decide.

Because one side was shy a man, Albert Billings, who wears a cork leg, took part in the game. In the last half of the ninth inning, while the score was tied and Billings was on third base, a short infield hit was made. Billings started for home and the ball was fielded perfectly. Determined to reach the plate before the ball, Billings kicked off his cork leg, which shot ahead and touched home plate before the catcher received the ball. Billings hopped in and was tagged by the catcher.

Billings' team claimed the run because his fake foot touched the plate before the catcher had the ball. The opposing team claimed that the runner was out because he was tagged before he reached home.

The umpire, after consulting the book of rules, claimed that there was no precedent for the situation and he was compelled to allow the run. A general wrangle ensued and it finally was decided to leave the question to the sporting editor of a local paper. He also is looking for a precedent.

THE PASSE-TEMPS CLUB

Entertained Many Guests at Their Camp

Over 125 people were guests of the Passe-Temps club at their camp on the banks of Crystal lake yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the closing of the camping season of the club, and the event consisted of a roast pig dinner, followed by speeches.

The repast which was enjoyed by all present was served in the well appointed camp and proved very successful. At the close of the meal Toastmaster J. J. E. Bellemare called to order. Other speakers were J. Z. Chouinard, Horace Lefebvre and George E. Poirier.

In the latter part of the afternoon the jolly crowd was visited by Humphrey O'Sullivan, who was given a fine reception. He was triumphantly carried around the camp and then was asked for a few remarks, speaking in part as follows: "My friends, if you are in need of business advice come to me, for there is no man I take off my hat to in business, and in coming to me you may be sure that Humphrey will receive you in a cordial manner. Now, as I am not able to stay with you very long, having other pressing engagements on hand, I will go straight to the object of my visit. One important question will come before you Tuesday, and that is to send a man to congress. Now I ask of you to send me there and I will prove efficient, for no one can say I have not been on the level with any man in any business transaction. I offer you my word now that I don't go to Washington for self purposes nor for salary, and I promise you when there I will do all I can for you and your people. I have taken the banner of democracy, which is that wanted by the people, and I am in the fight for the people of the district. There is no corporation behind me and they cannot put me on the black list because I am independent. I appeal to men of all political creeds and if you want an honest man in congress for the following two years make your cross next to the name of Humphrey O'Sullivan on Tuesday."

Mr. George E. Poirier, a popular young man of this city, also made a few remarks in favor of Mr. O'Sullivan's candidacy, and his words were well received.

The officers of the club are: Hercule A. Toupin, president; J. J. E. Bellemare, vice president; J. Z. Chouinard, corresponding secretary; Horace Lefebvre, financial secretary; Thomas Rochette, treasurer.

The committee in charge of the banquet was as follows: Philias Rochette, Ernest Claveau and Thomas Rochette.

Wants to Locate Uncle

The following letter which may be of interest to some one in this city was received at this office this morning:

East Boston, Nov. 3, 1912.

Gentlemen:

I have an uncle named Ben Johnston who lives in or near Lowell. He is a reader of your paper. He is about 68 years old, used to work in Norwood, Mass., but of late years has worked among horses. At one time he drove a team for one of the mills in Lowell.

I would like to get in touch with him as it means a great deal to me.

Respectfully,

John T. Moran,

353 Summer street, East Boston.

WILSON'S INJURY NOT SERIOUS

The Governor Busy Today and Not Bothered by the Wound He Received

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Governor Wilson forgot about his lacerated scalp today and dug into his correspondence. He said he was not bothered in the least by the wound received yesterday when he was knocked against the roof of the closed automobile in which he was riding.

Dr. J. M. Carnochan, Princeton university's physician, called on the governor and looked at the wound again today.

"It's just a scalp wound and not serious in its nature," said the physician, "and will not prevent him from attending to his engagements."

Scores of telegrams of inquiry came to the governor but he reassured everybody that he was "wholly himself" today.

Chairman W. J. McDonald, the Texas ranger and bodyguard of the governor, who also was shaken up in the automobile mishap and slightly bruised was ready to accompany the governor on his trip.

"Although the accident was no joke," remarked the governor today, "there were some amusing things about it."

When the physician examined Captain Bill McDonald, he said, to see if he was injured internally, he was astounded at the number of holes in McDonald's body. Captain Bill has been wounded so many times in his thrilling days of service with the Texas rangers on the frontier that Judge William Hughes, the democratic candidate for senator from New Jersey, believes Captain Bill dare not go in swimming "because he's so full of lead he'd sink."

Captain McDonald is a great favorite with Governor Wilson. Edward House of Houston, Texas, a warm friend of the candidates, obtained the service of the captain, who in his day has guarded Colonel Roosevelt, too. He was on the wolf hunt in Oklahoma with the colonel and at the latter's instance worked on the Brownsville case. The governor wanted to know early today how the captain was, for he is nearly 60 years old and the shaking he got in the auto accident caused one of the bullet wounds in his right lung to trouble him.

"I never killed a man but what was shooting at me," is the captain's indefinite way of answering the question as to how many men he has sent out of this world. He has been guarding Gov. Wilson ever since Col. Roosevelt was shot in Milwaukee. Governor Wilson's description of the captain is that "he is a dead shot with either hand."

The captain is a man of means and has a ranch of his own with 500 acres under cultivation at Kewaba, near Fort Worth, Texas.

OSGOOD'S LAST APPEAL

For Support of the Bull Moose Ticket

HE CRITICIZES MR. ROGERS' STATEMENTS

And Makes a Final Appeal For the Progressive Ticket Urging its Support From Top to Bottom

Mr. William N. Osgood, candidate for congress on the progressive ticket, addressed a good sized gathering in the headquarters of the progressives at the corner of Merrimack and John streets, about half past twelve today and his words were listened to attentively by interested hearers who frequently interrupted the speaker with bursts of applause. Mr. Osgood opposed the democratic policy and its candidates. He said he was running on his own merits and not as Mr. Rogers alleged, to help anybody else.

"I have a few parting shots," he said, "at Mr. Rogers and his unscrupulous political castaways. If Mr. Rogers and his little band of progressive renegades had deliberately planned to conduct a campaign that would totally and irretrievably wreck Mr. Rogers' political future, and even to injure his reputation in this community as a high toned gentleman, and a fair and honorable fighter, they could not have planned a better course than the one they actually pursued.

"In advertisements appearing today, to which I have not an adequate and fair opportunity to make answer, Mr. Rogers makes three unfounded statements: 1st, he implies that I am in alliance with Mr. O'Sullivan to defeat him; he and his associates know better and do not dare to make the charge openly over their own signatures, but make it only by covert and sneaking insinuation. The insinuation has no foundation to rest upon and is unqualifiedly false, and more than that, they know it; it is merely the attempt of cowardly and weak men to hit below the belt and stab in the dark. 2nd, Rogers claims to have the endorsement of the Roosevelt progressive club of Methuen, a club to which I was invited myself to contribute money, if I expected its support, for it was said that Mr. Rogers followed that course with Methuen clubs, and that fire must be met with fire. My personal impression is that many of the political 'strikers' of Methuen have been corralled by Mr. Rogers. He is welcome to their support if he imagines that it will be of any benefit to him."

Third, Rogers claims the indorsement of the association of progressive republicans and the endorsement of one Chapman, which are one and the same thing, and equally worthless and misleading. The association referred to consists almost entirely of Charles Baxter, a former supporter of Roosevelt and now a confessed supporter of Taft; a secretary, this same Chapman and perhaps some others. It is recognized as nothing but a fake and paper organization; its endorsement, therefore, is valueless, but nevertheless it is in harmony with the spurious claims of progressiveness displayed upon the banner and literature of Mr. Rogers.

If the endorsement of a progressive of this kind is of any value to Mr. Rogers, he shall by all means have it. It is only in harmony with the kind of endorsement he is grasping at like a drowning man grasping at straws.

Mr. Rogers' professions of progressiveness and endorsements are of the same spurious and shoddy material He cannot fool the voter of this district. He ought not to attempt to insult their intelligence by pretending to be what he obviously is not, either from inclination or from associations and affiliations that rigidly exclude him from being in favor of real progressive measures like genuine popular rule.

In conclusion I would say that I do not desire to be unfair to Mr. Rogers, but would be very glad to meet him any time during the evening in some public place and discuss the above matter with him and afford him ample opportunity to refute what I have here said.

In conclusion he appealed for support of the progressive ticket, from Roosevelt to Cosgrove, himself and other candidates.

Body Found

SACO, Me., Nov. 4.—In a strip of woods on the bank of the Saco river where he had strolled with a fellow Albanian on Sunday morning, Aug. 4, the body of Asin H. Pheljoula was found today. His money belt and a revolver were missing and the head lay three or four feet from the body. The authorities believed he had been murdered and robbed. His companion disappeared the same night, after displaying a sum of money much larger than he was known to possess and to a friend who recently saw him in Albania he is alleged to have declared that Pheljoula was dead and his body was in the Saco canal. The canal is several miles from the place where the body was discovered.

New Congregational Church in Dunstable Opened Yesterday

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH AT DUNSTABLE

Yesterday marked the opening of the new Congregational church in Dunstable, and services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. W. Newton. The dedication of the building, however, will be held later, the date not as yet being fixed.

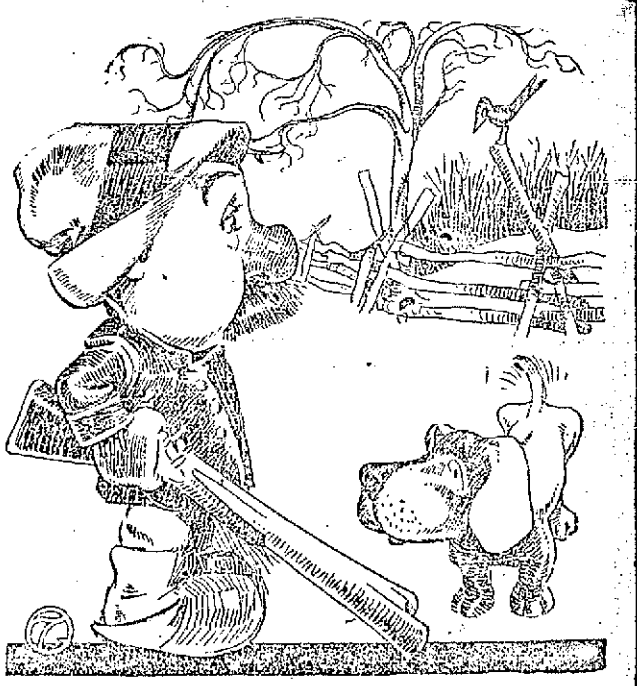

The new temple was erected exactly on the spot formerly occupied by the old church which was built in 1838 and which was completely destroyed by fire on Aug. 18, 1910. It is a fine structure and the members of the parish are elated over the fact that the building is now complete and ready for service.

In August, 1911, plans were drawn for the new church building and a short time later work was started, the general contractors being Dana A. Holt & Son of Nashua, N. H., while the lighting contract was given to L. A. Derby & Co. of this city.

The interior of the church is beautiful, the floor is of hard wood, while the pews are made of solid oak. The walls are painted light blue and the ceiling is finished in cream color. The seating capacity of the new church is 160, and the building contains a commodious basement fitted up for various church purposes.

The committee in charge of the building of the new temple was composed of William P. Proctor, J. E. Kendall and A. H. Hall.

BRYAN SEES DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS

He Says That Governor Wilson is the Only Hope of the Nation and Predicts His Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—William Jennings Bryan has issued the following statement:

To the People of the United States:—

On the eve of another presidential election, with the day for choosing a successor to President Taft but one day distant, I find the outlook for democratic success bright, indeed. In no state that I have visited have I found any indication that the electoral vote will be given to either Taft or Roosevelt. Democratic success seems as absolutely certain as anything human can be. Everywhere hope is ascendant and the very air seems surcharged with the spirit of approaching victory. Of all presidential years within the past score, this seems essentially to be democracy's year, and the only danger of failing short in this respect lies in overconfidence. During the remaining days of the campaign every democrat should be on his mettle and should work with renewed energy and enthusiasm for the success of the ticket—national, state and congressional.

While we have had a great deal to overcome, our cause seems to have made such amazing progress as to furnish substantial ground upon which to build a logical hope of triumph all along the line. From exhaustive inquiries and personal observations I am absolutely convinced that the voters are weary of republican misrule and party strife and are only awaiting the chance to institute a new and better order of things politically.

It is not strange that the voters of the country should turn from President Taft and condemn his failure to lead the people's fight for reforms. But it is strange that anyone who opposes Taft should turn to Roosevelt for relief. Colonel Roosevelt had twice as long in which to secure reforms as Taft had and now he asks a third term (and we do not know how many more he wants) in which to do what he could have done when he was president. After giving us Mr. Taft and one thing, and that is the election of Gov. Wilson to the presidency on the 5th of November, and the utter rout of Wall street and the Big Interests.

And when the news comes that Wilson is the choice of the voters—as come, I believe, it surely will—I can picture how happy that noble man and his wife will be in their New Jersey home. But out in Nebraska there will also be another man and his wife equally as happy, for it will mean to us the consummation of 16 years of struggling and fighting for a principle—a great cause—and the victory will be just as sweet as if it were myself instead of Gov. Wilson who had been elected to the highest office within the gift of the American people.

This is my message to the people of the United States—a message of hope on the eve of victory.

Yours for a Triumphant Democracy,
William Jennings Bryan.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Was Tendered Miss Anna Riley Who is to Leave for Boston—Excellent Program Given

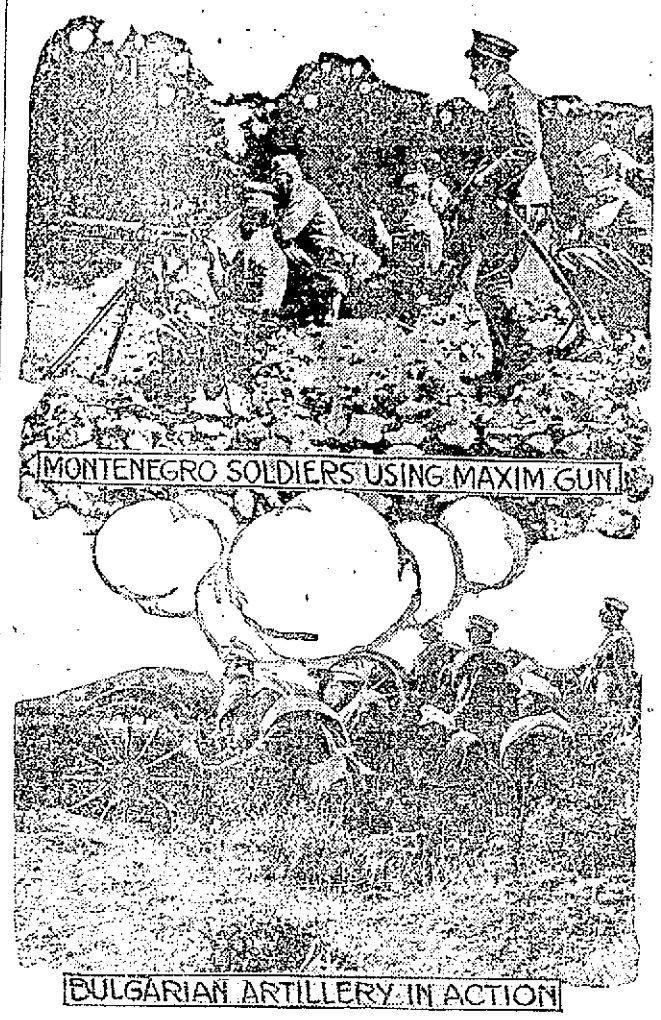

A farewell reception was tendered Miss Anna Riley, who is about to leave Lowell, to take up manicuring and hairdressing in Boston, by a few of her friends Friday night, at the home of Miss Ella Mulligan in Burns street.

Miss Katherine Masterson in behalf of those assembled presented Miss Riley a beautiful opal ring, with their best wishes for success in her new undertaking. Although taken by surprise, Miss Riley responded in a fitting manner, thanking all and assuring them that she will never forget their thoughtful consideration. During the evening there were vocal selections by Misses Anna Kelley and Ethel Geary, who rendered "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee;" Sadie Kenny and Anna O'Loughlin sang "My Baby" in a pleasing way and responded to an encore; Misses Margaret Maloney and Genevieve Riley, who have very sweet soprano voices, sang "In the Shadows" and were loudly applauded. Miss Alice Kenny, who is quite a monologue artist, made a decided hit. There were readings by Misses Susie McGin, Katherine McArdle and Anna Donoghue, who also gave quite an exhibition of emotional acting in one act taken from "The Lion and the Mouse." Misses Ella Mulligan and Mary O'Day were the accompanists of the evening.

Miss Anna Sullivan gave a speech on woman suffrage which was enjoyed to the utmost. Miss Mae Masterson performed many sleight-of-hand tricks during the evening which were appreciated.

Here Are Some Soldiers Who Forced Turkey to Sue for Peace

The war in the Balkans had hardly started before it seemed to be over. Turkey was whipped at all points and in every engagement. It mattered not whether Servians, Montenegrins or Bulgarians engaged the Turks, the soldiers of the sultan were whipped. The Bulgarians and the Montenegrins had well equipped artillery and many rapid fire Maxim guns that proved to be deadly when actual fighting began.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, when Mr. Russell M. Fox and Miss Minnie B. Callahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Callahan, were united in marriage at the bride's home, 45 Ely street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. T. Carlyon, pastor of the Centralville Methodist Episcopal church.

Miss Jessie M. Callahan, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. E. Roswell Wirt acted as best man. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Lena Luce.

The wedding was a very pretty ceremony, and it was performed in the presence of only a few relatives and intimate friends on account of the serious illness of the bride's mother. Mr. Fox is the organist and choir director of the Centralville Methodist Episcopal church, and his wife was the contralto soloist of the choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox left on the 5 o'clock train for New York city, where they will spend their honeymoon.

FRAZER—ALBERT

A pretty marriage was solemnized this morning at St. Jean Baptiste church, when Mr. Alfred Frazer and Miss Aurore Albert, two popular young people of this city were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Charles Paquette, O. M. I. The young couple were attended by Mr. J. Grondine and Miss Rose Albert, the latter a sister of the bride, who acted as best man and bridesmaid respectively. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Albert, 179 Salem street, where a sumptuous dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Frazer who were the recipients of many costly gifts left at noon for New York, where they will spend their honeymoon.

ST. ANNE'S VESTED CHOIR

Rendered Cantata, "The Holy City"

Gaul's sacred cantata, "The Holy City," was sung by the vested choir of St. Anne's church Sunday night at 7 o'clock. Rev. Samuel H. Jobe was in charge of the service. Rev. Mr. Jobe is the new rector of St. Luke's mission and is the assistant pastor of St. Anne's church.

An immense crowd was present and many were unable to gain admittance. The choir under the direction of Mr. Charles Sladen gave a beautiful rendition of this sacred cantata. The soloists were Ercel Teeson baritone, Arthur Smith tenor, Master Alfred Fletcher soprano, and Miss Marie Sladen, contralto. The cantata was given under the direction of Mr. Charles Brown, the organist and choir master. The accompaniment on the piano and organ was excellent, Miss Alice Rogers Leith being the pianist.

H. O'SULLIVAN AND J. J. ROGERS

Attended Banquet for the French American Orphanage at Willow Dale

Despite the sharp breeze and the fact that the boat from Lakeview to Willow Dale was not running, over 400 people attended the grand dinner which was held yesterday afternoon at Willow Dale for the benefit of the new building now in process of construction at the French American orphanage in Pawtucket street. The repast was served in the large pavilion dining hall and the crowd was so large that over 200 people had to wait until the tables were reset.

Attired in their heavy winter garments, the guests arrived at the Dale shortly after noon in autos and carriages, while a large number made the trip on the electric cars. The great success of the event was mainly due to the organizers, Mesdames Ephrem Pelletier, Hubert Denault and Napoleon Cossette, who were ably assisted by a corps of young men and young women.

The Highland orchestra was in attendance and during the repast delighted the audience with excellent music, while the meal was followed by speeches and songs.

The piece de resistance on the menu was roast pig and he it said that the meal was deliciously prepared by Messrs. Henri L'Hereux and Sylva Charron. When all those present had satisfied their appetites, Representative Henri Achin, Jr., who had been chosen as toastmaster, rapped to order and in behalf of the organizers thanked those present for coming in such a large number. He said it had been said on many occasions that the French people could not support an orphanage, but it was proven today that this assertion is false. Continuing the speaker said: While enjoying ourselves today we are helping a great movement. He closed by complimenting the committee in charge for the success and in behalf of the little orphans extended his thanks to all those who in any way helped the orphanage. He then called upon Mr. John Meyers for a vocal selection. Mr. Meyers rendered "The Palms," and as an encore sang "Let's Forget."

Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. I., was the next speaker and he in behalf of the orphanage thanked the women who are so zealously working for the home. He said he felt sorry Rev. Henri Wafelle, O. M. I., pastor of the parish, was not present for he felt sure the latter would be greatly pleased to set eyes upon such a large gathering.

John Jacob Rogers

The next man called upon for remarks was Mr. John Jacob Rogers, who was well received. He said he was born in the shadow of the orphanage and brought up in that district and said he was pleased when he learned that such an institution was to be started in that vicinity. He said he was pleased to note its progress and wished the institution continued success. Continuing, he said:

"I assure you there is nothing that appeals to the heart as much as those institutions, and I hope yours may prosper and extend and I feel sure it will be blessed by God for the work it is destined to do."

Humphrey O'Sullivan

The next speaker, Humphrey O'Sullivan, was introduced as a benefactor of the orphanage, and his name was received with prolonged applause. His remarks were in part as follows: "I am as you may judge very pleased to be here and also to be of assistance in building up the new orphanage. The establishment of such an institution is a source of great pleasure to me, for I was formerly a member of the St. Vincent de Paul society, an organization whose purpose was to care for the needy children and old people. In the lifetime of the lamented Fr. Campeau I had an interview with him and when I was told he intended to establish the French American orphanage I was so pleased I told him if ever wealth favored me I would help him and also that I would leave a provision in my will, and I am pleased today to say that I have already done this, and half of the promised amount is provided in it and the other half I have already started to give and I intend to give before the end comes. We have another orphanage in this city, and I will take care of it in due time.

"I am pleased to see such a gathering, and hope all will succeed in your enterprises and if ever I can be of any assistance to you, call upon me, and you will find in Humphrey O'Sullivan a friend of the French people and of the little ones." These brief remarks were warmly received, and the speaker was given a real ovation and three cheers as he sat down. Representative Victor J. Jewett also addressed the assembly.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Collette, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Labine, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Laforme and Mr. Joseph L. Lussier, all of Nashua.

The following women helped materially in bringing about the success: Mrs. J. A. Perron, Mrs. Lemire, Mrs. Jeffrey Cossette, Mrs. Lefebvre, Mrs. Bourdon, Mrs. J. B. Morin and several others contributed to the event. A delegation from the Garde d'Honneur under the direction of Capt. Joseph L. Lamoureaux acted as ushers. The delegation was as follows: Capt. Joseph L. Lamoureux, First Lieut. Emile Bordeleau, Second Lieut. Louis St. Jean, First Sergt. Eugene Beaulieu and Third Sergt. Elie Belley.

The following young men, although pressed into service, acted as emergency waiters as though they were veterans at the business: Messrs. Ernest and Dan Lemire, James Gregoire, Albert Guilbeault, Arthur Cote, Philip Morin, Arthur Ribeault, J. A. W. Vincent, Arthur Chandonnet and Ovila Cyr.

SOUTH END CLUB

Young Men Tendered a Reception to Humphrey O'Sullivan at Lincoln Hall Yesterday Afternoon

The Lowell South End club, an organization of 150 young men, with cosy apartments in Lincoln hall building, gave a reception to Humphrey O'Sullivan and his staff of speakers yesterday and it was a great, big, enthusiastic affair. In another sense, it was a reunion of the boys from the south end, for James B. Casey, Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., and James T. Miskella, all at home in that district, were there as special guests, and they received a great ovation. Major Robert J. Crowley and William F. Curtin, Esq., were also present.

President Thos. H. Donoghue called to order at 3 o'clock, and in a few well-chosen words introduced J. Joseph O'Connor, Esq., as chairman. Lawyer O'Connor spoke at length in an interesting manner, taking up the tariff in a plain, matter-of-fact style, and bringing out several good points. He advocated the election of the democratic ticket, and made an earnest plea for the election of Humphrey O'Sullivan.

Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., was particularly eloquent in referring to the south end, the tender memories he has of his boyhood there, the clean, sportsmanlike qualities that always prevailed among the young men, the willingness to fight for one another, in any contest. Others who made brief addresses were James B. Casey, James F. Miskella and Robert J. Crowley. Humphrey O'Sullivan got a cordial reception on his arrival and in a few words thanked the members for their expressions of friendship.

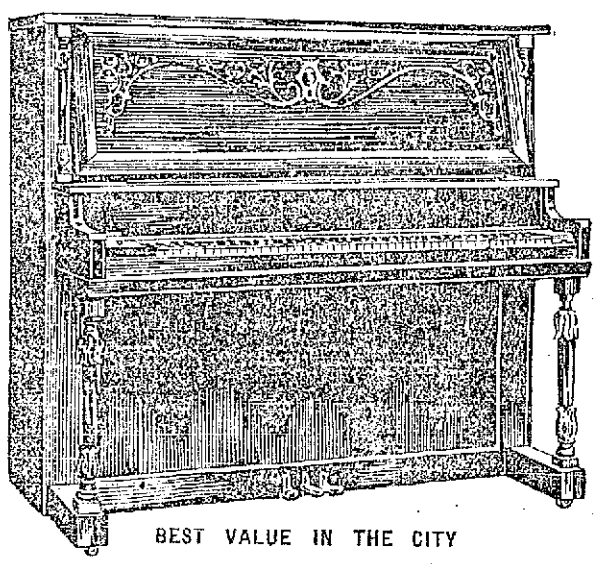

Butler Vets

The Butler Vets held a social at their quarters in Fletcher street yesterday afternoon, and their guest of honor was Humphrey O'Sullivan, candidate for congress. Dinner was served and an entertainment program was provided. The O'Sullivan party arrived shortly after 3 o'clock and they were received with cheers and applause. James H. Walker made a speech of welcome to Mr. O'Sullivan, who replied briefly, saying: "My friends, I just dropped in to shake hands and also to tell you I am in the congressional fight." He got a most cordial welcome.

Bunting Club

The members of the Bunting club held an informal entertainment yesterday afternoon. There was a large number present and they spent several hours in listening to good vocal selections. Humphrey O'Sullivan was present and he was given a rousing reception by his fellow members.

Dick Galloway acted as chairman of the entertainment committee and he called upon Mr. John Meyers for a selection, and before John got through he had completed the third song and given one recitation. Others who sang were Charles Hearst, John Whelton and Guy Whitaker, while Joseph Ellis of North Billerica, with his sonorous bass voice, recited in a delightful manner "Independence," which was followed by "The Class of Men Who Made America What It Is."

The Dam at Gatun is Almost Completed And Soon the Water Will Be Turned in

This picture of the upper gates to the lock at Gatun on the Panama canal is probably the last that will be made showing this view, as the water is soon to be turned in. The gates are practically completed. The lower gates can be seen through the opening in the upper gates. The water now stands in Gatun lake at about two-thirds the height of the gates. It is understood that the spillway will soon be opened, and the water will be held at its present height until about time for the canal to be opened to traffic.

GENERAL STRENGTH

OF THE MARKET WAS SHOWN IN THE FINAL HOUR

There Was Particular Improvement in Lehigh Valley and the Hill Stocks—Early Losses Were Quite Generally Replaced By Moderate Gains—Other Features of the Trading

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Aside from the Hill issues all the leading stocks opened lower today. Canadian Pacific was down a point with fractional losses for St. Paul, Southern Pacific, Steel and Amalgamated. Trading was extremely light, with all indications of a dull day.

Prices were practically stationary throughout the first hour on a minimum of business except C. P., which added to its initial loss.

Stocks were exceedingly dull and decidedly weak in the early part of today's session. The Balkan complications caused further uneasiness abroad and the eve of the presidential election was largely responsible for the apathy shown here. Canadian Pacific was weakest of the Standard railways with moderate firmness in St. Paul and Hill issues.

St. Paul advanced two points and the balance of the list also strengthened in the noon hour. Trading, however, continued nominal.

Further improvement was noted in the later trading, Hill stocks adding to their early gains with moderate activity in Union Pacific and Steel at better prices.

The market closed firm. General strength was shown in the final hour, with particular improvement in Lehigh Valley and the Hill stocks. Early losses were quite generally replaced by moderate gains.

BOSTON MARKET

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—The continued activity and strength in Pond Creek Coal was the feature of the early Boston market today. Copper shares were steady with the volume of trading small.

DETECTIVES AT WORK

To See if There Are Any Cases of Illegal Registration in Indiana—Detectives at Work

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—The ferreting out of more cases of alleged illegal registration and the perfecting of more plans to get out the entire vote of the state tomorrow was the order in the camps of the three political parties in Indiana today. It is believed operatives of a Chicago detective agency have been at work in most of the principal towns of the state for several days.

ANDREW MOLLOY

Severed His Connection With Tremont & Suffolk And Was Presented Purse Of Gold

Mr. Andrew Molloy, for many years overseer of the dress and spool rooms of the Tremont and Suffolk has severed his connection with that company, his resignation taking effect last Saturday, at the completion of the week's work. Saturday evening, while Mr. Molloy was at his home in Riverside street, his former employes unexpectedly called and after taking possession of the house, presented their former overseer a large purse of gold. The speaker told of the many good qualities of the retiring overseer, and how he will be missed by all who labored under him, but that all were glad to learn that he was to accept a more lucrative position. Mr. Molloy, though overcome at the excellent gift, said that while he had accepted a better offer he greatly regretted to discontinue his duties at the Tremont and Suffolk mills. He said that he enjoyed his long stay there and will ever remember the many favors that his former employes had tendered him. He thanked those present for the purse of gold and assured them that while engaged in other duties he will ever remember the employes of the dress and spool rooms of the Tremont and Suffolk mills. He invited his friends to make themselves at home, and this they did and during the remainder of the evening, all assisted in providing a very entertaining program of song and story.

your condition and if you don't vote the democratic ticket you will continue to carry your burden.

"We are going to elect Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey president and then we are going right down along the line and elect a democratic governor and lieutenant governor, democratic congressman, democratic councilor and, to make a long story short, we are going to make it a great big democratic victory from top to bottom.

"It is very important that you should elect a democrat to congress. Unless Gov. Wilson has a democratic congress behind him he will not be able to carry out the big reforms that he intends to carry out. I feel that I can represent you in congress better than you have ever been represented there. I am not the creature of any trust and when I go to congress I will have no interests other than those of the people to serve. I am not going to profit anything personally by going to congress, but I think the opportunity is open to me to assist you and that is why I want to go to congress.

Drove Butcher Cart

"I want the laboring man to know that I am his friends. I belong to organized labor and am a member of the Typographical union. I am a son of toil and I know the burdens you have to bear. I know the home story of the workingman, and I want to put more sunshine into that story. I want to oust the worried look and replace it with a smile and I want to make it possible or to assist in making it possible for the poor man to have a little more of the good things of life.

"I have said that I sprang from the ranks of labor and I meant just what I said. I am the fellow who worked at the bench and in the store, the fellow who swept the sidewalks and drove a butcher cart and if I am the kind of a man who wants to represent you in congress it is up to you to vote for me on Tuesday. I did not have anyone to blaze the road to success for me. I had to hoe my own row and I hoed it cheerfully and with the thought always uppermost in my mind that some day I would reach the top. I got there all right and my experience in getting here is the very thing that made me your sympathizer. It cemented a friendship between Humphrey O'Sullivan and the laboring man that will last as long as O'Sullivan lasts and before it is too late I want to do something substantial for you. There is just one way that I can do it. There is just one avenue open to the fulfillment of my desire to assist you and that avenue leads to the ballot box. The election will be next Tuesday and if you want a friend to represent you in congress, vote for Humphrey O'Sullivan."

Mr. Rogers at City Hall

John Jacob Rogers addressed a gathering from the city hall steps Saturday night at nine o'clock and he began and ended his speech with an attack on Humphrey O'Sullivan, many times calling the attention of his hearers to "that building across the street." John Y. Myers introduced Mr. Rogers as the next congressman from the fifth district and the latter said in part:

My friends of the city of Lowell: I have been waiting for the past few weeks and fighting as energetically as I knew how and I will continue to fight until the polls close on next Tuesday. I want you to look at that building across the street, and look at the man in it. He was here a few minutes ago and he spoke to you of the industry he had built from a little shoe store but he did not mention the Associate building. I propose to tell you about that. The speaker repeated the charges he had made during the week in his speech and advertisements and made others charging Mr. O'Sullivan with being unfair to labor, unfair to Lowell. He said he employed boys to pack his rubber heels at wages of from four to five dollars a week and had circulers printed in Boston. The crowd that heard Mr. Rogers was much smaller than that which listened to Mr. O'Sullivan, but it cheered at the call of Mr. Myers.

The Polish Club

At 7.30 o'clock last evening Humphrey O'Sullivan was the guest of honor at the Polish club in Coburn street and was well received. There were about 200 members present and when the congressional candidate entered the hall he was given an ovation. President Anthony Paprowicz occupied the chair and he introduced John C. King as chairman of the assembly. Mr. O'Sullivan spoke briefly, declaring himself the friend of the laboring man. He told how he had climbed the ladder of success from driving a butcher cart and setting type, but he did it not by cheating labor, but by paying labor high wages in setting advertisements. The boys he employed in his business to pack rubber heels were well paid for the time given to the business despite the statements of Mr. Rogers to the contrary.

Maritime Province Club

The Maritime Province club in Princeton street held open house yesterday afternoon and in the latter part of the day was visited by Humphrey O'Sullivan, who spoke to them for nearly a half hour. Mr. O'Sullivan's remarks were well received and three cheers were given in his honor when he left the place

North Billerica Rally

There will be an O'Sullivan rally in Union hall, North Billerica, tonight. The speakers will be Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., and Hon. James B. Casey.

REDUCED FARES

Provided For Pupils of the Evening Schools, According to City Solicitor's Opinion

City Solicitor Hennessy, in an opinion submitted to the superintendent of schools today, says that evening school pupils and industrial school pupils are entitled to reduced transportation fares on the street railway. The superintendent of schools requested an opinion in the matter. Mr. Hennessy, in his day and he has reported it to the Dropinion, states that the law, originally, cut officers.

did not include or intend that evening school pupils should have the right to enjoy the privilege of reduced fare, but by legislative enactment pursuant to chapter 550, of the Acts of 1908, evening school pupils were entitled to the reduced fares, and by an act of 1910, chapter 567, the law was so amended that industrial day or evening school pupils were included.

"Our Personal Guarantee to All Skin Sufferers"

Carter & Sherburne and Falls & Burkinshaw

We have been in business in this town for some time, and we are looking to build up trade by always advising out patrons right.

So when we tell you that we have found the eczema remedy and that we stand back of it with the manufacturer's iron clad guarantee, backed by ourselves you can depend upon it that we give our advice not in order to sell a few bottles of medicine to skin sufferers, but because we know how it will help our business if we help our patrons.

We keep in stock and sell, all the well known skin remedies. But we will say this: If you are suffering from any kind of skin trouble, eczema, psoriasis, rash or tetter, we want you to try a full size bottle of D. D. D. Prescription. And, if it does not do the work, this bottle will cost you nothing. You alone to judge.

Again and again we have seen how a few drops of this simple wash applied to the skin, takes away the itch, instantly. And the cures all seem to be permanent.

D. D. D. Prescription made by the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, is composed of thymol, glycerine, oil of wintergreen and other healing, soothing, cooling ingredients. And if you are just crazy with itch, you will feel soothed and cooled, the itch absolutely washed away the moment you applied this D. D. D.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this remedy to a skin sufferer here and there and we want you to try it now on our positive no-pay guarantee.

OUR MESSAGE

TO THE MEN AND WOMEN OF MASSACHUSETTS—

I am not writing this message for myself. If I were the only one interested, it would never have been written. But I am heart and soul in a cause, and that cause shall have all the assistance I can give it.

Representing that cause—the cause of the people—I have talked to many voters, and yet there are many men I have not reached to tell of the principles and the definite measures for which, in Nation and State, the Progressive Party and its candidates stand.

A considerable part of the newspapers have refused to print our speeches, and many of them distort our purposes. Therefore I will tell you here what my position is, and what I want to accomplish.

When I went into the Progressive movement nine months ago, I never believed that, under any circumstances, I would be a candidate for any office. I enlisted upon the understanding that I would not be asked to do more than lend my name, my influence, my energy and my money to the cause; and yet I am the Progressive candidate for Governor.

Well, what could I do? It was represented to me by earnest and sincere men and women that it was my duty to serve, and finally I became convinced that to refuse would prove me recreant to the Progressive cause—a coward on the firing line.

Before and since then I have given money to the campaign outside of Massachusetts, and I have worked as a soldier in the ranks of this Commonwealth, and given all to this State campaign which I may legally give, and yet there is no wish in me to make this secret on the one hand or take any credit for it on the other. It was my plain duty in a battle not for any ordinary political issue, but for the right against wrong.

I believe the two old parties are controlled by the same kind of bosses. The great mass of people cannot hope for more progressive legislation from the Democratic party than they have got from the Republican party. I believe Mr. Wilson will be as helpless as Mr. Taft has been weak.

I welcome our Progressive party because it is pledged in its platform to do for the human family specific things which the old parties ignore. President Eliot says the tariff is the main issue today; Governor Wilson says the trust question is the issue; Governor Foss says the railroad situation is the most important; Mr. Walker does not seem to have found an issue. I admit the great importance of each of these issues with the exception of Mr. Walker's; and our Progressive platform and leaders deal with each in definite, statesmanlike fashion. But if these were the only or the main issues, I would not be a candidate for Governor of the Commonwealth. I do not agree with these gentlemen. They do not correctly understand what the people want and need.

I think I know what the people want and need. They want their government returned to them.

They need an administration which has a human heart.

The people want, for instance: A law to establish the Initiative and Referendum, whereby the will of the people may be established by a direct vote of the people when our representatives refuse to carry out our wants.

The people need laws to deal justly and rightly with fundamental human rights—the right of everyone to a life rather than an existence.

Our platform stands, and I personally stand, for:

1. A law to abolish child labor. Thousands of girls and boys under twelve years of age are being ruined in our factories in many States of the country, and this must be stopped if we are to maintain a strong race of men and women.

2. A minimum wage for women. Thousands of women in Massachusetts are working for less than four dollars per week, and that is below a living wage and must and can be stopped by law if we are going to protect the honor of our women—if we are to care for the unborn as well as those living.

3. One day's rest in seven. Thousands of men are obliged to work seven days in seven, week in and week out, in Massachusetts, and that is intolerable and must be stopped.

4. Old Age Pensions. We ought to protect, by a form of social insurance in which the State takes part, old men who if poor have no place in Massachusetts to go to except the poor house.

5. In factories which operate twenty-four hours continuously night and day, such as paper mills, we want to compel employers in such factories to give their workers an eight-hour day rather than a twelve-hour day, a forty-eight hour week, rather than a seventy-two-hour week, as now prevails in those mills.

It is difficult to understand why these planks do not interest my opponents—Mr. Walker and Governor Foss. They certainly affect vitally the life and welfare of every one, directly or indirectly, in this Commonwealth; we must make this State and country a better place for the poorest man and woman if we expect to have it a safe place for the richest man or woman.

Unless we take hold of these human problems in a human way—work them out along the line the other great countries have found to be successful—we shall soon face a social revolution more serious than most of us dream of.

I have been close to the men and women who work. I have achieved some success in building up my business. But I have not lost my heart in the process. More and more, as time goes on, I feel that business success may be achieved without forgetting the toiler at the bottom.

The State, too, must do its share to protect the weak from the greed of the men who recognize nothing save the acquisition of wealth. Our Progressive party platform recognizes this, and that is why I am enlisted in this cause, which I believe to be a real fight to help those who need help.

The result tomorrow will show that the Progressive party will be a permanent one, because pledged for human betterment.

I have made the best fight for that cause that I am capable of making. I have had a somewhat successful business life in dealing with men and money, and most men will believe that this fits me as well to be your Governor as though I had been in politics for 20 years.

WHAT INSPIRES BUSINESS CONFIDENCE?

Despite the calamity howl of republican candidates and the prediction that a democratic victory will bring idleness and soup kitchens, the country looks to the democratic party for relief from the incubus of republican rule, the republican trusts and republican monopolies that rob the masses. The prospect of a democratic victory inspires the people with the hope of relief all over this country today, and this is the only explanation of the great confidence that prevails in business circles on the eve of a presidential election. Already the election of Governor Wilson is conceded by some of the leading republican papers of the country.

THE COST OF LIVING

Candidate Rogers throughout this campaign has persistently quoted Mr. Hearst as saying that the cost of living is greater in England than in this country. If Mr. Hearst said so, he said what is not true, and the other statement credited to him that wages are from 40 to 50 per cent. lower in England than in this country shows that the cost of living must also be lower because if it were not the people could not live at all. Imagine how people could support themselves in this country if wages were cut down one-half. It is an undeniable fact that American beef is sold in London at from 10 to 25 per cent. lower than in this country, and this is due to the high tariff, which enables the beef trusts to swindle the American consumer. What the beef trust does with its product other trusts are doing with theirs so that even the United States government has had to let some of its contracts to foreigners in order to overcome the extortion of the steel trust.

DEMOCRATS VOTE THE STRAIGHT TICKET

Although under our new charter the party designations have been dropped, and the vote is cast for candidates without reference to their political affiliations, such is not the case in this election. This campaign is one of principles and policies as represented by the various parties. Wilson and Marshall, the democratic nominees for president and vice-president, are statesmen and orators of whom the nation may well feel proud, but yet the principles involved are of much greater importance because they affect the interests of the whole nation and of all the people. The men may die but the principles will live.

The principles set forth in the democratic platform, if properly applied in the government of the nation for the next four years, will bring stability, prosperity and justice to all of the people, whereas a continuance of republican rule can only intensify the present discontent that prevails among the people.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that every democrat in Lowell and the fifth congressional district will vote loyally for his party so as to render all assistance in obtaining an overwhelming victory for the democratic party.

TO PREVENT PANIC OR WORSE

Republican candidates are quoting Gov. Wilson's description of the panic which started under the republican administration in 1891, and continued until 1893 and 1894. Nobody denies that the panic was severe, but democrats do deny that it was a democratic panic. The republican party in that case had brought the country to a crisis by mismanagement, and the effect of their maladministration was felt after the democrats assumed control of the government.

Governor Wilson today is the man of destiny, who will set up the rule of justice and right in such matters as the tariff, the regulation of the trusts and the prevention of monopoly. The only thing today that will prevent a panic, or what is worse a revolution, is the overthrow of the republican party, and the election of Governor Wilson, and a democratic congress to control the business of this country for the next four years, or longer. The republican calamity howlers should tell of the conditions in 1907, when there was a severe panic which they cannot by any stretch of imagination lay at the doors of the democratic party which had been out of power for over ten years. The democratic party will have to change the tariff policy so as to restore domestic competition and just enough foreign competition to prevent trusts from swindling the people.

TURKEY VANQUISHED

Every friend of humanity must rejoice at the triumphant victories won by the Balkan allies over the forces of the Ottoman empire. Gen. Savoff of the Bulgarian army has made a record for military genius unexcelled by that of any other military commander in Europe. Had Germany, Russia or even England attacked the Ottoman empire not one of them could have accomplished its overthrow in such a short time as did the Bulgarian army, aided of course by the other allies; but the force of the Bulgarian attack was that which accomplished the overwhelming defeat of the Turkish army after a great battle which continued incessantly for four days and nights. The great powers of Europe are amazed at the swiftness with which the might of Turkey has been crushed. The powers will now naturally be inclined to intervene, but we surmise that the Balkan allies will insist upon making their own terms and upon driving the Turk from Europe. Constantinople is now at their mercy, and nothing is left for Turkey but to sue for peace or beg for mercy. A new power will hereafter be considered in all the councils of war in Europe and the map of the continent will have to be changed. It is not improbable that Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro and Servia will unite permanently for their mutual protection and independence. They can defend themselves against any power in Europe. All Christendom should rejoice at the downfall of a power that has committed some of the worst atrocities perpetrated upon humanity in the history of the world.

THE SUN'S ATTITUDE MISREPRESENTED

Lowell Sun (democratic) editorial, Nov. 2, 1912: "If John Jacob Rogers were a democrat, running upon the democratic platform, we would take a great deal of pleasure in voting for him."

The only objection that the "Sun" offers to Mr. Rogers is that he is NOT A PARTISAN. And it is because he has SHOWN that he is NOT A PARTISAN that many democrats will tomorrow unite with republicans and progressives in electing as our next congressman John Jacob Rogers.

The above advertisement by John Jacob Rogers or his political managers is printed here in order to show the method by which his literary bureau distorts facts for his political purposes. We should have no objection if he had printed our entire statement as it appeared instead of garbling it as he has done. The Sun in emphasizing the fact that this is a campaign of principles and not of men, said that if Mr. Rogers were running on the democratic platform where he should be, we would take pleasure in voting for him and that if Humphrey O'Sullivan were running on the republican platform where he should not be, we would not vote for him on any consideration, implying that no man, no matter how popular he may be, should be supported in this election if he be so far deluded as to take a nomination on the republican ticket. This is the position that should be taken by every democrat in Lowell.

The advertisement states what every man in Lowell must know to be untrue when he says: "The only objection that The Sun offers to Mr. Rogers is, that he is not a partisan." We know that Mr. Rogers is a partisan but not a partisan of the right kind. He is not a democrat but a republican and in regard to his attitude to democratic reforms we may repeat here what we said in an editorial on last Friday, to wit:—

> "In the congressional contest, therefore, it is not the mere personality of O'Sullivan or Rogers that should be considered as of paramount importance, it is the party and the principles that each represents and these alone should guide the voters in casting their ballots on election day. If the people want a congressman to stand for democratic principles and work along democratic lines for the welfare of this district, they should elect O'Sullivan; but if they want a man who will oppose democratic principles, they should elect Mr. Rogers, who will not disappoint them in this respect.

It is a great thing to be hopeful, but just being hopeful never got anybody anywhere.

Never ask for advice until you have your mind made up fully what you are going to do.

The freckled boy needn't feel discouraged. There are spots even on the sun.

There is plenty of room right in the busiest part of any big city for a cemetery large enough to provide a burial place for all the men who have died from overwork.

They do tell that some of the political campaigners who have been covering the fifth congressional district in automobiles intend to write an essay on the value of guide posts.

As is only natural, the man who always keeps his word is cautious about giving it.

A good many old-fashioned people exclaim every now and then: "I want to know!" without taking any trouble, so far as other folks can see, to learn.

The little girl in short dresses doesn't mind if it is muddy, because it gives her an excuse for holding up her skirts.

Did you ever stop to think that the busy bee that is held up for a model loafs through half the year?

When a woman runs to catch a car,
Why, the horses have to laugh!
You've seen a woman throw a stone?
Well, it's funnier by half.
While her right she waves on high,
And she tries, as she runs, in a hopeless way,
To catch the motorman's eye.

She lollops along in a lop-sided trot,
With a wildly anxious face,
I wouldn't say what her distinction is,
But it isn't exactly grace.
And the car goes smoothly on its way
And leaves her standing there,
And she stamps her foot, and she bites her lip—

WAVERLEY LODGE NO. 104

Observed Its Thirtieth Anniversary

Waverley Lodge No. 104, Order Sons of St. George observed the thirtieth anniversary of the organization Saturday night with an old fashioned English tea party and concert, which was held in the banquet room of the Odd Fellows temple on Middlesex street. Many of the charter members as well as many guests were present. Superintendent William F. Barlow was expected to be the principal speaker but owing to illness in the family he asked to be excused. Past President Eli Turner, the first past president and probably the oldest man in the lodge, was present and gave a talk on the early history of the lodge in this city. He read a poem which he had composed especially for the occasion.

Following the banquet a concert was given which commenced at 8 o'clock the following taking part: Violin solos, William Galloway; songs, Peter Picken; reading, Harry Leavitt. Following the entertainment a short history of the lodge was read by Past Grand President Eli Turner, as well as a poem written by him for this special occasion. The evening was enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to be present and all appreciated the efficient work of the committee in charge of the affair.

JOHN ORRELL
State Instructor of Secret Work

The Lowell lodge was organized in 1882 and the first meetings were held at the homes of the members. During the first few months of the organization it was more of a social club for the Englishmen or men of English parentage. On November 2, 1882, the lodge was formally instituted and the charter issued. For the first six months there were not any sick benefits paid by the society but as time passed on and others joined the organization, it was voted to make it a benefit order, and at the present time it is one of the strongest organizations in the Massachusetts jurisdiction. According to the last grand lodge report issued in July, Waverley lodge stands fifth in membership and third in finances.

The lodge is a sick and death benefit society and admits to membership all men of good character over eighteen years of age who can pass a physical examination and were born in England or were of English parentage.

Waverley lodge at the present time is in a very good financial condition, having about $1500 in the local banks, a burial lot in the Edson cemetery valued at $200 and lodge property valued at $250. It pays sick benefits of five dollars a week for thirteen weeks in each year and $100 on the death of a member and $25.00 to a member on the death of his wife. They also supply the services of a physician for a member during his illness, Dr. J. H. A. Johnson now doing the work.

While the membership is not growing very rapidly at the present time, still they are initiating young men to take the place of the older ones who are dropping out. The present membership of the lodge is two hundred and eight. Four have been initiated this term and four have died.

The lodge has been honored in the past by the grand lodge of Massachusetts by the election of three of its members to the presidency of the grand lodge as follows: Dr. William B. Jackson, who was the first grand president of Massachusetts; P. G. P. John Orrell and P. G. P. Samuel Holgate. Past President N. W. Matthews, Jr., was a member of the finance committee during the past year and is slated for assistant secretary during the coming year. P. G. P. Orrell is a member of the grand board of trustees and also instructor of secret work.

The officers of the lodge are: Junior past president, Harry L. Francis; vice president, John W. Andrews; chaplain, Samuel J. Burt; secretary, Fred Potter; treasurer, N. W. Matthews, Jr.; assistant secretary, John Barker; messenger, Arthur Bennett; assistant messenger, Arthur Pascall; inside sentinel, Willis H. Bowles; outside sentinel, Harold J. Hounsell; pianist, Frank L. Orrell; trustees, John Orrell, Sam Asquith and Frank Pascall.

The general committee in charge of the thirtieth anniversary is as follows: John W. Foster, chairman; John Barker, secretary; Thomas Gardiner, George Humphriss, John W. Andrews, William H. Bowles, Harold J. Hounsell, Samuel J. Burtt, Arthur Bennett, Frank L. Orrell, Harry L. Francis, George H. Gale, John Orrell, N. W. Matthews, Jr., and Fred Potter.

Several sub committees have been appointed and the following are the chairmen: Tickets, John Barker; kitchen, Willis H. Bowles; speakers, Thomas Gardiner; waiters, Fred Potter; concert, Frank L. Orrell.

The Massachusetts jurisdiction of the order is at the present time the banner jurisdiction of the country, according to the latest reports which have been issued from the supreme secretary. They have passed the Pennsylvania jurisdiction which was in the lead for a long time.

Lenses Were Stolen

A clever lens thief visited Lowell on Saturday and after paying visits to several photograph studios succeeded in stealing four lenses valued at about $800. The matter was reported to the police and a careful search was made for the thief, but is is thought that he was a professional crook and after making his haul left for parts unknown.

It is said that two of the lenses were made in Germany and each was worth $300, while the other lenses were of French and English make and not so valuable.

Illegal Keeping Charged

Sergeant Duncan and Inspectors Holland and Grady of the liquor squad visited a house at 78 Fenwick street about 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and seized seven and one-half gallons of ale and five gallons of lager, in cases. The wet goods were taken to the police station and a warrant for illegal keeping of liquor, was sworn out against Peter Cargas, who, it is alleged, was the owner of the liquor.

Telephone Alarm

A telephone alarm at 8 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a chimney fire in a building in Church street belonging to the estate of Anthony Boldinson. The fire was extinguished before any damage was done.

Two Leading Models in Overcoats for Young Men

THE HOLLANDER AND THE GUARD—

These are winners—the very extreme of style.

The Hollander—made both double and single breast—a great boxy swagger coat, with bold peaked lapels, split sleeves, with or without cuffs—patch or plain pockets—button through, made from the new soft-faced fabrics with plain or fancy plaid backs, golden brown, gray, blue and dark brown mixtures. Here's a coat the craze in New York—in which we believe so thoroughly that we have had it produced in many qualities from ..... $10 up to $25

The Guard is another fetching style, made with belted and pleated back gathering into graceful folds; the belt set high up—with a long slit to the bottom of the coat—essentially a young man's garment.

These are but two of twenty models that we present in the season's overcoats, a collection that demands your attention.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

MISDIRECTED.

Mr. Knagg—I can't see why you failed to find that place. I told you it was just a stone's throw from the corner.

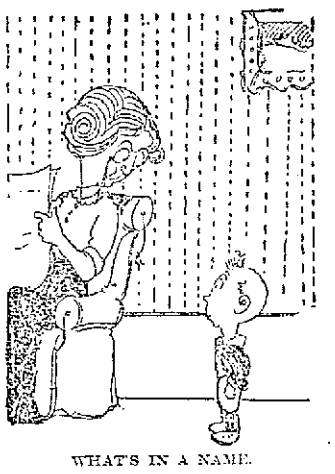

Mrs. Knagg—I know you did, but I couldn't find a stone to throw, and if I had found one it wouldn't have done any good because I can't throw to save my life.

Miss Gassip—Yes. He always pays cash.

WHAT'S IN A NAME.

"Ma, what's the difference between a mortician and an undertaker?"

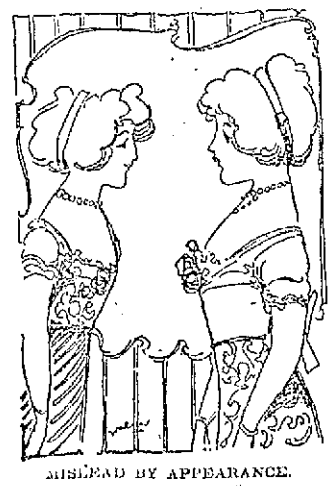

"They both do the same kind of work, son, but I am inclined to think a mortician will charge more."

HE KNEW.

Little Tommy—Say, papa, what is meant by beastly weather.

Papa—When it raining cats and dogs.

MISLEAD BY APPEARANCE.

"Your friend, Mr. Rugshaw, is married, isn't he?"

"No; he's just naturally careless and slovenly in his dress."

GETTING HIS NUMBER.

Mr. Gaylad—My dear, I want you to distinctly understand that I have a very great reverence for the truth.

Mrs. Gaylad—Yes, I notice you always keep a respectful distance from it!

There will be a requiem mass celebrated tomorrow morning at 7.30 at St. Margaret's church for the repose of the soul of William Foye.

The Lowell lodge of Elks will hold "open house" at the rooms in Middle street tomorrow evening and the state and national election returns will be received there over a special wire. A telegraph instrument was installed in the assembly hall today and an operator will be present during the entire evening.

THE "SOLID SOUTH"

Will Cast Its Usual Democratic Majority in the Presidential Election on Tuesday

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 4.—Reports from various campaign headquarters throughout the southern states today indicate that the so-called "solid south" will cast its customary democratic majority in the presidential election on Tuesday. Final appeals are being made to the democrats, progressives and republicans and a record vote everywhere is predicted.

O.M.I. CADETS TO PARADE

Will Escort Col. O'Sullivan Tonight

Every member of the O. M. I. Cadets, no matter in what section of the city he resides, is commanded by Maj. Haggerty to report at the armory, Immaculate Conception school hall, tonight. They must wear blue uniforms and will carry arms, and they will report not later than 7.30 p. m. Any cadet failing to report on time will have a mark placed against his name, which will count against his promotion when vacancies occur in the higher offices. This is an unusual occasion for the Cadets and for that reason it is especially desired that every young soldier be in line. Major Haggerty is anxious to have all his cadets in line to escort their colonel, Humphrey O'Sullivan, from the Middlesex street station to Associate hall tonight. The cadets will be headed by their own fife, drum and bugle corps, which has recently increased its numbers and expended a considerable sum of money for new instruments. The Cadets will leave their armory at 7.30 sharp and march to the Middlesex street station, where they will meet Col. O'Sullivan and escort him to the hall.

For Senator

SEVENTH MIDDLESEX DISTRICT

TO THE VOTERS—WARDS 5 AND 9

Some reasons why ALONZO G. WALSH, Candidate for State Senator, should receive the support of Lowell voters.

1st. It is the first time in the whole history of the 7th District that Lowell has had the opportunity to send a Senator.

2nd. His nomination came at the solicitation of representative citizens at a meeting held in the western part of the Senatorial District. (The District takes in Wards 5 and 9 of Lowell and extends from Ayer to the sea.)

3rd. Mr. Walsh's career is well known to the people of Lowell—as a worker in the Hamilton Mills; in his present business life; his public service in the city government, as president of the Lowell Board of Trade; in his home and social relations—as life has ever been earnest and active for the good of this city and its citizens.

4th. In the consideration of measures for the public good, or his relations with his fellow citizens, the question of creed, politics or condition has never for a moment prejudiced his action.

5th. He is known to us as a man of ability, fully qualified by rare talents as a speaker, who will be fearless in pressing forward the desires of this community in any movement for its advantage or in the defense of its rights. There is nothing of shoddiness in his character; he is a "good mixer," as hundreds will testify who know him and own him as a kind and true friend.

6th. He has ever been loyal to Lowell—let Lowell now be loyal to him; in this the only opportunity we have had to elect a Lowell man to represent our district in the state senate.

7th. We unhesitatingly endorse Alonzo G. Walsh and heartily recommend him to all voters (regardless of party) as the man who should be elected to the office of state senator from this seventh district, and urge you to give him your vote on Tuesday, November 5th.

The above circular is signed by about 500 endorsers from every part of the district.

WARDS 5 AND 9 COMMITTEE,

VOTE FOR ALONZO G. WALSH

REV. J. F. M'GLINCHEY

Preached at St. Peter's Church Yesterday

Rev. John J. McHugh celebrated the high mass at 11 o'clock at St Patrick's church yesterday morning. The music was the feature of the service, the sanctuary choir especially doing commendable work. It was announced that the annual coal collection will be taken up at all the masses next Sunday.

St. Peter's

Rev. James F. McGlinchey of the cathedral in Boston preached at all the masses at St. Peter's church yesterday, speaking in the interest of the foreign missionary work. He asked help for the 65,000 Catholic missionaries who are laboring among the heathens in the cause of Christianity in China, Japan, Oceanica and other foreign lands. A special meeting of all interested in the work was called at half past three in the afternoon and it was largely attended. Many became members of the society for the propagation of the faith and offered their services as promoters.

In the afternoon the talk of Fr. McGlinchey was interesting and entertaining as well as instructive, for he narrated many interesting experiences and anecdotes of his missionary work.

St. Michael's

Rev. Fr. Mullin was the celebrant of the high mass at 10.45 o'clock yesterday morning, and a very instructive discourse on the gospel of the day was delivered by Fr. Murphy.

The Junior Holy Name society held a meeting in the basement yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and after the business session an interesting debate on the qualifications of the three presidential candidates was held. The discussion developed several strong arguments for each of the candidates. Woodrow Wilson's candidacy was supported by W. Downey and W. Maron, while J. Barrett and T. Donnelly spoke in favor of President Taft. Theodore Roosevelt and the progressive platform were ably represented by G. Thomas and T. Groucko.

Sacred Heart Church

The members of the Knights of Equity, about 250 in all, went in a body to the 7.30 o'clock mass at the Sacred Heart church yesterday morning and received Holy Communion. Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., was the celebrant of the mass. Mr. John J. Kelty was the organist and the solo parts during the service were taken by Mr. James E. Donnelly and Mr. John McMahon.

Rev. John P. Flynn preached the sermon and he first congratulated the members of the Knights of Equity on the large attendance.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the Knights of Equity led by James E. Donnelly, sang, "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name." After the mass they proceeded to the school hall of the Sacred Heart parish where a breakfast was served. A musical and literary program was rendered, including the following numbers:

Selections by Knights of Equity orchestra, under the direction of Bro. James A. Sheehan; song, Bro. James E. Donnelly; remarks, Hugh J. Molloy; song, Bro. Frank McCartin; remarks, Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I.; remarks, Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I.; remarks, Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I.; reading, Bro. James Coughlin; remarks, Bro. Redmond Welch; song, Bro. Charles A. Carey; reading, Bro. Thomas J. Beane; piano solo, Bro. Edward Finnegan; duet, Bros. J. J. Dean and Thomas Larkin; remarks, Bro. Thomas B. Delaney, S. K.

The committee on arrangements was Thomas J. Beane, Thomas B. Delaney, Frank Roche, John D. Sullivan, John J. Pinder, Thomas F. McCann, Wm. F. Daly, Leo Molloy and James A. Sheehan.

Immaculate Conception

A meeting of the Holy Rosary society was held yesterday afternoon at which the usual routine business was transacted. It was announced at all the masses yesterday that there will be a meeting of the Holy Name society on next Thursday evening in the school hall. Next Sunday is the quarterly communion day for the Y. M. C. I. and the Holy Name society. They will attend 7.30 o'clock mass in a body.

The pastor of the Immaculate Conception church has kindly offered the use of the basement to the members of the Lithuanian church which was destroyed by fire Saturday. The offer has been accepted and the Lithuanians will attend services there.

St. Columba's

The Forty Hours' devotion was begun yesterday at the high mass and will close Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The young ladies of the Tabernacle society are making elaborate preparations for their "Kermis" and dance, which will take place in Associate hall next Wednesday night and a good time is assured all who attend.

FOR CONGRESS

INFORMS MR. ROGERS THAT HE WAS NOT A "FREE SILVER DEMOCRAT IN 1896," as published by him and his friends, but an international bimetalist and voted for McKinley.

This is a sample of Rogers' methods. I am asked where I will be in 1913. The answer is—easy—Fighting for real and genuine popular rule as in the past.

He will be representing special privilege and public utility corporations, but not in Washington.

I win in any event, while he is sure to lose.

Can any voter guess how much Rogers and O'Sullivan have spent in this campaign?

Ask them today.

I have already published my expenses—about $150.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

Blanche Ring's first appearance of any prominence on Broadway was when the late A. H. Chamberlyn produced "The Defender" at the Herald Square theatre. With the singing of "In the Good Old Summer Time," the Boston girl sprang into instant popularity.

Then a few seasons later Miss Ring, a slim girl with two long braids of soft brown hair down her back, was the one saving grace in Mrs. Osborne's playhouse, tripping away with all the honors.

From that time on she appeared in leading roles with some of the best known comedians in the country, among them James T. Powers in "The Jewel of Asia," Jefferson De Angelis and Alexander Carr in "The Great White Way," Joseph Weber in a burlesque on "The Devil," Lew Fields and the late Peter Dailey in "About Town," Frank Daniels in "Sergeant Brue," Harry Conor in "Vivian's Papa," John T. Slavin in "His Honor the Mayor," Harry Kelly in "His Majesty" and Louis Harrison in "The Blonde in Black."

Several seasons ago Miss Ring scored a London success in "The Love Birds." After making a tour of the London music halls she returned to this country and appeared in Lew Fields's production of "The Midnight Sons." Then came two seasons as the star of "The Yankee Girl," which, this year she has a new vehicle, "The Wall Street Girl," written especially for her by Margaret Mayo and Edgar Selwyn, with lyrics by Hapgood Burt and music by Karl Hoschna.

"MADAM BUTTERFLY

The management could not have made a wiser selection than Puccini's most famous opera, "Madam Butterfly," with its continuous flow of inspired melodies and other easily recognized musical beauties, and its charming story full of dramatic intensity, pathos, romance and quaint Japanese atmospheres, which will be the offering of the Aborn English grand opera company at the Opera House on Friday, Nov. 8.

"A BUTTERFLY ON THE WHEEL"

The story unfolded in "A Butterfly On the Wheel" teaches one of the greatest lessons against divorce that has ever been told. It goes to the court-room for its most telling scene, a scene, by the way which is said to be the finest reproduction of a law court ever staged. "A Butterfly On the Wheel" ran for the entire season in New York after having been played for a year in London. It was produced on this side by Lewis Waller, the English actor-manager, so that one may be assured of the artistic part of the entertainment. The first local presentation of the play will occur at the Opera House next Saturday, matinee and night.

"LITTLE BOY BLUE"

One of the most pretentious offerings of the present theatrical season is the Henry W. Savage production of the Bayonne operetta "Little Boy Blue" which will be the attraction at the Opera House, Nov. 12th.

"FRECKLES"

One of the earliest and most important theatrical offerings of the local season is A. G. Delamater's beautiful scenic production of "Freckles," a dramatization by Noll Twomey of Gene Stratton-Porter's widely read novel of the same title.

Merrimack Square Theatre

No better bill has been given in weeks past than the one scheduled for this week at the Merrimack Square theatre. The headliner is to be The Fall Japs, a quartet of clever equilibrists and gymnasts who perform many original and difficult tricks among which is the Slide for Life. The Merrymakers are again to be seen this week in a farce with music called "A Kiss in the Dark." Marion Kay, comedienne, with a repertoire of songs and stories will be seen to advantage and Boyde Rogers is to be the week's soloist. Then there are the pictures. Tomorrow evening the performances will be arranged to run longer in order to give the final election returns. Phone 2053.

Yesterday's Sunday concerts were greatly enjoyed by large and appreciative audiences, the program given being of fine selection. Each number was well presented, and all those who visited the theatre, had a very pleasant afternoon or evening. The Sunday concerts at this theatre are a feature, and are bound to prove popular during the cold months. The auditorium is well heated, and patrons are given every available comfort.

The Playhouse

"The Deep Purple," the weekly presentation by The Drama Players at The Playhouse (formerly Hathaway Theatre) is an offering in which the patrons of this cosy theatre should find extreme enjoyment. The piece is based on the famous New York "badger game" and is handled in a way that is sure to meet with the genuine approval of all. The play will be staged in a way with the many successes of the past in which this company has appeared. Mr. Smythe and Miss Jackson, whose work in the leading roles has earned for them an enviable reputation, will appear in characters to which they are peculiarly fitted and should experience no trouble in adding to their laurels already won. The first presentation will be given tonight and starting Tuesday afternoon matinees will be in order every day thereafter. Election returns will be announced from the stage on Tuesday night. Order your seats early and assure yourself of the best locations. Box office telephone 811.

Keith's Theatre

Bert Levy, cartoonist, will prove immensely entertaining at Keith's theatre, this week, and his efforts at entertainment will be ably seconded by Marie Lee and her seminary girls, and Henry Horton in the rural comedy, "A Woman in the House." Ollie Young and April give their refined juggling act. The Monarch Comedy Four are kings in their special line. Payne & Barrett offer a different brand of the talking and singing act, while Alice De Garmo is an aerialist from the big indoor circuses of Europe. Her work cannot fail to receive its just measure of appreciation. Andrew Kelly, with the slyest of Hibernian humor gives his "Casey the Lion" characterizations. Election returns will be given from the stage Tuesday evening.
